HOUSE COMMITTEE JOINS LABOR BILLS

Shannon and McAllister Meas ures Combined With Provision for 56-Hour Week.

FARM LABOR NOT LIMITED

(From a Staff Correst cadent.)

Lincoln, March 10.—(Special.)—While the hired man on the farm is earning his daily wage by the sweat of his brow, working sixteen hours a day, and the domestic in the home is drudging away from 6 in the morning until 9 at night, all other people who work for a living will be privileged to work but eight hours a day for seven days of the week, or fifty-seven hours for the entire week.

This is the way which the committee on labor m the house has finally fixed up the Shannon bill, House Roll 281, and the McAllister bill, House Roll 77, combining the two and hyphenating the names of the two introducers into one bill under the former number.

Call It Class Legislation.

Call It Class Legislation.

Call It Class Legislation.

Considerable comment has arisen as to just why the farm laborer and the domestic should be left out of the operation of the law when all other classes of labor, which includes manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, restaurant, office, or by any public service or municipal corporation, etc., should be favored, and the question comes up and is being expressed by members that it is simply class legislation and cannot stand the test of the courts from a constitutional standpoint, and some of them are of the opinion that the people asking standpoint, and some of them are of the opinion that the people asking for legislation of this kind do not really represent the laboring classes. They call attention to the fact that two years ago people appeared before the legislature claiming that they represented the working girls of Omaha and secured the passage of a bill calling for nine hours a day and a limit of fifty-four hours each week. Immediately after the law went into effect the labor bureau received a number of letters from girls working in establishments in Omaha claiming that the bill deprived them of the Saturday half-holicay. They had been in the habit of taking a short time after 5 o'clock, a proposition perfectly satisfactory to their employers, and had thus been able to put in enough extra time during the week to give them the half-day off on Saturday. Under the nine-hour-a-day law they were compelled to give up the half-day off on Saturday because they could not work overtime during the week.

Time and Half for Overtime.

Some of the members insist that.

Oberfelder Explains

New Workmen Rates

Scottsbluff, Neb., March 10.—(Special.)—Judge Joseph Oberfelder of Sidney has been in the North Platte valley all week meeting with the members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and discussing the new rates, effective on May 1. Mr. Oberfelder has presented the matter so logically that he has enlisted the so logically that he has enlisted the friendship of a large majority of the membership who were at first opposed to the raise of rates, who are now more than pleased and will remain loyal to the society.

James Archibald Dies

SHE PRESIDED OVER THE O. E. S. MINSTRELS.

MRS WM CLARK

Mrs. W. M. Clark is interlocutor for the minstrels of Maple Leaf chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, who took their friends by storm when the minstrel show was presented the first time for Maple Leaf chapter. The entertainment was then scheduled to be given a week ago in Benson but on account of the scarlet fever epidemic there it was postponed until last night, when the minstrel show was given at the South Side Masonic temple. The proceeds were for the Masonic and Eastern Star funds.

Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. E. H. Wilson, Mrs. W. H. Flinn, Miss Bess Emerson and Miss Lola Tillotson take important parts in the black-lace entertainment.

Judge William L. Berry Mrs. W. M. Clark is interlocutor compelled to give up the half-day off on Saturday because they could not work overtime during the week.

Time and Half for Overtime.

Some of the members insist that the present bill will work the same hardship on the class of working people who are perfectly satisfied to have the matter left to any contract they may make with the people for whom they work.

Under the present bill, as it stands amended by the committee, an employe and his employer can make a contract for overtime work, but the pay shall be for time and a half.

The proposition which is causing comment, more than anything else, is just why a legislature composed so largely of those interested in agriculture should favor a law fixing the hours of labor for everybody else who employes men and women and leave their own hired hands entirely unprotected and forced to work as long as they may desire to force them so to do.

Members worging for the new state house appropriation are giving notice this morning that they desire all taxpayers who are not favorable to the bill to come to the state house Tuesday afternoon and listen to the discussion. They have enough confidence in the merit of their proposition to be willing to have those who oppose it come into the lobby or on the floor of the house if they desire, and listen to the discussion at close range.
