Swift and Company's New Garage Is Ready for Accommodation of Trucks.

NO NEW OFFICE BUILDING

Swift and Company just completed the erection of a two-story garage at the west end of the plant terrace at Twenty-seventh and Q streets this week. Workmen were laying the last of the concrete flooring yesterday and with the equipment for immediate operation on hand the structure is expected to be in full swing within the coming week.

Nine new trucks, to be used for local transportation, were placed in operation March 1. These represent but a portion of the new dock equipment that the plant has installed in the year past.

Community Work Increases.

Community center work, under the direction of Jake Isaacson, director of the department, contemplates expansion of wide scope this spring and summer. Base ball and park recreation are two activities that the director will center on.

The director is in receipt of a letter from T. J. Newkirk, real estate agent for the Rock Island railroad, regarding a block of vacant land along Railroad avenue in Albright, which was used as a base ball diamond years ago.

Abner Nelson Missing—Omaha police have been requested to locate Abner Nelson, a mechanic formerly employed on the Dodge, la., by Peter Husa. The letter written by Husa says that Nelson left for Omaha February 8 for a few days' visit and since then has not been heard from.

Loses Handbag and Coin—Ethel Anderson, 2373 Miami street, reported to the police that someone had stolen her handbag, containing $30 and several checks, which she had in room 728 Keeline building, where she is employed. The first inkling she had of the theft was when the office boy handed her a key which he found in the hallway and which evidently had been dropped by the thief.
