

GIANT GROWS FAT ON PAVING BLOCKS

He Chews Them Up Just as Though They Were Delicious Mushrooms.

LAD LAYS THE BRICK FAST

By A. R. GROH. A giant has been sitting at Fifteenth and Jones streets for several weeks, eating "Belgian blocks," those big Sioux Falls granite paving stones.

The giant was a giant stone crusher. His presence there was part of a plan for city efficiency—no, not to use that threadbare, hackneyed word.

Two big items in the new paving were, first to haul these old paving stones away and, second, to buy and deliver on the ground several hundred tons of crushed stone to make the concrete base for the new paving.

Hard to Crush. If they could only break up those paving blocks into crushed stone! But paving blocks are very, very, oh, very, very, very hard.

The worn-out paving blocks weren't afraid of being crushed. They sat there in their piles in the vacant lots and seemed to laugh at the city of Omaha.

And then along came the big, stolid-looking contraption and was set up in the street. Then the gasoline engine was geared on to it.

Has Powerful Jaws. The giant began crunching with his powerful jaws. Each poor paving block was cracked into a thousand little pieces.

Those hundreds of tons of crushed Belgian blocks are now part of the concrete foundation of the new paving and a gang of men is laying the vitrified brick on top.

That young colored man certainly can lay bricks. He, dressed in a minute, as timed by my trusty Ingersoll. It takes a dozen men to keep him supplied with bricks.

And who is this man bossing the paving job? Why, it's Charlie Fanning, our postmaster, who thus utilizes his golden spare moments.

Says He Fought at "Vanilla" With Great Teddy R. William Marshall, 30 years old, a negro, was arraigned before Judge Sears, sitting in criminal court, on a charge of defiling the American flag.

The indictment read to the court by Deputy County Attorney Abbott charges that Marshall made unpatriotic remarks in the office of the P. D. S. laundry, 2117 Cuming street, on April 13.

At the preliminary hearing Harry Wheeler, Dorothy Haldeman and Lucille McMillan, employees of the laundry, testified that Marshall declared "the United States never done anything for the negro race. Germany has done more."

The laundry people allege that the negro said "he would take a German flag and march up the street with it."

"I wouldn't fight for the United States," Marshall is quoted as saying. "I wouldn't be no target for German submarines."

When arraigned before Judge Sears Marshall said "he was joking."

"I'm a patriotic citizen," averred Marshall. "I done fought at the battle of vanilla with Teddy Roosevelt."

"A pretty serious joke," mused the judge. "A man who fought at the battle of 'vanilla' should not indulge in such jokes."

TO REDUCE TRAINS AS A WAR MEASURE

Railroads Figure Large Number of Men Could Be Transferred to Raising Crops.

TO CUT OUT PARLOR CARS

In the interest of economy and to meet war conditions, there is talk that a large amount of passenger equipment will be taken off the railroads, not only in and out of Omaha, but on trains the country over.

President Calvin says that officially the matter has not been given serious consideration, adding that he would not be surprised to see such action taken.

It is said that the contemplated move upon the part of the railroads includes the reduction of the number of trains operated on the railroads and a division of the business in a fair and proportionate manner.

For instance, instead of operating some sixty passenger trains between Omaha and Chicago daily over the six lines, the number might be cut to twelve, or eighteen each way, and then arrange the service between the roads so as to accommodate the public nearly as well as now.

At the present time there are some fifteen trains leaving Omaha for Chicago between 4 o'clock and midnight every day. It is figured that this number of trains could be cut in half and the public would suffer no inconvenience.

It is also figured that a big saving would be made in discontinuing the running of parlor cars. The laying off of a large number of trains all over the country, it is asserted, would release an army of men, who would be able to engage in other lines of work and help become food producers.

Omaha Boys to Enter Uncle Sam's Service at Once. Phillip and Roger McCullough, Omaha boys, sons of T. W. McCullough, associate editor of The Bee, have been ordered to report for military duty at Fort Omaha Friday.

Phillip goes into the signal corps. He has been connected with the telephone company at Minneapolis and is the first of its experts the telephone company has offered to Uncle Sam.

He has been recommended for a captaincy in the signal corps. Roger will become a member of the aviation corps and has been recommended for a first lieutenantcy. He has been in Minneapolis engaged in newspaper work.

Both boys are graduates of the Omaha High school and former students at the University of Nebraska.

Red Cross Man, Who Served in Mexico, Wants Job Here. Clarence Richardson, a Red Cross nurse, who arrived in Omaha two weeks ago from Vera Cruz, N. M., to attend the funeral of his father, Dr. Clarence Richardson, of this city, has applied at the National League for Woman Service for the position of Red Cross instructor and nurse.

Local or long distance telephone messages relating to military matters will be given precedence over all other calls, according to instructions issued by General Manager W. B. T. Belt of the Nebraska Telephone company.

