

SLOAN AND REAVIS SPEAK AGAINST WAR

Two Nebraska Congressmen Criticize Course of President During Crisis.

DELEGATION IS DIVIDED

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Washington, April 6.—(Special Telegram.)—The Nebraska delegation was evenly divided on the final vote on the war resolution early this morning. Lobeck, Stephens and Shallenberger voted for it and Reavis, Sloan and Kinkaid against it.

Representative Sloan was accorded the floor first about 5:30 yesterday afternoon to present the negative side to the resolution and he gave the house fifteen minutes of real thrills. He criticized the president's speech of April 2. He said that he was not one of those who had any illusion about having been "kept out of the war." That in every speech he made during the last campaign he had met the argument about "keeping us out of war," with evidence that the president desired to involve the country into war and a forecast that he would drive the country to the extreme now about to happen.

Continuing before a crowded house and crowded gallery, with corridors filled with people waiting for a look-in on a historical scene, Representative Sloan continued: "This measure is an offer to wage every dollar of wealth and every American life against nothing that the allies will win. If the allies win we have that which should never have been placed in jeopardy. If the allies are overcome we may stand to lose."

"We have no place in the European war outside the enforcement of our rights upon the seas, and for that the American people will gladly furnish men and money."

"I could not vote for this initial measure, which will be used as the basis for extraordinary demands of human life and blood and meet with a clear eye the mothers of this land. At this time, after all our arguments are fairly in, permit me to say that should congress do as I say I shall then do as best I may the duty of the hour to make our national will supreme over all that may oppose us in battle and save the republic for a people to whom reason may yet be restored."

"But until the will of congress is crystallized let me say as the safest, best and truest American doctrine, the defense of American rights on land and seas let millions be called and billions voted; for an allied European war of aggression, no men, no money."

Mr. Reavis Speaks.

Later on Congressman Reavis, who has pronounced views on the question of whether we should declare war with Germany, recited a number of interesting incidents in connection with the president's former visits to the capitol outside the epochal visit of Monday last.

He quoted from the president's speech wherein the chief executive had asserted that the policy of armed neutrality had been defeated by congress.

He showed the incorrectness of this statement.

"War with me is a last resort," said Mr. Reavis. "If, however, the resolution is passed, then I will give my best efforts to working out the situation successfully."

"While willing to defend American rights on the seas, my first desire is to withhold this resolution until it is demonstrated that the armed neutrality policy recommended by the president is insufficient and a failure."

For Booklovers

Fiction.
JOAN AND THE BABIES AND I By Cosmo Hamilton. Boston, Little, Brown & Co. $1.50.
Here is a most intimate revelation of a human soul groping for its mate, an idyll as well as a human document, and as such this book will appeal to every man and woman of imagination and all those who believe with Shakespeare that there is more in heaven and earth than is dreamt of in our philosophy.

OUTPOSTS OF THE FLEET By Edward Noble. Boston, Houghton, Mifflin Co. 50 cents.
A collection of stories of the merchant service in war and peace.

CHANGING WINDS By St. John G. Ervine. New York, The MacMillan Company, $1.50.
This tale begins in Ulster and changes rapidly from Ulster to Devonshire, from Devonshire to Dublin, from Dublin to London and then back again to Dublin. It includes an account of the Irish rebellion. The novel is the longest and most ambitious that Mr. Ervine has yet written and would seem destined to rank high among the best books about the war.

PIPPIN By Laura E. Richards. New York, D. Appleton & Co. $1.40.
Pippin never had a chance to grow up as other boys do. After many vicissitudes and experiences he makes the resolution to stay straight and lend a helping hand to the fellow that is down. The reward is sure and Pippin develops a decidedly interesting philosophy and also becomes one of the principal characters in a delightful romance that is in itself ample compensation for all the trials of his earlier years.

BRANDON OF THE ENGINEERS By Harold Blodgett. New York, Frederick A. Stokes Company. $1.50.
A romance of the tropics, with love, intrigue and hardship strangely blended. A strong man, an adorable girl, an Englishman secretly employed by the Germans, a Latin spy, a scheming halfbreed, a resourceful American—these are some of the characters that fill the story with thrills of adventure and romance.

TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS ON INTERESTING EXPERIENCE By Hans C. Shillind. Boston, The Gorham Press. $1.25.
The book covers the author's personal experience with hypocrites in his struggle for a livelihood. He shows human nature only as he has found it and points out pitfalls for the unwary.

GALILEO A. GROW By James T. Dubois and Gertrude A. Mathews. Boston, Houghton-Mifflin Company. $1.75.
The story of his life is an important contribution to American history and a highly readable book as well, as Grow was a brilliant debater on the floor of the house and in the thick of every fight. It will be of special interest to the millions of homesteaders who owe their homes to his efforts.

STANDARD OF AMERICAN LEGISLATION By Ernst Freund. The University of Chicago Press. $1.50.
A contribution to the rapidly growing movement for the improvement of statute law. The book suggests the possibility of building up a system of principles that should guide and control legislation.

