

BIG ARMY CAMP MAY BE OPENED IN OMAHA BY U.S.

President Brown of Commercial Club Says One of Thirty-Two "Towns" May Be Built Here.

Omaha probably will be chosen as one of the thirty-two "army towns" to house soldiers who will be mobilized within the next six months, in the opinion of President Randall K. Brown of the Commercial club of Omaha.

"We knew this building of camps to house the soldiers was coming and we have been pressing Omaha's advantages for some time," said President Brown.

"We have had the question up with the War department, and Senator Hitchcock has made several trips to the department in our behalf. We have placed all the available information as to Omaha's advantages before the committee in charge.

"We have pointed out that Omaha has excellent railway facilities, that it already has two army posts here, that it has great stock yards and packing plants to furnish an abundant meat supply; that it has great elevators for the storing of grain and a great many other facilities important in mobilization.

Colonel Hunter Impressed.
"Colonel Hunter was here from Washington about a month ago with a committee of army men looking over Omaha's facilities. He seemed greatly impressed with Omaha's resources."

Master Bingham of the quartermaster's department said: "I know nothing about where these mobilization camps will be located. That is all handled from Washington. The locations have been under investigation for some time."

Commissioner Manley of the Commercial club said:

"The War department sent officers here some time ago to check up Omaha's advantages. They obtained maps of vacant plots of ground adjacent to the city, taking account of the street car service, the railway facilities, etc. They were in no position to tell us what opinions they had formed. Their report, as I understand it, was made back to General Thomas Barry of Chicago, commander of the Central department."

Business Men Hopeful.
Omaha business men are of the opinion that Omaha's chances of being selected as one of the sites are excellent, especially since the dispatches say six such mobilization camps are to be opened in the Central department, which comprises only the five states of Nebraska, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Iowa.

Says Hubby Joyrides and Leaves Her Home to Knit
Gertrude P. Radinsky, 16 Sirehous apartments, is suing Raymond Samuel Radinsky, expert accountant and cashier of the Standard Furnace and Stove company, for divorce in district court.

She alleges that her husband took other women "joy riding" and out to dinner and left her at home knitting and doing the housework.

"He continually sought the society of other women," she says.

She says that he finally left her, taking all his belongings and leaving her only $5 bill.

According to the petition, Mrs. Radinsky is teaching music and singing as a means of support.

Radinsky, the wife says, has an income of $200 a month. She asks the court to restore her maiden name of Gertrude Sanborn and award her $75 a month alimony.

The Radinskys were married in Omaha June 7, 1914.

Beaten Habitually, Woman Swoons As She Testifies Against Husband

A ninety-pound mother of two children testified against her husband Friday in police court and then collapsed. She told how her husband, John Ivron, employe at the smelter works, beat her habitually. Wednesday, she said, he locked her in their home at 4603 North Eighteenth street and beat her with a strap until her body was black and blue.

Ivron, a big, powerful man, earns $11 a week and refused to turn it over to his wife for the support of herself and the two children.

Mrs. Ivron says she often suffered hunger without complaining, but when her babies, aged 18 months and 9 months, were without food she complained to Mrs. Rose M. Ohaus, head of the Welfare board domestic relations department.

During her testimony Mrs. Ivron was afraid to look at her husband. He scowled at her several times, and the little woman bowed down in her chair. Once she bowed her head to the back of her chair, and Mrs. Ohaus brought her a drink of water.

"He said he would kill me if I told the police," Mrs. Ivron said.

At the request of Mrs. Ohaus, Judge Madden sent Ivron to the work house for forty-five days.

"I want to send this little woman to the hospital," explained Mrs. Ohaus, "to give her time to recuperate from the beatings her husband gave her. Her body is a mass of bruises."

Now I do some lightning calculating. I discover that eight silver dollars, laid edge to edge, will reach a distance of one foot. Therefore 42,240 silver dollars will reach exactly one mile.

Dividing 7,000,000,000 by 42,240 I get 165,719. Seven billions dollars, laid edge to edge would reach 165,719 miles, or six times around the earth with 15,719 miles left over. If you could walk thirty miles a day and keep walking every day along that line of dollars you could reach the end of the line in a trifle over sixteen years.

Put 'em in Piles.
Taking again Mr. Bertisch's silver dollar borrowed from the wealthy gentleman, I find by careful measurements that ten silver dollars, placed one on top of the other will make a pile one inch high.

With this fact established, I demonstrate by means of an elaborate estimation in trigonometry and differential calculus that 7,000,000,000 silver dollars will make a pile 700,000,000 inches high, which would be 38,533,333 feet or 11,048 miles.

