Exposures BY KILOWATT

MUCH excitement has been caused in movie circles by the announcement that the Divina Sarah has undergone an operation. The reason being that she will soon be released in a picture from the World studio.

"General" Taylor breaks forth into rhyme this week with a treat, "The Red Fellows". We only hope that he has it committed to memory and will repeat it to us post haste—meaning before May 1. Poem follows:

Here's to your health, to your joy, your success, For the boys of your kind are too few. There's nothing to shadden, to hearten and bless. In a bunch of "Red Fellows" like you. So I pledge you again, and can say only this: And it springs from a sentiment true. I shall always regret, every hour that I miss. From a bunch of "Red Fellows" like you.

Harry Goldberg said that he wanted us to put his name in this column and that he expected a "Russian" business, but wanted us to keep it the "darkest" kind of a secret.

In the eighth episode of "The Railroad Raiders" he is thrown from the roof of the car as it alighted on it. It was a very close shave and enough of the film has been seen in the cutting to reveal a stop of a moving train and a reversal of it out, for when the scene was taken she rolled to the edge and only just managed to save herself from being thrown.

Hazel Daly, Bryant Washburn's leading woman in the "Stinner" picture, "Hugs awfully good." At least, that's what a little girl sitting next her said.

What do you think of this? Mack Bennett has taken over an entire circus. No, not for good, but just to make scenes for the latest Keystone skram, "Her Circus Kagit", with Opa Castile, as well as a lot of wild animals, clowns, acrobats and everything that goes to make up the greatest show on earth.

It would be a good thing if some people who go to shows just owned one for a short time. Wouldn't it make you mad, when you are seeing everything you can give the public a great big bang for the money, and then somebody always "crabs" that isn't the worst part of it though, they get used to that and get like water on a duck's back.

A cyclone of comedy and a tornado of laughter are the terms being used by Paramount's P. A.'s (meaning press agents) in describing Patty Arbuckle's latest comedy. The reason? Smith's Center, Kansas, produced a picture which has been called "The Cyclone of Comedy" and the terms being used by Paramount's P. A.'s (meaning press agents) in describing Patty Arbuckle's latest comedy.
