

Nebraska LEGISLATORS FACE WORK WITHOUT PAY

Members Wish to Sidetrack All Bills Except Few and Finish Work This Month.

FEW MEASURES PASSED

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, March 5.—(Special.)—"What shall we do to be saved," is a problem which is beginning to dwell in the minds of many members of the present legislature just as it has bothered members of other legislatures in the past. "Hour by hour the days are slipping; soon we'll get no pay for sitting" is a mighty tough way to serve one's country in a legislative capacity, and as a consequence the "everything going out and nothing coming in" proposition is beginning to start them in the face.

Already there is a strong sentiment that if the members really want to do so they can pass all legislation of a state-wide nature and close up shop and get home before April Fools' day. Several members were discussing the matter Sunday and one of them said that there were not more than half a dozen bills left of state-wide importance. These could just as well be disposed of in the next two weeks as not. Another favored springing a proposition to have the reference bureau sit out the bills. Another favored the appointment of not more than three members as a sifting committee, members who had no especially important bills and those who perhaps had the least number of bills, who should sit out the most important measures and let them be disposed of immediately.

Somewhat there is a feeling about the legislature that this session is not accomplishing much of real important legislation. Few bills have reached the governor, less than half a dozen. Yet there are over 1,100 bills to be disposed of in one way or another.

State Charges Eat Large Quantities Of Food Each Year

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

Lincoln, March 5.—(Special.)—According to figures of the board of control, it takes 10,000 barrels of flour to feed the inmates of the institutions of the state, 5,000 barrels of sugar, ninety tons of coffee, fifty tons of butter, 30,000 gallons of milk, 90,000 dozen of eggs, and the inmates chew and smoke $8,577.97 worth of tobacco.

However, there are other things consumed in these institutions besides the above, which are among the items which the board of control has to go out into the market and buy, with the possible exception of the milk and eggs.

The institutions raise a large amount of the other necessities of life, and just to show what is raised and consumed on their farms and gardens, the following indicates:

FREMONT NORMAL UP TO LEGISLATURE

Committee Which Visited the School Saturday Seems Divided on Purchase Issue.

OLLIS SUGGESTS SUBSIDY

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, March 5.—(Special.)—The proposition of what to do with the Fremont Normal college, which has been offered to the state at a price not to exceed $165,000, is a matter which the legislature will have to settle.

The finance, ways and means committee of the house reported adversely last week on the appropriation. The committee visited the normal school Saturday at the request of the Fremont people, but it is said that they are not very anxious to take over the property.

Chairman Reischick says that the same conditions exist in the normal buildings which friends of the new state house bill object to in the present state house, that the corridors are narrow and poorly lighted and the building far from up to modern conditions.

Suggests Bonus for School.

Chairman Ollis of the education committee is of the opinion that the best interests of normal school teaching in the state would be conserved by having the institution at Fremont remain a private school and that the state could best serve the interests of normal school training by an appropriation sufficient to meet the needs of the school each year. He believes that Mr. Clemmons, who has been at the head of the school so long, has done more for normal training than any man in the state through the Fremont Normal and that the state owes him a whole lot, but he thinks that taking over the school would not be the best thing for the state.

Conley Favors Purchase.

On the other hand Representative Conley favors the purchase. Mr. Conley owns a business college at Fairbury, but he thinks that a state school for purely business teaching is needed and he does not fear that it would harm his school at all. "Half the failures in business life," said Mr. Conley, "are due to the fact that the owner of the business had no practical method of bookkeeping and much of the success of business lies in the proper keeping of books of the firm."

Yankton Gives Banquet To Soldiers Sunday Noon

Yankton, March 5.—(Special.)—Company H, South Dakota regiment, arrived home safely at 8:30 a. m. and was greeted by thousands of citizens, who, in spite of the cold, which was 2 below zero during the night, waited for hours for the delayed train to arrive.

The city was gaily decorated and various organizations met the returned soldiers. Mayor Wyman had a hearty official welcome and the boys were given a banquet and reception at noon. So keen were the soldiers to greet home folks, however, that they cared little for the "frills" of the occasion, but were soon personally greeting friends and relatives and asked to be excused for a while until "the girl I left behind me" was found in the big crowd and properly greeted. It was a memorable occasion and very enthusiastic welcome home.

Carload of Hogs and Several Bees Killed When Stock Train Hits Extra.

ALL MEN ESCAPE INJURY

Tecumseh, Neb., March 5.—(Special Telegram.)—Burlington through freight No. 110 ran into an extra freight going north in the stock yards here at 12 o'clock this morning. The locomotives came together with such force that the north bound train was lifted clear of the track from the impact. The southbound was damaged but little. The extra northbound train had stopped to take the siding, when No. 110, pulling eighty-five loads, passed by the station. The signal was out against both trains and speed had been greatly slackened, however.

Four stock cars were demolished, killing a few bees and at least a carload of hogs. Fourteen stockmen were on No. 110, bound to St. Joseph with stock. No one was hurt. The engine men all jumped. The engine man on No. 110 was Homer Nickols, with Conductor McCaubbie. The engineer on the extra was C. E. Ward and the conductor was G. R. Rogers. The wrecker arrived from Lincoln at 6 o'clock and was expected to have the track cleared before noon. Through passenger trains were diverted over other lines.