The installation of any telephone equipment to be used for military work is also to be given preference over installations for private parties.

Any telephone calls to or from government or state officials relating to federal or state troops, army supplies or Red Cross work come under the special instructions regarding the handling of military messages or installation of equipment.

Forty-two recruits from Aberdeen, S. D., are in the city today, enroute to Jefferson Barracks, where they are to go into training. The South Dakota boys came in over the Milwaukee road this morning and leave this evening over the Missouri Pacific.

One hundred thousand stickers, appealing for men for the navy, will be sent out on the backs of letters mailed by Omaha business houses.

Ensign John Rayley, navy publicity director here, designed the sticker in two colors. Seven big firms have already volunteered to put them on their mail. They are: Brandeis stores, Burgess-Nash stores, telephone company, electric light company, M. E. Smith & Co., Byrne-Hammer company and the Hotel Fontenelle.

The United Improvement clubs at a special meeting in the city hall endorsed national military conscription. Secretary Sutton started a discussion on federal control of food products, the decision of the club being that it would support the national government in anything it may do in this crisis.

Four thousand, four hundred Omaha lads would enlist in the navy if Omaha were to furnish as many enlistments as Niobrara in proportion to population. The little upstate town, with only 880 inhabitants, according to official figures, has sent in twenty-one navy recruits.

DAHLMAN WANTS TO PROTECT GARDENS

Mayor Introduces Ordinance Providing Heavy Fine for Plant Thefts.

POLICE TO TAKE HAND, TOO

Mayor Dahlman introduced an ordinance which will impose a fine of $5 to $100 upon any person who violates another's garden.

The measure will operate against any who "cut, injure or carry away a plant or vegetable."

"There is unusual gardening in Omaha this season and it is only fair to protect those who till the soil against those who would despoil or steal," explained the mayor.

The city commissioners are with the mayor and will vote for the ordinance when offered for final reading next week.

The police department will be asked to co-operate in apprehending those who violate this ordinance.

5,000,000 Corns Lifted Right Off! Try 2 Drops of Magic "Gets-It". There's a wonderful difference between getting rid of a corn now and the way they used to try to get rid of it only four or five years ago.

"Gets-It" has revolutionized corn history. It's the only corn remedy today that acts on the new principle, not only of shriveling up the corn, but of loosening the corn off—so loose that you can lift it right off with your fingers.

Put 2 drops of "Gets-It" on that corn or callus tonight. That's all. The corn is doomed sure as sunrise. No pain, or trouble, or soreness. You do away once and for all with toe-banding bandages, toe-eating salves and irresponsible what-nots. Try it—get surprised and lose a corn.

"Gets-It" is sold everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Omaha and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Sherman & McConnell Drug Co. Stores.

Maltless Alcoholfree

A BRANNEW BEVERAGE

Not a "near beer" or "temperance beer," not brewed, not fermented and does not contain malt, therefore the sale of it is not a violation of the prohibition law, neither does the sale of it violate the Constitutional Amendment.

In the case of Luther vs. State, 83 Neb. 455, our Supreme Court held (as to the character of the liquor, it was not necessary to prove more than that it was a Malt Liquor) the court said:

"At any rate, the law prohibits the sale of Malt Liquors without a licence, and we must obey its plain mandate."

"Near beers" or "temperance beers" now on the market, containing malt are a direct violation of the Constitutional Amendment, as the Constitutional Amendment's wording is the same as the Slocum law, both prohibiting the sale or barter of MALT, spirituous, vinous or other intoxicating liquors. The last legislature passed House Roll No. 793, which prohibits the sale of any brewed or fermented drinks, therefore all dealers should insist that their jobbers furnish them with a written guarantee that any "near beer" or "temperance beer," which they purchase from the jobbers, is not BREWED or fermented and that it does not contain malt.

A BRANNEW BEVERAGE

is in a class of its own, having a flavor and a taste of its own and is not to be compared with any "near beer" or "temperance beer."

WHY sell "near beers" or "temperance beers," which are a direct violation of our prohibition laws, when you can purchase "OMA," a brannew beverage which complies with all the laws?

Little Lad Bitten by Mad Dog On Way from School. While on his way home from school, Max Zolotkin, 7, son of Maurice Zolotkin, 1835 North Twenty-first street, was attacked by a big black bulldog and bitten on the nose. Cries of the lad attracted attention of neighbors, who drove the dog away. The animal is said to have bitten several people in the last two days. The dog, which is believed to have been mad, was shot by police yesterday.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Highly Recommended. "I'm thoroughly convinced that if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given a fair trial it will cure the most severe cold. I cannot speak too highly of it as it always cures and is pleasant to take," writes Mrs. Charles Saxby, Litchfield, Ill.—Advertisement.
