What Should Be Done in a Case Like This One?

How would you solve the problem of the neglected wife?

Where husband and wife are drifting further and further apart, not necessarily because of an open scandal between them, but more frequently because their interests and viewpoints no longer coincide, what would be your remedy?

What would you do with the other woman, who need not be a mere social derelict, who may, in fact, represent a higher type of womanhood than she who is displaced? How would you satisfy the demands of a husband who has progressed mentally and it may be spiritually, while his wife has remained stationary?

One need only look about him to be certain that these questions are vital ones in many American homes. Short of the gordian remedy of divorce, how shall these snarls be straightened? What would you do if you were the neglected wife? What if you were the husband torn between rooted conceptions of duty and the feeling that perhaps a higher debt to himself and all about him demands a frank recognition of changed conditions? What if you were the other woman, swept along in the tide of circumstance, struggling to escape through some channel that would leave your self-respect to you, and yet not denude your life of all that had become dearer than life itself?

"The Neglected Wife," Pathe's new serial, founded on Mabel Herbert Uner's stories, starts at the Muse theater today, and shows graphically how one crisis was met. But its solution is not the solution. You may approve the last great choice that poor Margaret Warner made, or you may see beyond it to another and more compelling solution.

Pathe has offered a series of prizes for the best letters presenting answers to the problem of "The Neglected Wife." A first prize of $1,000 will be awarded, with another of $500, and five additional prizes of $100 each, the winners to be chosen by a committee of prominent men and women.

What is your way out?

America a Music-Loving Nation Without Composers

Count Eugene d'Harcourt, a noted composer, conductor and critic of Paris, who has been visiting in New York and touring the United States, in a recent interview said:

"You Americans are singularly music-loving as a nation. If you were not devoted to music, why should you have it everywhere and always? Americans have to have music at every hour of the day more than any other people in the world. You have all the feeling for music and all the love of it necessary to make you a great musical nation, but you have no musicians, because you have no musical education. It is like trying to work without tools—you have everything but the tools."

He contends that we should soon produce many excellent composers and develop a popular taste for the finest music if the principles of music were properly taught in our primary schools and if there were a few endowed conservatories where talented men and women could receive a musical education free, as they do in Europe.

"You have your Carnegie giving millions for free libraries and Rockefeller who give as many millions to the cause of medical research, but none of your millionaires seems to feel the great need of the American people for musical education. Yet it should be the shame of America that your musicians all go to Europe to study."

Indiana Congressman Dies at Washington

Washington, May 19.—Representative Daniel W. Constock of Indiana died here today of pneumonia. He was 77 years old and a veteran of the civil war.

WE SHOULD aim to make our Summer a joyous holiday and to revel in the luxury of out-of-doors. The Orchard & Wilhelm Co. has furniture for our porches that will create an atmosphere of ease and informality. No furniture could be more attractive in Summer than the cane and reed rockers, chairs and tables on display there; also a splendid line of upholstered swinging hammocks with canvas covers—always an alluring feature for the porch. There's a lawn suite such as you see pictured in English gardens consisting of four chairs and a round table, with slip covers of smart awning striped canvas and a huge umbrella which invites you to sit in its shade on a hot Summer afternoon. Out-of-doors living is economy of strength and 'twill be more than worth your while to invest in some of these delightful porch and garden pieces at Orchard & Wilhelm's.

Along with the voguish gingham hats and frocks we have gingham parasols to match.

FLUFFY net dresses with pert little shirtings, girlish frocks, dainty French rose-buds, exquisite filet trimmings and ribbons. My! but the Summer frocks are adorable which Benson & Thorne are featuring this week for the benefit of Misses about to graduate. And, best of all, they're not expensive—only $13.50 and up. They're also featuring lovely orquid and voile dresses—really charming little affairs—for only $5.00. Then there are the imported French veils, so sheer and dainty, for $12.50 and $14.50. The Misses Section at Benson & Thorne's seem to be getting prettier things in every day, and such a host of them.

"SAUCY Jane"—do you know her? She's certainly a neat, smart little thing to have about the house—and just another one of the clever things made by Miss Cole of The Lingerie Shop, 511 Bee Bldg. "Saucy Jane" is a new house frock which sells for $2.50—made of percale or gingham. Don't forget Miss Cole's nifty Bungalow aprons.

HERE'S an item in which every housekeeper or housekeeper-to-be should be interested! The Van Sant School of Business, 220 Omaha Nat. Bank Bldg., is going to conduct a six weeks' course, beginning May 18, on "War-Time Food Problems," with daily menus and talks on saving waste by Miss Irma Gross, B. S., of the domestic Science Dept., Central High School. Better register at once!

