Destroyer S-20 Goes Down and Another Destroyer is Damaged; Britons Also Bombard Ostend.

London, June 5.—A German destroyer has been sunk and another damaged in a running fight between six German destroyers and Commodore Tyrwhitt's squadron, the admiralty announces.

How Battle Was Fought. According to the Evening News correspondent, when Commodore Tyrwhitt's squadron first sighted the Germans they were five miles distant. They had apparently put to sea in fear of bombardment from the air and water. When they tried to regain port the British squadron divided into two lines. A British destroyer opened the engagement and its fire damaged the S-20 almost immediately.

Cabbage Instead of Cabaret in War Time Roof Garden at Lincoln Lincoln, Neb., June 5.—On the top of a five-story building here there is a flourishing garden—a regular roof garden, except that there is cabbage instead of cabaret. The garden is on the roof of the Young Men's Christian Association building, and the chief gardener is Frank Taylor, a locomotive engineer, who believes in conservation and intensive agriculture.

It is Taylor's opinion this garden is more beautiful than any flower garden in town, for it is green with the leaves and vines of "edible garden truck." Watermelons, cucumbers, squash, tomatoes, radishes, strawberries, peas, beans, potatoes—all will grow in this roof garden. The crops are planted in crates, troughs, barrels and kegs filled with fertilized earth. Peas and beans have been planted in troughs. Vine plants have been put in barrels and kegs and potatoes in boxes. Water pipes have been extended to the roof. Taylor has announced his intention to guard the spot against Young Men's Christian association boys and other when the melons begin to ripen.

HOLD OMAHA GIRL TO BE WITNESS IN MOUND CITY CASE Margaret Holton Arrested to Require Her to Testify in Trial of Paul O. Sommer for Embezzlement.

Margaret Holton, 23 years old, residing at the Alsatian apartments, 115 South Thirty-fifth street, in district court Wednesday morning will defend habeas corpus proceedings in connection with an attempt to require her to go to St. Louis to appear as a witness in trial of Paul O. Sommer, charged with embezzlement as secretary of the Holman Paper Box company.

Miss Holton was arrested Saturday night following a telegram to Chief of Police Dunn, requesting that she be held here for St. Louis authorities on a charge of "forgery in the third degree," an offense peculiar to state laws of Missouri. She was booked here as fugitive from justice and released on bond pending the habeas corpus case. Daniel Harrigan and Arthur Mullen are representing her.

Miss Holton lived at 4358 Maryland avenue, St. Louis, and was with the Holman company from December 21, 1911, to December 16, 1916. She was assistant to Sommer and is said to know of the accounting methods used by the former secretary. John B. Holman, president of the local company, charged that Sommer's shortage would be nearly $20,000 when auditing had been completed. Raising checks and issuing irregular payrolls are the methods said to have been used by Sommer.

Seeding Provinces Ask That China Fight Germany Amoy, China, June 5.—Five demands are made upon the Pekin government by the seceding provinces of China. These are: The dismissal of the national assembly; the revision of the constitution; the dismissal of the president's advisers; the reinstatement as premier of Tuan Chi-Jui, and war against Germany. Compliance with the first two demands is considered the most difficult, but both factions, according to the indications here, are confident that a satisfactory compromise will be reached.

Reports to Washington Up to Noon Indicate Enrollment is Proceeding Rapidly and Quietly.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 5.—E. H. Furcher, a member of the Farmers' and Laborers' Protective Association of America, who had hidden himself in the woods heavily armed for the announced purpose of resisting conscription, was shot and killed near Midway yesterday by a posse of officers from Hood and Palo Pinto counties, it was learned today.

Washington, June 5.—Registration proceeded generally without disturbance throughout the country and the few arrests reported were construed by officials not as evidence of an organized resistance, but rather as sporadic affairs to be expected in an undertaking of such magnitude and importance. Weather generally was fair and incoming reports indicated a healthy registration during the early hours and continuing as the day passed on.

Lincoln, June 5.—(Special.)—Long before the registration booths opened today young men eager to place their names among those who were willing to do service for the country were in line. Badges provided for those who registered were exhausted early in some places and it was necessary to secure a new supply. It was apparent before noon that few were endeavoring to escape the law and young men were early seen about the city with their red, white and blue ribbons showing that they had fallen in line early.

Elaborate Decorations. The parade was one of the largest ever seen in the city, the head reaching to postoffice square, which had been designated as the end, before the rear at the state house had started. Seven bands, including the Veteran drum corps, furnished the music and a long line of men who had registered during the day brought one long stream of red, white and blue.

Returned Will Be Late. It will, therefore, be 9 o'clock tonight before the first precinct returns in the eastern states is complete and it will be midnight, Washington time, before

London, June 5.—The weekly report of losses of British merchant vessels in the submarine campaign will again show a favorable total when it is issued tomorrow. In some respects the last week has been the best since unrestricted submarine warfare was inaugurated. Last Friday was a blank day on the records; that is no losses of British merchantmen occurred. It is the first time this has happened for a long time. Many encounters have occurred within the last week the result of which has been entirely satisfactory to the admiralty. American ships have a share of the credit. British naval people believe improvement is cumulative and that there is not the slightest chance, with the im-

TWENTY THOUSAND YOUNG MEN IN GREATER OMAHA RESPOND TO COUNTRY'S CALL TO DO THEIR BIT

Patriotic Eagerness to Serve Under Stars and Stripes, If Needed, Manifest by Eligibles Who Wait Patiently for Their Turn to Register

Approximately 20,000 young men in Greater Omaha between the ages of 21 and 31 responded gallantly to their country's call yesterday and registered for selective army conscription.

