TO LOWER WHEAT

Publicity Bureau of Omaha Exchange Sees Cut in Cost of All Cereals, Too.

END GAMBLING

"If the United States government co-operates with Canada and fixes a maximum selling price for wheat the tendency would be toward lower prices on all kinds of grain."

Through its publicity bureau, the I. W. W. Murder Case foregoing is given out as the general opinion of members of the Omaha Grain exchange on the proposition joint action by the authorities in Washington and those of Canada in view of the move to co-operate with inaries. Canada and fix maximum prices on United grain, principally on wheat. He says:

End Speculation.

"The fixing of a maximum selling price in itself would naturally fix a maximum price at which the grain would be purchased from the producer. It would end all speculation and generally would do away with trading in futures other than July and September now myrked in.

September, now marked up.
"My judgment would be that fixing a maximum selling price would have a tendency toward lower prices, but on this proposition no person can more than make a guess. No one can tell what may happen and conse-quently no one can tell where prices will be next month, next week, or will be next month, next week, or even tomorrow.

"As I understand the situation, most of the wheat of this country that has been bought for July and September delivery has been taken over by the allies. When the date for delivery arrives no living man can say whether or not these purchasers will never the grain. Parkas they will want the grain. Ferhaps they will want to leave it on this side and per-haps they will want to exchange it for munitions, clothing, meats or some-thing else." will want the grain. Perhaps they wil

Prices Go Up. The Chicago prices for wheat for July delivery ranged from $2.15 to $2.53 Friday, but, according to members of the exchange, when the representatives of the allies took over the resentatives or the alies took over the futures they contracted at figures considerably lower.

Friday, instead of the talked of cooperation depressing the Omaha cash wheat market, it acted directly opposite, sending prices up fully 3 cents.

There was a ruly to huy and the sales There was a rush to buy and the sale There was a rush to buy and the sales were made at $2.92 to $2.95 a bushel.

Corn was weak and was ½ cent off, selling at $1.51 to $1.52½, with oats down a cent to a cent and one-fourth, selling at 69 to 69½ cents a

Noun of headjustment Brings Little Disturbance.

New York, May 4.—Dun's will say:
A month of readjustment to new conditions has brought little disturbance to business and only in relatively few instances are signs of special healtation apparent.
Lessening of ordinary demands has continued in some important branches, largely because of the extreme prices, and backward weather has retarded retail distribution of seasonable merchandles in most sections of the country.

Yet the growing crops reflect appreciable improvement, with winter wheat promising a more abundant harvest than recently secred likely, and the betterment in the agricultural outlook means much in a year when big yields are more than ever needed. Conservations is still a dominant note in reports from some of the principal centers, especially in the east, but while regular transactions fall below the previous maximum, the extensive government require-Dry Goods Market.