AT NAPIER'S Booterie, Rose Bldg., they are offering 800 pairs of very nifty pumps of this season's short lines in all sizes at the specially reduced prices, $3.85, $4.85 and $5.85. The materials are patent, black, gray and ivory kid and white linen—and in Colonial and strapped headed effects. You can have your choice of a walking or Louis heel. Mail orders will be filled while they last.

CHEERS! I made a discovery this week. If you want a pretty sunshade to match your sport costume, you can have your own parasol frame covered at a very small cost at the Western Umbrella Co., 19th and Farnam. It's beautifully done, too!

FETCHING fashions in Millinery for Wee Maidens are shown in The Little Tots' Section of Benson & Thorne's. Simple little hats in Panama and Leghorn—some demurely trimmed with ribbon, others gaily be-decked with dainty rose-buds. There are cunning chin straps to hold them on. If you're a little fairy in your home, 2 to 10 years old, she must have one of these pretty hats.

A convenient toilet table for baby is a wicker basket on a standard, with a big handle to lift it around. There's a tiny basket underneath to contain the needed toilet articles.

HERE'S another beautiful suggestion for a wedding gift! A HAWTHORNE VASE would be a distinctive ornament that any bride would love in her new home. At The Alla Shop, 207 S. 18th St., there are a few of these rare and exquisite vases. One of black, with faint pink blossoms (a decorator told me it was an exceptional specimen)—then there are those in Chinese blue and delicate lavender and pink. Mrs. Smith will tell you the interesting story how these vases are made.

JUST tell me what girl or woman doesn't dote on pretty hosiery? And if she'd but see the captivating fancies in silken foot-covering that are shown at Thompson-Belden's she would dote on them more than ever before. For the Bride or Girl Graduate, there are white silk stockings that are exquisitely hand-embroidered, filmy filet and simple sweet clock effects. For the Sports Girl there are rose and white and gold and blue horizontal striped hosiery, or plain shades of Kelly green and old blue—most any color to match your sweater or Sports frock. Ask Miss Leach at The Hosiery Section to show them to you.

Show your patriotism by joining the Red Cross Society this week. You'll be proud to wear a button.

THE BEE'S SHOPPING SERVICE is absolutely free of charge to its readers and we urge you to take advantage of it. By taking a good value in a blouse from one shop, a coat from another and a dress perhaps from another, we are able to select for you the best to be bought in Omaha for the money and thereby reduce the cost of dressing. When you write please be very explicit in stating your desires. Purchases will be sent from the stores C. O. D. Address Polly The Shopper, Omaha Bee, Or Phone Tyler 1000.

I'VE often mentioned in these columns that pretty shop of Lamond's, 2d Floor of the Rose Bldg.—but have I told you about their French blouses? Really, they are positively enchanting in their loveliness! Visualize, if you can, one of cool Nile Green Georgette embroidered in self tones and tiny silver beads with a vestee of delicate apricot color. Why, it's a veritable Spring poem, and it makes me feel mercenary to mention that it has a price—Yes, it's $9.75.

The patriotic maid may wear a jabot or collar of Georgette in red, white and blue. One of our stores is showing quite a line of them.

A PERFECT wedding ceremony is keenly looked forward to by all participating—and flowers are a most necessary part to make it perfect. Lee Larmon's WEDDING FLOWER SERVICE is based on a thorough knowledge of what is proper in style and individuality. His bouquets have that artistically lovely touch which brides cherish so much. Whether your wedding be simple or elaborate, Mr. Larmon is equipped to supply beautiful flowers for either church or home decoration. His shop is in the Fontenelle Hotel. Phone Doug. 8244.

A strand of pearls in dinner length, with a small diamond clasp, is a very popular wedding and graduation gift.

THE query, "How shall I furnish that little alcove that reception hall, that sun parlor or that oddly shaped room?" can be answered to your utmost satisfaction and without cost or obligation on your part by The Decorating Department at Orchard & Wilhelm's, who maintain experts to help you solve home-furnishing problems, often using the materials you have on hand. Really, there's no excuse for our having in artistic nooks in our homes with this splendid department to aid us.

NOTHING bespeaks refinement more than a daintily gloved hand! If you want gloves properly cleaned, I urge you by all means to send them to the Patinorium, but if you buy washable gloves never send them to be dry cleaned if you ever expect to wash them yourself afterwards, for they come out dry and stiff and practically ruined.

IS THERE anything expresses youth and buoyancy more than the indispensable Middy Blouse? Regulation Paul Jones and Bob Evans Middies, with navy and scarlet trimmings—no girl's vacation outfit is complete without several—can be found at Benson & Thorne's. There's a big table of them for $1.00 and $1.50. There are new middies with apple-green trimmings that look so clean and cool, and plain Norfolk styles. Pleated Middy Skirts in plain white materials and Scotch plaid ginghams may be purchased at this store for $2.50 and $3.95.

Middy sweaters are extremely popular among the younger set now.