Overshadowing any previous appeal to patriotism in the history of the city, Columbia called and the Nebraska metropolis and her young men did themselves proud. The total number of registrations in Greater Omaha, estimated by Election Commissioner Moorhead at midnight, was at least 2,000 in excess of what was predicted by officials yesterday morning.

PATRIOTS SHOW EAGERNESS. A youthful eagerness, accentuated by a patriotic sense of duty, was manifest by the thousands of eligibles who waited patiently for their turns at the 124 registration places, answered questions and signed under oath to be ready to do their bit, if needed, under the Stars and Stripes.

MOB ATTACKS MAN WHO MAKES PRO-GERMAN REMARK

Slur on U. S. Results in Rough Treatment for D. F. Ensign; Jailed After Soldiers Rescue Him.

The first symptom of disloyalty to mar the registration program in Omaha was nipped in the bud today, when D. F. Ensign, 4109 South Thirty-sixth street, was beaten by a mob at Sixteenth and Farnam streets, rescued by soldiers and lodged in jail. Pro-German utterances started the trouble. If the case against Ensign is pushed, he may become a target for a firing squad. If Uncle Sam happens to be more lenient the prisoner may escape with a term in military prison.

A patriotic meeting was being held in front of the army recruiting station at Sixteenth and Farnam streets. There had been several speeches, encouraging the boys to register and these were followed by a martial music of a bugle and drum corp. Ensign, who had been standing at the edge of the crowd, made his way to the center. A soldier spied him and noticing that was a strong, husky fellow about 25 years of age, remarked: "You would make a good soldier and you ought to register." Ensign resented the remark, adding: "I don't have to register." Everything would have gone well with Ensign if he had stopped there, but he added: "Many Register Early. Hundreds of young men on their way to work were waiting for registration places to open at 7 o'clock. Between 7 o'clock, 9 o'clock and 11 o'clock and 1 o'clock and 6 o'clock and 9 o'clock in the evening were the busiest times. Patriotic demonstrations were made at the 124 registration places, where a total of more than 400 registrars are on duty. Bands and fife and drum corps played all morning and marched through the streets. All registration places were profusely decorated with flags and the national colors. Courts were closed for the day, as were many offices in the court house and other public buildings. Some remained open until noon. Volunteers Help the Work. A big force of volunteer registrars was on duty at the election commissioner's office answering questions and registering absentees, sick persons and nonresidents who waited until the last minute. The specter of the big hand of the federal government reaching out after them had its effect even on the carefree hobo and tramp, who appeared at the election commissioner's office in large numbers and registered as nonresidents, giving their homes all the way from San Francisco to New York and New Orleans to International Falls. "We're ready, Uncle Sam," was the spirit of the day. Thorne Says Conditions Justify No Freight Raise Russian Troops Advance On Turko-Persian Border Petrograd, June 5.—(Via London.)—(British Admiralty, Per Wireless Press.)—Russian troops have made an advance south of Baneh, near the frontier between Persia and Turkey, the war office reports. Attacks by Kurds were beaten off.

American Ships Score Well in Fighting German Submarine Peril London, June 5.—The weekly report of losses of British merchant vessels in the submarine campaign will again show a favorable total when it is issued tomorrow. OPTIMISM AMONG ALL. These patriots for the most part walked unflinchingly to registration places. A spirit of good-natured, optimistic, hand-extended type of loyalty was in evidence. It was a tired but cheerful lot of volunteer registrars who worked throughout the day. They stayed on the job after 9 o'clock at night, when the registration places closed, compiled figures, checked up the registrations and telephoned them to the election commissioner if possible before going to their respective homes. "We'll Meet in Trenches." Young men standing in line at the registration places bantered lightly with strangers and passed the time of day with remarks like, "Well, friend, good luck to you; I hope we meet again in the trenches when the Germans are on the run." The majority of registration places were out of buttons to pin on coat lapels of registered men at 6 o'clock last night. A supply of 20,000 was on hand in the morning. Few Are Slackers. So-called slackers and hangers-back were so few that they were unworthy of notice. The thousands of Omaha young men within the prescribed age limits took registration as a matter of course—and seemed glad to do it. Contrary to rumors, a small percent who registered claimed exemption. Large numbers, of course, answered in the affirmative when asked if they had dependents, but lots of young men refused to regard this fact as a loophole for possible exemption. Greasy-garbed mechanics, disheveled laborers and men of all colors and nationalities, some not even citizens, rubbed elbows with immaculately attired "rich men's sons," well-groomed clerks and young professional men and youths just out of school. All on Common Ground. They all met on common ground and registered their names. They went into the registration places as this, that and the other thing. They came out wearing buttons bearing the inscription—"Registered"—possible material for Uncle Sam's gigantic fighting machine in-the-making. Many Register Early. Hundreds of young men on their way to work were waiting for registration places to open at 7 o'clock. Washington, June 5.—Clifford Thorne, representing the National Shippers' conference, told the Interstate Commerce commission today that if railroad statistics so far for 1917 remained constant the roads would be entitled to an increase not to exceed 3.8 in their freight revenue, but he added, that the fluctuations in ratio would not justify such an increase at this time.
