Spring Wheat for Seed Still is Being Ordered

There is still some spring wheat going out into the state for seed, but the large shipments are practically over. There are yet to arrive from Minnesota some five cars, but generally this will go out in small lots.

So far as the Omaha Grain exchange is concerned, as an organization, 11,000 bushels have been sent to the country in carload lots. In addition many shipments have been made in smaller quantities, running the total up to above 12,000 bushels.

Orders are still coming in for shipments of spring wheat, but it is believed that the heavy demand is over. Farmers, as a rule, feel that by the time the wheat could reach them it would be too late for seeding

FARRES BOY STILL MISSING

"Fifty years ago your people of the north challenged the right of us southerners to have slaves and to back up your claim you perpetrated a war that banished slavery in America forever. Today the solid south stands as one for revenge. We are going to march up into the north and down the liquor traffic of the east forever. We are going to see to it, through our solid south, that national prohibition is a coming fact."

H. T. Laughbaum, anit-saloon league orator and native Oklahoman, so spoke at the Wheeler Memorial church last evening in the absence of Sam Small, who was booked to talk. All church congregations of the city had assembled.

"Today," said the speaker, "twenty-six states in the union have statewide prohibtion. Of this twenty-six, twenty-one are south of the Mason and Dixon line. This means the solid south is in for national prohibition.

Mr. Laughbaum predicted that in the event of war, congress will immediately be asked to pass a law declaring national prohibition as an efficiency measure.

SPY RUMORS FLYING FAST THESE TIMES

Everyone Wants to Whisper to Reporters About Prominent Germans Being Interned.

MAKE FEDERAL MEN SMILE

By A. R. GROH.

Hist! Come over here in the corner where I can whisper to you without any danger of being overheard.

Sh-h-h! Have you heard? Wait a minute till that man with whiskers passes. Sh-h-h-h! Ya can't be too careful. He might be a spy. Pretend we're just talking about the weather. Nice day, isn't it?

There! He's gone. I though he sort o' gave us a funny look, didn't you?

Now! Listen while I whisper in your ear. Fritz Schnizzelheimer was taken to Fort Leavenworth a few days ago and interned by the federal authorities! Yeh! Sh-h-h-h. Suspected of being a German spy.

Why? Well, his name's German, ain't it?

Oh, you say he's talking for America all the time? Got American flags displayed at his home? Huh! That's just a blind, that's all it is. Just a blind. Listen! He was seen standing outside the recruitin' station. He was watchin' the men go in. Then he walked down Farnam street, straight toward the telegraph office. Did he go in? No, you rummy, o' course he didn't go in. Prob'ly seen somebuddy watchin' 'im. Betcha he was goin' to telegraph straight to the kaiser.

Wild Rumors Afloat.

This, dear reader, is the wild rumor that got loose on the streets of Omaha as early as last Thursday. People came into The Bee office, looked around furtively and then whispered:

"How about catching Fritz Schnizzleheimer?" (meaning a prominent Omahan). "I heard they caught him in a private room, holding a German plot meeting. Secret service men opened some of his mail and found he'd been sending money."

Reporters were stopped on the street and the "news" was whispered to them. A crowd of twenty men at Twenty-ninth and Leavenworth streets almost got into a fight over the rumor. It flew from mouth to mouth everywhere.

It grew and grew with every repetition like the story of the man who coughed up three specks as black as crows and who was soon reported to have "coughed up three black crows."

First Real "War Stuff."

And, like that famous story, this one needed no other confirmation than the word of somebody who "heard it" from somebody else who heard it. It was the first real, local "war stuff." Spies, secret meetings in secret rooms, sudden surprises by secret service men, heavy guards, mystery, dungeons! Great stuff. We hadn't had a spy, all of our own, before, and it was rather nice to be provided with one of them, especially when he was captured by our unbaffiable secret serivce men.

"How about this prominent Omahan who's a German spy and has been caught and taken to Leavenworth under heavy guard and put into the deepest dungeon there?" "Dave" Dickinson of the United States attorney's office was asked.

"Dave" laughed long and loud and vociferously and stated in the strongest language at his command that he hadn't heard anything of it.

But, gosh, mebby he's got 'is orders not to say nothing about it.

Hugh Mills, chief of the United States secret service in this district, said, "I haven't heard anything about it."

War Nurse Plays April Fool Joke On the Guardsmen

A neatly dressed girl, about 17 years old, approached a group of orderlies off duty who were loitering in chairs by the window in front of the National Guard recruiting station Sunday afternoon.

"Won't you," she said, addressing Corporal Guy Buckles, champion prize fighter of the Fourth regiment, "please tell me how I can become a war nurse? I want to help so bad," she added, whimsically.

"Here," she said, turning to the group of soldiers before the corporal could answer her question, "won't you have some chocolates I made especially for you?"

They all took one, even Lieutenant Heffner of the supply company, who overheard her last remark.

"I hope you enjoy it," she added. "Did I say I made it today? O, yes, today is April 1!"

The center of each of the chocolates was filled with cayenne pepper.

After the well dressed girl had disappeared and the soldiers had wiped the tears from their eyes, they good naturedly admitted that it was the best April fool joke they had ever been caught on.

Kugel Hands Out Some Broadsides to Butler

City Commissioner Kugel during a meeting of the city council committee of the whole fired several broadsides at Commissioner Butler, alleging that the superintendent of the accounts and finance department, if correctly quoted in public print, has been careless of his facts.

The row referred to statements of the accounts of the city emergency hospital on Douglas street. Mr. Kugel explained that detailed reports were on file in his office and had been checked and audited by Mr. Butler's clerks and found to be correct.

"If Mr. Butler believes detailed reports should be sent to the council as well as to his office why did he not say so to us, instead of making so much fuss about it?" asked Mr. Kugel.

A little byplay was injected when Mr. Butler remarked he had received scant courtesy from Health Commissioner Connell, to which Mr. Kugel replied: "Remember that Connell is not Kugel, although some people seem to think so."
