To put strength into her nerves and color into her cheeks.

There can be no beautiful, healthy rosy-checked women without iron. The trouble in the past has been that when women needed iron they generally took ordinary metallic iron, which often eroded the stomach and did far more harm than good.

NOTE: NUXATED IRON recommended above by Dr. Ferdinand King can be obtained from any good druggist with an absolute guarantee of success or money refunded.

Steamship St. Louis Has Always Been Lucky Boat

The steamship St. Louis, which arrived safely at New York on Monday after a thrilling escape from submarines, has always been regarded as a fast and lucky boat.

An Omaha man sailed from Southampton to New York on the St. Louis, leaving the British port on August 1, 1896. The boat was a year old at that time. An abstract of the log of this trip shows that the St. Louis hovek all previous records between Southampton and New York, making the distance of 3,055 miles in six days, two hours and twenty-four minutes.

When the boat reached Sandy Hook after its memorable passage in 1896, craft of all kinds in New York harbor blew sirens in honor of the St. Louis.

The boundaries of these strips were previously outlined. Two square miles are added to the city.

PRESIDENT URGES CONSCRIPTION BILL

Wilson Tells Congressmen the Best Way to Get Men Is by the Draft.

OPPOSITION AMONG SOLONS

Washington, April 10.—President Wilson threw the weight of his personal influence into the scales today in an effort to overcome opposition in congress to the administration army plans based on the draft system. Summoning Chairman Dent of the house military committee, now considering the bill, the president made it clear that he believes the safety of the nation hangs on the action of congress in this regard.

In his address, Mr. Wilson formally told congress that in his judgment the United States must face its enemy with a certain weapon in the form of an army recruited by application of the principle of universal liability for military service as a duty of citizenship.

In his action today, however, the president recognized the fact that it may develop a strong feeling in congress in favor of adhering to the old volunteer system and sought to bring home to Mr. Dent, one of those who holds that view, the lessons to be drawn from the great war into which the United States now has been plunged.

A compromise plan may be offered by the opponents of compulsory service. A sentiment for such a move was evident in Mr. Dent's committee, before which Secretary Baker and the military chiefs of the War department assembled in full strength during the day to support the administration's policy.

In the senate debate on conscription occupied much time during discussion of the regular army appropriation bill, left over from the last session. The question is not dealt with in the bill during the debate. Senator Kirby offered an amendment to authorize the president to call volunteers in lots of half a million each.

As a result of Chairman Dent's attitude it is possible that some other member of the house committee will present the administration bill, if it is reported, as officials hope it will be, substantially in the same form in which it was drawn. The chairman agreed to introduce it "by request," which means that he would take no responsibility for it.

No Conclusion Reached. Representative Kahn, ranking republican member, has been a consistent advocate of universal military training and service for years. He went to the extent, during the framing of the national defense act, of sending to England for recruiting posters and literature, and used them to illustrate to the house the unreliable and inefficient operation of that system.

Discussion of the regular army appropriation bill had been perfunctory in the senate until a section authorizing advertising agencies to obtain recruits for the army was reached. Chairman Chamberlain said it was considered necessary to get men and instances of the fact that recruiting for the National Guard had not been successful.

Recruits have flocked to National Guard headquarters ever since the German ambassador was sent home," declared Senator Wadsworth, "but now I hear the War department has

(By DALE WINTERS.) Few movie actresses have been willing to brave the dangers of a "close-up" view, because of the glaring defects the enlargement always shows in their complexion.

This cream is easy and inexpensive to make—just dissolve about two ounces of powdered lye in one-half pint of sweet, unskimmed milk, then heat gradually until near the boiling point, and you will have a rolling massage cream that is really delightful to use.
