Chamberlain's Cough Remedy High-ly Recommended.

"I'm thoroughly convinced that if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given a fair trial it will cure the most severe cold. I cannot speak too high-ly of it, as it always cures and is pleasan to take," writes Mrs. Charles Saxby, Litchfield, Ill.—Adv.

President's Message Causes Irregular Demonstration of Strength.

ALLIES' BONDS STRONG

New Tork, April 2—Operations on the Stock exchange today denoted the mixed feeling and bewilderment of processional traders arising from over-night develop-ments. The president's message to con-gress caused an irregular demonstration of strength at the opening, important sales, however, falling to respond in more than minor degree.

strength at the opening, important sales, however, falling to respond in more than minor degree.

Selling for profits materially reduced most of the gains before the end of the first hour, but at noon prices recovered nidway on a moderate resumption of demand. The entire list, with a few unimportant exceptions, fell back in the last half of the seesion, the revenual being simultaneous with the fallure of the senate to take action on the war resolution.

The only marked reflection of the new policy to which the government is committed was seen in the strong tone of international bonds, Angle-French is gaining 21%, with 11% for City of Paris 6s and a concurrent hardening of romittanees to Paris. Lires also satiffened, but rubles yielded.

Paris. Lires also stiffened, but ruces yielded.

The irregular course of the stock market was inaugurated by the movements of such leaders as United States Steel and other active stocks. Steel made an advance of over 2 points to 118% in the first half bour on buying on a secuningly substantial character, but fell back to 118%, closing at 118%, a ret loss of half a point.

Bothehem Steel and other munitions, as well as such equipments as usually follow in the train of war shares, were 1 to 4 points higher at their best, but these issues also surrendered for the most part to pressure.

To Tell the Called Party "Wait a Minute, Please," is Telephone Discourtesy

A telephone conversation cannot begin until line at the same time.

Business men are frequently annoyed when they answer the telephone by being told by someone in the office calling, "Please wait a minute", and then being forced to neglect their work while they wait until the calling party is ready to talk.

Most busy business men in using the telephone practise courtesy, as they themselves expect it of others. They ask for the telephone number themselves and hold the receiver to their ear until the called party answers.

Courtesy Improves the Service

Courtesy is a factor in good telephone service. The calling party should be ready to talk as soon as the called party answers.

It is not a kind act to request your private switchboard operator or office girl to interrupt a busy man and ask him to "wait a minute" until you are ready to talk to him.

Telephone courtesy is no more than doing to others as you would that they should do unto