NEXT time you're downtown drop in the pretty Japanese shop of The Nippon Importing Co., 218 S. 18th St., for the proprietor, Mr. Taso, in his delightfully courteous manner, will show you through the shop even if you do not come to buy. There's a table of beautiful baskets which could be used for sewing or a variety of things—and if you like can be attractively decorated with tassels or beads. There are unique incense burners of queer Chinese figures. Mr. Taso receives his merchandise directly from Japan and the low prices will astonish you.

"T'N The Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love"—and an ENGAGEMENT RING for the "dearest girl in the world." He may not know that a genuine diamond—yes, a beautiful, little sparkling gem—may be purchased at Arnold H. Edmonston's Jewelry Shop, Rose Bldg., for only $50.00. Write or ask Mrs. Nieman in this shop to tell you about how you can arrange for the payment of it.

NOW that Spring has so advanced, Mr. Man, you'll certainly be pleased to have some of those fresh wash ties Lucien Stephens is showing at his Smart Shop for Men, 1901 Farnam. Big Sister has also been remembered, for Mr. Stephens has swapper sticks with our nation's emblem embossed on the top—just too nobby for anything! To see them is to buy one.

WHAT a comfort to know of a shop where you can have your simplest frock embroidered, headed or braided to look like an imported gown. The IDEAL PLEATING CO., Brown Block, has an expert designer—I've told you before about this clever young Russian. This week he was embroidering in white chalk heads an intricate pattern on a dainty Georgette frock—really, it was wonderfully beautiful! And one thing you can always depend on—they finish orders ON TIME at this shop.

The new overalls for women will certainly help vanquish work.

WHAT perfect ease one has if the possessor of Happy Feet, made so by the careful and comfort-giving massage obtainable at The Comfort Shop, Rose Bldg. Miss Johnston, there, also assures me she can by her electrolysis treatment shape your disfiguring eyebrows, so that you will be most happy over the effect.

WALLACE Nutting Pictures! The possession of one would make the heart of any Bride or Girl Graduate glad. I particularly love his old-fashioned or Colonial themes, showing quaint girls and granddads at the center of our ancestral life—scenes of hearth-sides, winding stairs, old settles and hospitable and beautiful front doors taken amidst the dignified surroundings of our fathers. Unframed, these fascinating subjects are $1.25, $2.50 and $5.00, at The A. Hospe Co.'s Art Shop. Clip this item so you won't forget this suggestion for a wedding or commencement present.

SPECIAL! Very special, indeed! And you'll want several when you see them. The W. L. Eldridge Importing Co. is offering this week the prettiest, coolest looking porch or Summer-time bedroom rugs for—imagine it—only 85¢! This is a bit of an inducement, so you'll "just drop in," and get acquainted with this attractive Oriental shop. It's at 1318 Farnam St.

AMONG the tables full of charming Commencement gift ideas in Orchard & Wilhelm's Gift Shop I found the quaint lacquered tin box of yesterday for Sweetheart—but in a new guise. The cover is topped with a very smart looking painted lady, whose (tin) crinoline skirts are looped with old-fashioned posies. Filled with bon-bons, almost any girl would pronounce it "just the sweetest gift!"

WHEN I walked into F. W. Thorne's Uptown Shop, 1812 Farnam St., last Wednesday the clerks were all as busy as bees rearranging merchandise from one end of the store to the other, for, since Mr. Thorne's announcement that he would place his business on a cash basis, he has decided to show his patrons what an advantage this policy is by offering everything at greatly reduced figures. This, as you know, was a comparatively new store when Mr. Thorne took over the management of it a few weeks ago from A. T. Benson, so all the pretty modish frocks, blouses, suits, coats, etc., are spick and span new, and you'll be very wise indeed to take advantage of the remarkable values offered. Mr. Thorne's name wins instant recognition from the Omaha public for honest merchandise.

I JUST can't resist tucking in this bit of news at the last minute. Over at Benson & Thorne's they have just received the most jaunty riding habits of natural colored linen—just like Mrs. Vernon Castle wears on her morning rides through Central Park—and separate trig white breeches that would be wonderfully stunning worn with a dark serge or tweed coat. Riding has become such a fad among our society women that I'm sure they will be glad to hear of these Summer togs.

List to my song, it won't be long—BRIDES and MAIDENS GRADUATING!

Gowns of Fluffy Net you'll find "so sweet!" Dreams of Blouses, Sunshades captivating. Summer Boots and Hosiery elite. For your wedding gown wonderful Beading. Wedding Flowers you'll soon be needing. Wedding or Engagement Rings in cases. Such exquisite gifts of Hawthorne Vases. Baskets very beautiful for sewing, "War-Time Food Suggestions" will save "stealing." Little Sister's "Flower Girl Hat" you'll find. Then all your worries will be off your mind. Sincerely yours, POLLY.—Advertisement.
