Tentative Agreement Reached.

It was learned that the question uppermost for consideration tomor-row was to determine the attitude of the brotherhoods and the railroads in the event of the Adamson law not being upheld by the supreme court. In quarters close to both factions it said that a tentative agreemen was said that a tenached and that already had been reached and that the conference tomorrow would be held to settle the details.

Stone's Statement.

Later, however, Warren S. Stone, head of the engineers, said: "The situation is unchanged. As reasonable men we did not wish to fly in the face of the president's advisors and when they requested post-ponement of the strike for forty-eight hours, we made the concession to en-able them to work out their plans. Wilson Voices Pleasure. Washington, March 18.—President Wilson last night telegraphed the rep-resentatives of the railroads and their employes meeting in New York, ex-pressing pleasure over the agreement to postpone the threatened nation-wide strike until Monday, and earn-eatly urging further conferences to draw the two sides closer together. The president's message follows: "I am exceedingly glad that the conferences have been reopened and that the prospect of a settlement looks brighter. "I hope most earneatly for the sake

LOGAN CASES APPEALED JOY OVER RETURN OF LOST

Rev. J. F. Poucher, pastor of Trin ity Methodist church, preached yes terday morning on three verses found in the fifteenth chapter of Luke. "Each of these three verses contains the words 'lost' and 'found," he said the words 'lost' and 'found.' " he said. "In the sixth verse we learn of the man whose sheep had been lost and he had found it. In the ninth verse the woman rejoices because she had found the coin that she had lost. And in the twenty-fourth verse the father rejoices because of the return of the prodigal son, saying: 'This my son was lost and is found.' "We owe these three parables to the criticism and scoffing of lesus'

"That was true. But he mingled with sinners as a physician mingles with the sick or as a Red Cross nurse mingles with the wounded on the bat-tle field—to heal and help them.

Despair and Joy.

"The word's the in it all the grief and despair possible; and the word 'found' is filled with rejoicing and happiness. Both may come into a person's life in the same day. "The parable of the lost sheep illus-trates howlessness that of the lost

"The parable of the lost sheep illus-trates hopelessness, that of the lost coin helplessness and that of the lost son disobedience. "The lost sheep was outside of the fold. The Christian who gets outside of the fold is in danger. The shepherd is always more anxious about the sheep that is outside the fold than for the ninety-nine that are inside be-cause the one is in danger and the of the corresponding week a year ago. The total clearings for the last week were $9,020,413, as compared with $6,732,438 a year ago. The total clear-ings for the week ending Saturday, March 10, amounted to $13,963,584.

for the ninety-nine that are inside be-cause the one is in danger and the ninety-nine are in safety. "In the parable of the lost coin it is significant that the coin was lost in the house, not out in the wilder-ness. And it is a significant fact also that men in the church, even minis-ters themselves may be lost while they are nominally in the house of Leo Frazio, charged with the mur-der of a neighbor, has been set for trial March 26. Joe Watters, also charged with murder, will be placed on trial next Monday. Watters is charged with shooting a young man companion in a quarrel over a girl. they are nominally in the house of God and members of his body.

"The parable of the prodigal son centers the attention upon the sinner. The other two parables center atten-tion upon the God who is seeking after the sinner. In the case of the sheep and the coin the owner went in search of them when they were lost and brought them back. In the case of the prodigal son, he 'came to himself' and 'went to his father.' This shows the sinner awakening perhaps in response to the infinite love of the Father and His longing. "And here again we see the joy that there is in Heaven over the re-turn of sinners, how the father of the prodigal received him and ordered the best robe to be put on him and a ring on his finger and had the fatted calf killed, all symbolic of God's eter-nal love." Commissioner Wilson's Bill

Has Been Made Special Order (From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, March 18.—(Special.)— Railway Commissioner Victor Wil-son's railroad bill, known as House Roll 777, has been made a special order for consideration by the house next Tuesday. A similar bill was killed in the senate. The bill gives the railway com-missioner power to make an investi-gation of the corporations at any time on its own initiative or on com-plaint of any individual. Before the investigation is made the commis-sion is given power to make an esti-mate of the cost of the investigation, which includes $10 a day for each in-
