WOMEN ENTERTAIN THE LEGISLATORS

Predictions Made That Universal Suffrage Is Coming in Not Far Distant Future.

"I am patriotic, but my patriotisr is severely shaken when I realize that the future of my country rests with the vote of foreign-born citizens,

Mrs. Arthur Livermore of Yonkers N. Y., gave expression to the foregoing statement. It was at a suffrage urday when the local suffrage people entertained the members of the legislature who helped to give the women limited suffrage.

Mrs. Livermore is a member of the Mrs. Frank Leslie commission, delegated to administer the $1,000,000 fund left for the promotion of the suffrage cause. She said the commission would use only the interest of the money, not touching the principal. She thought that was good business. "We will establish first a bureau of suffrage education," Mrs. Livermore said.

Will Publish a Paper.

Will Publish a Paper.

"We have effected a consolidation of the three great suffrage journals, and the first issue is due June I. The name of the new paper is to be The Woman Citizen."

Mrs. Livermore appealed to the men to grant unlimited woman suffrage now, as a war measure, saying: "The women need protection now when they go into the munition planta and into the big factories to produce the war supplies. We want protection for the children also, in order that there may not be an increase of 30 per tent in juvenile crime as there has been in England since the war began."

State Senator Benuett praised the intelligence of the women, saying they are just as intelligent voters as the men. "I enly wish I had had the power to go further and give the women the full vote instead of limited suffrage."

President T. P. Reynolds of the Central Labor union and of the State Federation of Labor, said the position of organized labor on the suffrage question had at no time been in doubt, and that organized labor had long ago expressed itself as favorable to suffrage.

Mrs. W. E. Barclay, president of the State Woman Suffrage association, urged the men, as a patriotic act now, not to force the women to spend their energies and money in a campaign for suffrage in 1918, but rather to grant it to them that the energy and moral and spiritual force of the women might be expended in Red Cross work, and other good movements to alleviate the sufferings of the war instead of on a campaign to gain that which should be their right by birth.

Albany, N. Y., May 20.—Profeasional boxing will be illegal in New York after November 15. Governor Whitman yesterday signed the Slater bill, which is to hecome effective on that date and which repeals present laws governing the sport.

The fight of the governor and his supporters for the enactment of the repeal legislation was one of the features of the legislative session just closed. Its passage was not effected intil the governor had sent three special messages urging the repeal.

The governor's determination to do away with professional boxing in New York came to - focus after a youthful boxer had been killed in less than a minute after he entered the ring for a bout in February.

British Munition Makers To Be Sent to Trenches

Correspondence of The Associated Press.)

London, April 30.—In order fully to meet the pressing need of the army for 500,000 men between now and July next, recently announced by General Sir William Robertson, a large number of munition workers are to be set free for general military service. The process of release began May I, and it is intended that the men released shall be called up as far as possible in age groups, beginning with the younger men. All men whose service is found to be indispensable for the output of munitions will be protected.

Similarly all skilled and other essential men engaged on shipbuilding, ship repair, and marine engineering will for the present be protected from recruiting.

Liverpool. April 30.—"Why does not Lord Davenport, the food controller, utilize the service of the American ambassador as a food demonstrator?" asks Sir Edward Russell, editor of the Liverpool Daily Post, in one of his weekly letters in his paper. Continuing Sir Edward says:
"Mr. Page may not be a fluent speaker on his feet as Americans go, but just get him talking at dinner about how to cook vegetables. He does not pretend to conceal his disgust with the way in which English cooks mishandle vegetables. But he is not a critic only, for he has his practical remedies. He will pour out to bewildered hostess and amazed hearers a succession of receipts for cooking vegetables. His great principle is to eliminate the water that accumulates in the dishes in which vegetables stand; whilst on the subject of the pumpkin he waxes idyllic."

The war cabinet has approved a new plan submitted by the director general of national service for obtaining from the least essential industries a sufficient number of substitutes for men who must be released for military purposes from the more essential industries. Committees of employers and employes in the various trades affected are being forsed for the purpose of arranging what men shall be released from their respective trades, and to arrange for their transfer to the essential trades.

The main feature of the plan is that it places upon those concerned in the trade itself the responsibility of finding the men required with the least possible injury to the trade or hardship to the men.

May Be a Drawback.

This shortage of farm implements is looked upon as just one more of the many drawbacks already in sight to the growing and flarvesting of a bumper crop, so badly needed this year on account of the world war into which the United States has at last been dragged along with the rest of the civilized world. For some years farmers have been complaining of increases in the price of farm machinery, and it is now possible they will have to pay more for machinery than ever. Implement men point out, however, that even though implements have gone up a little they have by no means kept pace with the rapid advance in the price of other products and particularly not with the phenominal rise in the market price of the products of the farm which are grown and harvested with these implements. time," says Prof. L. W. Chase, head of the department of agricultural engineering at the University of Ne-braska. He remarked jokingly that new is the time to corner them and make a fortune. "Two-row corn drills, however." he says, "are not the only farm implements lacking at this time. All machinery is scarce, and some of it absolutely unobtainable."
