FIVE $5,000 GIFTS TO OMAHA RED CROSS

Chairman Wattles Says He Expects to Be Able to Announce Fifteen More Like Them.

"Five $5,000 subscriptions have already been made by individuals for the Red Cross finance campaign which begins Monday morning, and I hope to announce fifteen more of not less than this amount early next week, said G. W. Wattles, chairman of the finance committee. "I feel certain that as soon as the big-hearted men of the community realize the tremendous importance of this work, the other fifteen will be forthcoming," he added.

Omaha women, who were a big factor in the success of the membership campaign, will be asked to co-operate in the finance campaign. A woman's auxiliary, with Mrs. Charles T. Kountze as chairman, is being organized, to assist in the work of raising Omaha's quota of the Red Cross war fund next week.

Want Women's Influence.
"It is not the intention to ask the women to take part in the actual solicitation of the funds, but the influence of women is very great in every community, and the auxiliary will be able to assist materially in many ways that will be needed in the campaign," said Chairman Wattles.

All captains appointed to make the campaign canvass are to be present with their teams at the dinner at the Fontenelle hotel Friday night at 6 o'clock. Individual tables have been reserved for the teams and a definite working basis will be established at the meeting.

Bonds Work Double.
Omaha people may be doubly patriotic during next week. It is announced from Red Cross headquarters that contributions to the war fund may be made in Liberty bonds as well as cash. Omahans may first buy a Liberty bond, thus assisting in the work of financing the war, after which they may turn the bond over to the Red Cross war fund for work in the field.

Omaha has become well known as an efficient Red Cross center. Appeals have been received from Tarkio, Mo., for assistance in forming a chapter there. Other calls have come from South Dakota, where the people desire to form chapters, but do not understand how to begin the work of organizing.

Dr. E. C. Henry, appointed as one of the captains for Red Cross week, has notified Mr. Wattles that a business engagement forces him to leave the city June 15, and he cannot serve. A working basis of ten teams has been decided on, and as Dr. Henry's was the eleventh team it is probable that no one will be appointed to take his place.

Charges Against Head of School for Deaf Withdrawn

The complaint and charges filed with the State Board of Control against F. W. Booth, superintendent of the School for the Deaf at Omaha, have been withdrawn, because the complainants declared it would be impossible to produce the evidence they have at a hearing as late as June 15. Teachers upon whom they depended for evidence, the complainants declared in their withdrawal of the charges, have resigned and left Omaha.

Burlington Repairs Line Washed Out at Hamburg, Ia.

The Burlington has completed repair work on its Omaha-Kansas City line near Hamburg, Ia., where the tracks were washed out when the Nishna river overflowed its banks last week.

The Omaha-St. Louis line of the Wabash still is out of commission by reason of washouts in northern Missouri. Reconstruction is expected to be completed today and trains sent through Wednesday.

Cash Corn Sets Up New Mark on Omaha Market

Cash corn established a new record on the Omaha market Tuesday, when it climbed to $1.67.

Receipts were 155 carloads and prices ranged from $1.65 to $1.67, with a brisk demand by both millers and feeders.

To eliminate speculation on corn the clearing house of the exchange has fixed $1.63 as the maximum price on corn for July, September or December delivery.

PUGSLEY TO TEACH MEN TO DRY FRUITS

Head of University Extension Offers to Come if Class of Fifty Is Organized Here.

Prof. C. W. Pugsley, head of the university extension department of the University of Nebraska, has volunteered to instruct a class in the drying of vegetables and fruits the night of June 22, providing fifty Omaha men are sufficiently interested to register. Business women unable to attend in the day time will be admitted to the class, although it is primarily for the purpose of instructing men.

Registrations for the class will be taken this week at the Board of Public Welfare office.

"The new method of drying food discovered by the Agricultural department in Washington is cheaper than the canning and all odds and ends of vegetables and fruits which are wasted in canning are conserved by the drying process," said Mrs. Rose Ohaus of the Welfare board.

Spinach, asparagus and beets are being canned in the school.

Mrs. F. B. Herford of Florence assisted in the instruction.

Eight new electric plates have been installed in the laboratory for the use of the canning school.

Owing to the fact that a number of out-of-town women were unable to remain for the afternoon session, the schedule was changed, giving laboratory work and lectures both in the morning and afternoon.

The drying process and hand grist mill arrived from Chadron and demonstrations were given during the afternoon.

Mrs. E. M. Fairfield's class, composed of fifty members of the Equal Franchise society, will meet Friday and Saturday of this week.

Miss Irma Gross, domestic science instructor at the Central High school and home economics contributor to The Bee, is a student at the canning school, although an expert in the work.

The class to be held June 22 and 23 is open for new students.

F. C. Dellone, Born Here Over Forty-Six Years Ago, Dead

Frederic C. Dellone, whose death took place early on Tuesday morning, was born in Omaha February 14, 1871, and was the son of Frank X. Dellone, one of Omaha's pioneer citizens.

He was educated at Creighton university and went to Chicago, where he was engaged in business.

His health failing, he had to relax and spent several winters in the south without any apparent improvement. At his doctor's suggestion he returned to his early home, being in Omaha the last eight months.

Mr. Dellone is survived by his wife, Jessie F. Dellone; his aged father, F. X. Dellone; his sisters, Mrs. J. T. Finley, and Miss Loretta Dellone; also one brother, Charles, of Havana, Cuba. He was a nephew of the late Fred K. Dellone.

His funeral will take place from the home of J. T. Finley, 2959 Poppleton avenue, to St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Burial at Holy Sepulcher.

Vacation School for High School Boys and Girls

The Young Men's Christian association has secured E. E. McMillan, vice principal of the Central High school, to serve as principal of the Young Men's Christian Association vacation school. He will also teach mathematics and science.

All of the teachers have been selected from the Central High school. This has been done because the association wishes to offer the very highest standard of teaching. Teachers secured are as follows: Mae Somers, German; Susan Paxson, Latin; Jeanette McDonald, English; Katherine Lowry, English; Frank Gulgar, mathematics, science; Ada Atkinson, history, civics.

More teachers will be secured as the demand requires them.

Omaha Girl Sues Chicago Bank Teller for $25,000

A breach of promise suit for $25,000 was filed in Chicago Monday by Miss Faye Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Smith, 3515 Burt street, Omaha, against William H. Rasmussen, a Chicago bank teller.

Miss Smith met Rasmussen last summer at a summer resort and he visited her at her home here last month. He gave her many presents, it is said, sent her flowers and it was generally understood that they were to be married. Miss Smith had worked on her table and bed linens in preparation for the wedding.

Miss Smith and her mother are now in Chicago with Miss Smith's uncle, a manufacturer.

Railroad Attorneys See Finish of Two-Cent Rate

While local railroad officials are of the opinion that the decision of the supreme court of the United States handed down Monday in the South Dakota case sounds the death knell of 2-cent passenger rates, and that in the near future 24 cents will be the rule, there will be no hasty action in applying the increased rate.

Railroad attorneys say that in all probability Nebraska roads will continue to apply the 2-cent-a-mile rate on all intrastate business until a suit is instituted to have the rate declared void. They say this action may be taken within a short time, or it may be delayed several weeks, and perhaps months.

Twelve Claims on City For Inadequate Sewers

Twelve claims have been filed with the city council by citizens who state that their cellars and gardens were damaged on account of inadequate sewer service on occasion of heavy rain last week.

City to Help Pay for Big Water Main to Riverview

An appropriation of $5,000 was set aside by city council as the city's share of installing a new ten-inch water main to serve the southeastern part of city. Riverview park swimming pool caused a six-inch general service main to be inadequate.