THE NURSE'S HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL NURSING By Charlotte A. Alkana. Philadelphia, W. B. Saunders Company. $1.50.
A manual for use in home nursing classes in Young Women's Christian associations, in schools for girls and young women, and a working text book for mothers, "practical" nurses, trained attendants, and all who have the responsibility of the home care of the sick.

THE HEALTHFUL HOUSE By Linné Robertson and T. C. O'Donnell. Stratia Creek, Mich. Good Health Publishing Company.
A very fine and valuable book to one interested in making the home beautiful and healthful. The authors lay no claim to originality in declaring that a house must not only offer shelter against the elements, but it shall also be hygienic and sanitary, as these terms are commonly understood.

THE BOOK OF THE PEONY By Mrs. Edward Harding. Philadelphia, J. B. Lippincott & Co.
An exceptionally beautiful book with twenty illustrations in full color, twenty-two in double tone and a map. The book deals with the mythology of the peony, the best varieties and their characteristics, where to plant and how to prepare the soil, planting and cultivation, descriptions of various species. The volume is bound in green and gold, with a beautiful illustration in colors of a double peony (crimson) in a gold circle. Description cannot do justice to the exceptional beauty of this volume.

Miscellaneous.
ADVICE TO WOMEN By Florence Stacpool. Funk & Wagnalls. $1.25.
Written for women, by women, this work will prove to be invaluable to all expectant mothers. The instructions as to general care, food, exercise, etc., is carefully read and followed will mean the lessening in large degree of the discomforts and possible dangers attending childbirth. The wide experience of the author makes the advice peculiarly trustworthy and the hints given as to how to meet emergencies can be thoroughly relied upon. Not the least valuable portion of the work are the chapters devoted to the feeding and care of the new born infant.

Magazine Notes.
The Atlantic Monthly for April contains an article by H. N. Brailsford entitled, "The United States and the League of Peace." "Democracy and Diplomacy" by Arthur Bullard; "With Army Aids Somewhere in the Jungle," by William Beebe, are also timely articles, besides which there are many others as interesting, while the fiction is up to the usual standard of excellence.

Ian Hay has in the April Every-body's "A Spy Story of Belgium." There is also a John Kelly story by Wilbur S. Boyer entitled "Getting Even with Georgia." "The High Cost of Peggy," by William Almon Wolff is a bright, entertaining bit of fiction.

Harpers for April, besides containing seven notable short stories, features an interview with Orville Wright entitled "The Safe and Useful Aeroplane," and "Learning to Be an American," which is the narrative of an immigrant.

Every boy in America is interested in the Boy Scout movement and Boy's Life is the official magazine of that great institution. Its stories are written by the greatest "boy story" writers. For April one of the features is "Business and Sand" by Irving Crump. "On Nature's Trail," by Edward F. Bigelow, scout naturalist, will be found of great interest.

In the April Munsey Samuel T. Dana of the United States forest service has written "A Tragedy of the Forests," depicting the rise and fall of a boom town which is exceptionally interesting. "The Castles of England" by Richard Le Gallienne is also entertaining and well illustrated. A complete novelette, five short stories and two serials furnish the fiction.

"The Soldier Girls at the National Service School" is a timely article by Miriam Warren Hubbard in that popular "St. Nicholas," for April. Other interesting features are "The Girls in Khaki" by Margaret Dadman, "Understood Betsy," by Dorothy Canfield, while the rest of the pages are just full of stories and articles which interest the children in years as well as the children in heart, of older growth.

"War and the Child" is taken up in an article by Agnes Repple in the March Atlantic Monthly, and other interesting articles and stories are found between the pages of this valuable magazine. Noticeable among them might be mentioned "The Schoolmarm of Squaw Peak," by Laura Tilden Kent; "Nietzsche," by Josiah Royce; "The Man," by Warrington Dawson, and "Music and Life," by Thomas Whitney Surette.

The Writer, a monthly magazine for literary workers, is very valuable in this line of work. In it common errors of writing are taken up and corrected, practical advertisement writing is discussed and other valuable articles are contained therein.

"Are the knights of olden days returning?" one might ask on looking at the cover of the April Popular Science Magazine. However, it is an up-to-the-minute knight wearing up-to-date armor that is pictured. A new bullet-proof invention and only one of the many new scientific inventions that are shown in this valuable magazine.

Fitting a heroic war dog with an artificial limb, equipping a life belt with flashlights and automatically phoning in a burglar alarm by pressing a button are some of the interesting matters taken up in Popular Mechanics for April. Many more, too.

"The Clipper Ship and Her Seamen" is an article in the April Scribner's that will be found entertaining and interesting. "The Basis for National Military Training," by Henry L. Simson, is timely, while the fiction is, as always, of the best.

Convalescent Aid Society is Planned By Welfare Board

A Convalescent Aid society is the latest philanthropic effort of the Public Welfare board. Women representing all of the church denominations in the city met in the city hall to plan ways to assist sick persons just released from hospitals. Each church will take care of the sick of its own denomination while an Omaha Woman's club committee, headed by Mrs. A. L. Fernald, will look after those who are affiliated with no denomination.

