NO LOOPHOLE TO EVADE THE DRAFT

Any Registration Official Showing Favoritism Must Go to Prison; No Alternative of Fine.

Washington, May 11.—American of any fear that county and city registration boards will exercise favoritism in enrolling soldiers under the selective draft act, Provost Marshal General Crowder issued a statement to-night declaring such practices would be virtually impossible, because of the explicit terms in which the act is drawn.

He warned registration officials that favoritism easily could be detected and would be punished with heavy penalties.

"Every precaution," said the statement, "will be taken to make it certain that the registration will be conducted with exact justice."

No Latitude to Board.

"The law is specific and allows no latitude to the boards, either in the matter of registration or in the later matter of exemption from service. The law is self-executing. Every man within the age limits fixed by the selective service act must register, and the penalty of the law in evasion of registration will fall not only on the man who fails to appear, but on any member of a registration board who may be shown to be in collusion with the person who attempts to escape his duty. "Further than this, the registration boards will never act as exemption boards except in certain specific cases, such as where a young man who has registered shall claim to be employed in a federal, state or local office and thereby does come within the exemption clause of the statute. In a case like this the facts must be entered officially and attested.

Penalty Is Imprisonment.

"So far as the other reasons for exemption under the law are concerned, exemption for men engaged in pursuits in which their work is more valuable at home than in the service, the authority will lie with a board of higher discretion. "The law provides the penalty of imprisonment with no alternative of a fine for any official or any registered man who shall make a false return or connive at such a practice. The safeguards against favoritism or evasion are ample.

Exemptions Unchanged.

Exemptions from the selective draft in the army bill conference agreement were left virtually as suggested by the general staff. Those absolutely exempt include officers of the United States and any state or territory; ministers, students of recognized divinity or theological schools, and members of "any well recognized religious sect or organization at present organized," whose "existing creed" forbids participation in war.

The president is authorized to exclude or discharge from draft the following: County and municipal officers, customhouse clerks, postal employees, workmen in navy yards or arsenals or armories; others in the federal government's employ whom the president may designate; pilots and mariners actually employed in sea service; "persons engaged in industries, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment or the effective operation of the military forces, or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency;" those having persons dependent upon them for support, and those found to be physically or morally deficient.

Civil Not Military Hearings.

There will be civil and not military hearings. Tribunals are to be established in each county of each state, or in cities, one for each 30,000 inhabitants. There are to be three persons on each board appointed by the president. There will be an appeal tribunal in each federal judicial district. The president would be the final court of appeal.

Noncommissioned Officers to Represent "Fourth" at Fort

Colonel W. E. Bachr of the Fourth Nebraska National Guard regiment has been instructed to issue transportation to enlisted men of his command who have been admitted to the Fort Snelling training camp. In addition to enlisted men of the "Fourth" who may go to Fort Snelling, twenty-five non-commissioned officers will go as representatives of the regiment. They will be given furloughs while there, and in case any do not qualify and receive commissions they will be taken back in their former places in the guard.

OMAHA WOMAN WILL CULTIVATE THREE-ACRE TRACT—Mrs. E. W. Exley gives up golf and swimming, dons overalls and goes in for farming. Picture shows plow in the furrow. Insert, face view, resting. This is the spirit in which American womanhood is facing the new problems created by the world war. Omaha women have met their country's call in every instance and have taken the lead in many cases.

GIVES UP GOLF TO FARM 3-ACRE TRACT

Mrs. E. W. Exley Dons Overalls and Jumpers and Plows Field to Aid Food Conservation Movement.

Mrs. E. W. Exley of the New Hamilton apartments has given up golf, tennis and swimming this season and will devote her leisure time to cultivating a three-acre tract near Sixtieth and Q streets.

She said she donned overalls, not to get her neighbors talking about her, but because she really believes this bifurcated garment best serves the needs of gardening. "I believe there are many ways in which a woman can help her country at this time and one of the practical ways is to help in the food conservation movement. I want to do my bit. Instead of spending my time at the Happy Hollow links I will devote my time and effort to a tract of land," she said.

Wilson, Woodland, Ia., after suffering many years from Asthma, at the age of 74, obtains relief and writes as follows: "After suffering from Asthma for 24 years, I can truthfully say I have never found a better thing to equal Nature's Creation for that trouble. le money, but regards that phase of the matter as secondary. She wants to increase the total of food products this season. The three-acre tract was leased, $100 was spent for seeds, a man was engaged to plow the land and she will do the sowing and cultivating. She went out the other afternoon and did some of the plowing herself, donned in overalls, and showed that she is no dilettante as an agriculturalist. Two acres will be planted in potatoes and the other acre in peas, beans, onions, tomatoes and red peppers. In a runabout automobile she will travel every day to and from her little farm.

Appreciates War Time.

"When I told my husband what I was going to do, he smiled misgivingly, as much as to say that I had been stricken with a passing fancy and would soon give it up, but I am going to show him that I am in earnest. Anything that is worth while needs effort and when the harvest time shall have come it will be my time to laugh," she remarked, as she rested her horses and stood at the plow, like a modern Joan of Arc, trying to show that a woman can appreciate the seriousness of war time. She is a splendid swimmer, graceful skater, efficient at golf and can hold her own on the tennis courts.

"Do you think that women will adopt overalls to any general extent?" she was asked.

Overalls All Right.

"People might just as well begin to adjust their eyes to the sight of women in overalls, for they are going to take the place of skirts for such activities as gardening and other lines of work for women," she replied. "Overalls," she added, "are sane and sensible and I don't see why men should have any monopoly on them. I saw some overalls for women in a store yesterday. We will have to revise some of our conventionalities. I am thinking of comfort first and style second in this garden work
