Lovely Frocks Worn at Wedding.

Rain prevented some of the newest and handsomest gowns of Omaha's fashionable set from appearing at the Country club opening last Saturday evening. More rain scared other new frocks away from the Red Cross ball Tuesday evening. Less rain last night turned the tide, so that new gowns were seen in profusion at the beautiful Brinker-Burkley wedding. It really was a shame that the rain persisted long; there might never again have been so suitable a time to wear them, and so finally they braved the rain.

Green was one of the favorite colors for the new gowns, the material of greatest popularity was fluffy tulle combined with soft satin, and the favorite trimmings were tiny French flowers. Miss Elizabeth Davis wore one of these fairy creations of green tulle trimmed with French flowers. Its simplicity merely enhanced the beauty of the gown and of its wearer. Mrs. Harold Fritchett had a modish gown of green chiffon with overdrapes of lace caught up in loops on the skirt. Mrs. Glenn Wharton wore a wonderful gown of peacock green made with a long pointed train.

Mrs. Charles T. Kountze wore an exquisite gown of white and silver. Mrs. Dick Stewart had one of the most beautiful gowns of any. It was made of a lovely shade of rose satin with bouffant skirt and was simply trimmed with French flowers. Mrs. Moshier Colpetzer's gown had a distinctly new touch in the form of heading on the delicate, white chiffon which formed the foundation.

Dolls Given Kiddies at Party at Benson & Thorne's

Come, lassies and laddies, Take leave of your dolls. And away to the May-pole ho. So goes a merry old song, dating back to 1671, when the rural dance about the Maypole was an annual festivity in Merrie Olde Englande. Every Omaha lassie and laddie missed a great treat who did not attend the Maypole party at Benson & Thorne's yesterday afternoon, which was a feature of baby week. It was a truly patriotic affair, with miniature Uncle Sams and Miss Columbias dancing gaily about the rose-garlanded Maypole, winding in and out the bright streamers of red, white and blue ribbons.

After the dance about the Maypole several special fancy dances were given by the littlest tots.

Tiny Martha Doty, age 3, gave a dainty French skirt dance, which brought forth a burst of applause. The program closed with patriotic melodies, sung by Miss Myrtle Wyatt and Mr. Steberg.

Each child attending the Maypole festivities was given a flag fan, and sixteen Mr. and Mrs. Uncle Sam dolls were given to the sixteen lucky children whose fans had the corresponding numbers to those on the dolls.

Boys dressed as Uncle Sam: Harry Cousinsman, Glenn Adams, Edward Grant, Clifford Johnson, Robert Vierling, Charles Carr.

Girls dressed as Miss Columbia: Florence Druessow, Thelma Wolfe, Ruth Bernstein, Nellie Grant, Lena Rosenblatt, Carletta, Clark.

Moving Tenant Knows Not What to Do With Booze

"May a tenant move his family supply of liquor when he leaves one house to move into another?" is a question with which the real estate firm of A. P. Tukey & Son is wrestling.

A tenant of a house for which this firm is agent wants to move. His basement is pretty well packed with bottled goods. He is afraid to move it on a van with the rest of his belongings lest the police seize it in transit. He is afraid to carry it over by hand lest he be suspected of bootlegging. He is afraid to leave it in the basement after he moves for fear thieves will get it, and since it is an outlawed commodity, he fears he would have no standing in court if he attempted to prosecute the thief.

"Old Loves for New"

By Nell Brinkley
Copyright, 1917, International News Service.

"... where the brook and river meet." That is a sad day for the house and the people in it—when the little maid therein holds in the crook of her arm her painted and flaxen doll, and puts it to bed for always—because Love has come.

Daniel Cupid is a barbarian—just as all fat babies are—and with his careless hands he nails up, by her yellow curls, a little maid's childhood and looses away with it his singing shaft straight to its faithful sawdust heart. And, laughing, succeeds to favor. —NELL BRINKLEY.

Activities of Women

Philadelphia has a club of advertising women.

More than 12,000 women earn a livelihood in the millinery trade in New York City.

A back yard squab farm netted $3,000 last year for Mrs. Gactyl Hagedorn of Cincinnati.

The Isle of Man, its name notwithstanding, was one of the first places in the world to grant suffrage to women.

If the suffrage situation were to undergo no further change before 1920, women would vote for president in eighteen states and help choose 164 electors.

The woman bank clerk has appeared in Baltimore; several young women having been engaged by a leading bank of that city to take the places of men called out for military service.

Canteens to provide for soldiers and sailors and to be in charge of women volunteers are to be organized throughout New York state by the National League for Women's Service.

Girls of Goucher college have decided on the elimination of high-heeled shoes as a measure of economy. It is estimated that if all American women would follow their example the saving in the heel leather would be sufficient in a year to make 100,000 pairs of shoes.

Senator Broussard of Louisiana has again introduced in congress a joint resolution granting permission for the erection of a monument in Arlington National cemetery to the memory of the various order of Catholic Sisters, who gave their services as nurses on battlefields and in hospitals during the civil war.

According to figures just announced by the British Board of Trade, 1,071,000 women in the United Kingdom are now directly replacing men in industries, the government and transportation services and office work.

Questions concerning the part women will take in American industries during the war will be discussed at the sixth biennial convention of the National Women's Trade Union league, which is soon to meet in Kansas City.

FASHION TIPS.

Quite in line with the popular trend in collars is the deep square collar, with its high stand at the back.

Quilting is also employed on one-piece frocks and coats; and this figure on the hem of the skirt and on the sleeves in coarse silk.

Cotton crepe Georgette is one of the new fabrics for which a pronounced vogue is predicted during the coming summer. It is obtainable in a wide range of modish and suitable colorings and in checked, striped or floral patterns as well as plain tone.

Foulard is not alone utilized for some of the smartest of spring frocks, but is very effectively introduced as a trimming detail, appearing, for instance, on a shantung or Khaki-kool frock in the form of a deep, graceful collar, with a hint of repetition at cuffs or belt.
