

SENATE BLOCKS MAIL RESOLUTION

Demos Almost Solid Against Request Made by the House for Improvement.

SPIRK VOTES WITH THEM

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, March 23.—(Special).—The present unbusiness-like and deplorable methods used by the postal department of the United States, which are rapidly disorganizing the mail conditions of the country, are perfectly satisfactory to the democrats of the Nebraska senate, judging by the action of the senate today when it tabled by a strict party vote of 23 to 10 a resolution passed by the house calling upon President Wilson to do something to keep the system from deteriorating.

The resolution passed by the house met with little or no opposition. The members in that end of the legislature forgot all about politics and in an effort to stop what appears to be utter demoralization of the mail system of Nebraska sent to the president a resolution which would give him an idea what his postmaster general is doing.

But the senate could see nothing but the political end. It would not do for a democratic senate to criticize a democratic department of the national government, even if it was plain that this department was getting itself into a hole just about as rapidly as is possible.

Senator Beal in opposition to the resolution offered the excuse that the president had enough trouble on his hands without bothering him with little things like this.

This brought out the retort from Senator Bush, republican floor leader, that he "admired the nerve of a man who roasts another for taking up time on a resolution after he had killed a half day in the senate on one of his own no more important." He referred to the fight that Beal put up early in the week for his government ownership of railroads.

Widow Given Verdict

For $3,500 in Damage Suit
Fairbury, Neb., March 23.—(Special Telegram).—Mrs. William Hammond of Nebraska City, widow of the young man who was killed two miles northwest of here, October 29, 1914, was given a judgment of $3,500 against the Rock Island railroad at noon today.

Hammond and Howard Koon of Columbus, while traveling in a closed buggy, were struck and instantly killed by the Jersey passenger train.

Matt Gering of Plattsmouth appeared as head counsel for Mrs. Hammond, who asked for $25,000 damages. The company alleged that Engineer McLean sounded the whistle and that the young men did not observe the proper precaution in approaching the road crossing.

Council for the prosecution maintained the company had maintained a dangerous crossing thirty years and that it was negligent in allowing a dense thicket of weeds to obstruct the view of basers by.

Columbus Brewery Plans To Manufacture Near Beer

Columbus, Neb., March 23.—(Special Telegram).—Final decision to convert the Columbus Brewing company into an establishment for the manufacture of "near beer" was reached today when George Rembour, secretary of the company, returned from an investigation trip in the east.

The manufacture of the beverage will be started as soon as the necessary machinery arrives. This will enable the company to place their product on the market by May 1.

Liner Escapes U-Hoat.

New York, March 21.—Passengers on board the Anchor line steamer Tuscania, British, which arrived today from Glasgow said that on Monday, March 12, when about 100 miles out from the Scottish coast the Tuscania encountered a German submarine. A budget has been prepared sufficient to finance the needs for the coming year.