"Our aim is to help these people at the time when they are most in need of help and most liable to get themselves deeply into debt," said Mrs. Rose Chaus. "We hope it will eliminate a lot of promiscuous begging."

Meetings of the committees will be held every Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the welfare rooms at the city hall. Among the women interested are Mesdames T. F. Sturgess, W. A. DeBord, G. C. Bailey, G. C. Edgerly, F. H. Cole, Lulu M. Lockwood, F. A. Wellman, F. W. Carmichael, McCormick, Mary Lunn, Albert Miller, G. W. Platter, Hall, J. W. McDonald and A. D. Malloy.

Gering Sends Delegation.
Gering, Neb., April 6.—(Special.)—The Community club of Gering today sent a delegation to Oshkosh, Neb., in the interests of good roads and the North Platte Highway association. It is expected that Gering will be on the proposed road, which will be a branch of the Lincoln highway that extends through this valley into Wyoming.

FIRES SHOT INTO HOME; VANISHES

Zach Ellis, Constable, Mysteriously Disappears—U. S. Flag Broken On Porch.

ACTED QUEERLY OF LATE

Zach M. Ellis, constable in Judge Britt's municipal court, fired a shot through the front door of his home at 2411 Saratoga street Thursday night about 10 o'clock. Then he walked toward the rear of his home and disappeared. An American flag, which had been flying from his front porch, was found, broken, on the floor of the porch.

Mrs. E. Wesley French 2409 Saratoga street, heard the shot and, peering through her front door, saw Ellis walk to the back of his home. The firing of the revolver brought neighbors to the scene, who found the American flag lying on the veranda of the Ellis home.

Zola Ellis, 16-year-old daughter of the missing man, who had taken refuge in the home of C. B. Gaunt, 2413 Saratoga street, says that her father has been acting strangely of late. It was because of his peculiar behavior recently that she went to the Gaunt home Thursday night rather than await the arrival of her father at his home.

Ellis created a scene in municipal court a few weeks ago when he demanded from a litigant there the immediate payment of constable fees due him.

Omaha Boxer Signs for Bout With Sam Langford

Paul Murray, local pugilist, has signed up to fight an exhibition bout of six rounds with Sam Langford, the "Boston tar baby," at the Eureka Athletic club, Kansas City, April 23. Paul says "Eureka" is the French for "I found it." The Boston tar baby has whipped such fighters as Battling Jim Johnson and Joe Jeanette.

Flush the Kidneys

Now Uric Acid Causes Gout, Rheumatism, Lumbago

(By L. H. SMITH, M. D.)

It was not until the discovery by Sir Arthur Garrod, in 1848, that the blood of gouty patients contained uric acid in an excessively large amount, that much attention was paid to this subject. Later scientific men learned that in gout, also rheumatism, the kidneys do not work properly to throw off the uric acid poison; consequently uric acid crystals are deposited in and about the joints, in the muscles, where an inflammation is set up in the nearby tissues. Hague has said, that "gout is rheumatism, and rheumatism is gout." If uric acid is formed in excess within the body it is passed on to the kidneys, which act as a filter to pass off this poison. If the excess is not excreted by the kidneys, it is distributed thru the tissues. The choice sites for such storage are in the joints, muscle-sheaths, where the circulation is weakest, and where also the alkalinity of the blood is lowest. Consequently we must do everything to throw off this uric acid poison, and simple methods are best. Flush the kidneys by drinking 6 to 8 glasses of water between meals. A pint of hot water a half hour before meals.

Take Anuric (double or triple strength), three times a day for awhile. Invigorate and assist the kidneys to flush out the uric acid poisons. During winter months the circulation is apt to be sluggish and the blood stream retarded. If uric acid is present it is apt to clog the capillaries. This accounts for many acute conditions, such as headache, neuralgia, gastric disturbances, and dull mind.

As the condition progresses, we often have lumbago, disease of the heart and arteries, breaking down of the kidneys, rheumatism and gouty symptoms. Eat less meat, drink more water, and take ANURIC (double or triple strength) after meals and at bed time for several weeks at a time, and you will be free from uric acid and the diseases that follow.

For over forty years the concentrated liquid-food in Scott's Emulsion has been changing thinness to plumpness—changing poor blood to rich blood.

There is nothing better for growing children—whether they are weak or well—than Scott's Emulsion, but see that you get the genuine Scott's.

Charge of Embezzlement In Wild Horse Case Void

Echoes of the "Arizona wild horse case" were heard in police court when John P. Shircliff, one of the wild horse defendants, was brought before Police Magistrate Madden on a charge of embezzlement preferred by J. Sidney Smith, another of the wild horse defendants and alleged ringleader.

Smith had Shircliff returned to Omaha from El Paso, Tex., charging that Shircliff embezzled the Investors' Security association of South Dakota out of $600. Smith testified that Shircliff sold a farm for either $750 or $850 and that he came to Omaha and got into a poker game at the Plaza hotel which proved disastrous to Shircliff's funds.

Attorneys for Shircliff made the plea that the evidence did not prove the embezzlement had been committed and the magistrate dismissed him.

Smith is suing Shircliff for $14,750 in the district court.
