Choice Heavy Beeves Steady Wheat Prices Drop Sharply-Traders Hold Supplies and Market is Quiet.

Omaha, April 17, 1917. The local trade in wheat was extremely quiet today on account of the Seavy decline in wheat futures and also because of the light receipts of this cereal.

The demiand, however, for whist would probably have taken ears of the offering, but, as is usually the case when there as heavy drop in values, the select refund to sell on the decline and most of the amount of the command to sell on the decline and most of the same Third that the receipts of this cereal were also were light, the demiand was good and the sellers let go quite readily, although this market was also quoted somewhat fower, White corn was in good demand at remnium prices, cind a few saise of this variety were made around yesterday's best gride, but he bulk of the offerings and a feature lower.

Tellow and mixed corn and generally at the bulk of the offerings sould a fraction leaver.

Yellow and mixed corn sold generally at a decline, the better grades of yellow being quoted at $1.48 to $1.44%, while the commercial grades of nixed ranged in price from $1.42 to $1.44%.
The demand for oats was protty active and there was a good trade in this cerval, with prices quanted from he to I lower.

By a and barley were very quiet on account of light receiping, ye being quoted comminally ic lower, while harley was quoted steady.

reminally ic lower, while hariay was quoted toady.

Business Man Notes Big Boom Stimulates Omaha

S. Knapp, president of the Omaha Box company, was greatly impressed with Omaha and its prosperity when he returned from New Orleans, where he has been for a week inspecting lumber mills. "I noticed," he said, "that the two big daily papers in New Orleans carried two or more columns of "Situations." two or more columns of 'Situations Wanted' all the time, while here our papers carry two or more columns of 'Help Wanted' all the time. There is just the difference between the activity of the two cities."