This is too high a pile to stand firmly. So we will make our 7,000,000,000 dollars into 11,048 piles, each one mile high. In still other words all these dollars would make 209,912 piles, each as high as the City National bank building.

Thoroughly exhausted with my mathematical labors I pause here, hoping you realize how big a sum $7,000,000,000 is.

I return the ruler to Mr. Bertisch and, what's more, I return the dollar to the wealthy individual. For I am an honest man.

Elks Sponsor Program For Red Cross Benefit
An entertainment in aid of the Red Cross and the first one to take place in the court house will be a gigantic concert to be given by the Elks lodge Thursday evening, May 24. George Green's concert band, Henry G. Cox and his student orchestra, the Menomah chorus, the Armour Glee club (sixteen young women), a double male quartet furnished by Mrs. Millie Ryan and a brief patriotic address by A. W. Jeffers have already been secured for the program.

Every number on the program will be a big one, and the performers already secured now number nearly 200. Arrangements will be made to seat the rotunda of the court house to its fullest capacity. It is planned to have Red Cross nurses as ticket takers and Boy Scouts to act as ushers. It is to be a 100 per cent concert, and for every ticket sold the Elks will turn into the Red Cross fund $1. It is believed that nearly 3,000 persons can attend and comfortably listen to the program of patriotic and popular music. Tickets at $1 each will be placed on sale throughout the city at once.

Girl Screams; Alleged Assailant is Arrested
The screams of a girl at Eighth and Pacific streets attracted Patrolman Chaddock late Thursday night.

He testified Friday in police court that Sam Suttino attacked Anna Nelson, 5508 Center street, who is employed in pool hall at 621 Pacific street.

"The girl asked me to talk with her," Suttino told the court.

"Not much," said City Prosecutor McGuire. "Then why did she scream?"

Suttino did not answer.

"We're going to see this case through," said Judge Madden. "Bring the girl into court tomorrow and we will hear her story. If it corroborates the officer's testimony the prisoner will get a stiff penalty."

LIBERTY LOAN IS ONE OF GIGANTIC SIZE AND HEIGHT

Measured by Any Kind of Standard it Would Extend Far in Any Direction.

By A. R. GROH.
Seven billion dollars! The "liberty loan."

Do you realize, dear reader, how many dollars that is? Probably not. For when figures rise to those vast proportions they exceed the comprehension of these little brains of ours.

Well, let's try to comprehend. That sum represents about $7 for every minute, day and night, that has elapsed from the birth of Christ to the present time!

Take another example. Suppose you have 7,000,000,000 silver dollars in a big bin, and you start to count them. You count one dollar a second and drop it into another bin. One dollar every second you count and you work eight hours a day and 365 days a year, except in leap years, when you work 366.

Suppose you are 20 years old now. By the time you are 90 you will have counted just 735,000,000 of those dollars. It would take you 665 years and ten months to complete the task of counting the $7,000,000,000.

Borrows the Dollar.
I hold in my hand, ladies and gentlemen, a silver dollar (borrowed for the occasion from a wealthy gentleman in the office). I ask Mr. A. Edwin Long for the loan of a ruler. He hasn't any. Mr. Fred S. Hunter, our sporting editor, who wears such classy clothes, also fails me.

But Mr. Bertisch, who knows everything and has everything, produces a ruler from the third drawer of his desk and I proceed to measure the silver dollar. As a result of my mathematical investigations I find that the dollar is one and one-half inches in diameter.

Now I do some lightning calculating. I discover that eight silver dollars, laid edge to edge, will reach a distance of one foot. Therefore 42,240 silver dollars will reach exactly one mile.

Dividing 7,000,000,000 by 42,240 I get 165,719. Seven billions dollars, laid edge to edge would reach 165,719 miles, or six times around the earth with 15,719 miles left over. Tomato, Cabbage and Egg Plants at the City Hall
Director Fleharty of the municipal garden department will place on sale in a basement room of the city hall Saturday morning 500 dozens of tomato, cabbage and eggplants at cost prices.

This will be the conclusion of this feature of the city's garden work. The potato and small seed sale was a success and Mr. Fleharty expects that the plants will be quickly disposed of.

Leeta P. Holdrege, for the Sunday school of the Unitarian church, sent a check for $6.72 to be used in helping needy persons buy garden seeds.

Mayor Dahlman wrote a letter of thanks to the Equal Suffrage society for assistance given in the city's garden work.
