BITTER FIGHT OVER COMPENSATION BILL

Senator Moriarty Proposes to Make Changes in Measure From House.

CONSIDERATION GOES OVER

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, April 10 .-- (Special.)-The senate fought hard over the employes liability amendment, House Roll No. 525, today, only to report progress

5.5. today, only to report progress and ask leave to sit again. The bill takes Jerry Howard's orig-inal house roll, charged on the floor as having been designed for ambu-lance chasing lawyers, and adds to it the provisions of Senate Files Nos. 213 and 220, the two compensation acts backed by the State Manufac-turers' association and labor leaders.

Amendments Proposed.

Senator Moriarty led a bitter fight against the bill as amended, and was rgainst the bill as amended, and was getting his own amendments, taken from the original Douglas county bill, adopted, when it was decided to con-tinue the discussion at another time. Hoping to save the best features of the bill without getting it killed, the proponents accepted with little strug-gle the Moriarity amendments. In opening his fight Senator Mor-iarity declared that the senate amend-ments were inspired by Frank Coffey, H. E. Gooch, Frank Ringer, manu-facturers and "ambulance chasing lia-bility insurance companies." Labor, he said, was not represented . What They Provide.

What They Provide.

The Moriarity amendments agreed to provide for the filing of applica-tions for compensation in the local district court, increased the compendistrict court, increased the compen-sation to two-thirds of the salary (the present law of one-half had been in-creased to 60 per cent by the manu-facturers' and labor leaders' agree-ment), and another was introduced to allow the injured man, no matter whether he elects to take under the law or not before injury, to bring a civil action for damages where the in-juries result from lack of safety ap-pliance.

pliance. It is this issue that advocates of the amended bill say offered the oppor-tunity for ambulance chasing, which the amended bill hopes to discourage.

Adjournment Up For Discussion by Members of House

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

Lincoln, April 10 .- (Special.) - To Lincoln, April 10.—(Special.)—To adjourn or not to adjourn; that is the question. Whether it is better to stop the clock and work on indefinitely or simply work until it is time to quit and then stop. This is what the pres-ent legislature is considering and to-asy the house again refused to set a time for final adjournment, and Speaker Jackson once again gave warning that there would be no stop-ning of the clock and the illegal doing. warning that there would be no stop-ping of the clock and the illegal doing of business thereof.
