H.S. ALUMNI PLAN FOR BIG REUNION AT HAPPY HOLLOW

Young and Older Will Meet Monday Night at Happy Hollow Club to Talk Old Times.

By A. R. GROH.

The Omaha High School Alumni association will hold its annual reunion at the Happy Hollow club next Monday evening.

That item may not excite you very much. But, as there are a few thousand members of the association, it isn't inappropriate to have a little write-up of it in this column, written by an alumnus and in this paper, published and edited by an alumnus.

We are a pretty high-brow association, by Zeus! (You see we use classical exclamations.) We are the "non plus ultra." (Latin words.) We alumni use the ancient Latin quite a bit. We know how to pronounce "e pluribus unum" and all those words.

We are "alumni," you see. Ordinary people would call themselves graduate, but we use the Latin "alumni" from the verb "alere" meaning "to nourish."

The girls we call "alumnae," which is the feminine of "alumni" as you would know if you understood Latin like we do.

Knows His Latin.

We call the Omaha High school our "alma mater," which means "dear mother," as you would know if you understood Latin like we do.

We know lots of other words, too, like "sine die" and "Gallia est omnis divisa in partes tres." Of course, all this high knowledge has been secured at the cost of burning the midnight oil. We, while our companions slept, were toiling upward in the night. We also know Greek. Oh, my, yes! Don't you wish you were an alumnus?

The association was organized in 1908. All graduates of the Omaha High school are deemed members of the association. This year, for the first time, all the high schools of Greater Omaha are united in the association.

Joins Young and Old.

The annual reunion is quite an affair. It brings together giddy young graduates of the latest class and graduates of forty years ago, all with a common interest and a common "alma mater," the good old "O. H. S."

William L. Randall is president this year. Members of the association are today professional and business men of the city and of other cities. They are found in legislative bodies and the halls of congress. Some of them are teaching in the institution from which they graduated. They are a company of useful citizens of which one may well be proud. And dear old "alma mater" up on the hill is still turning out others who are prepared to live useful and honored lives.

Business First.

The annual reunion is an informal affair which begins with a business meeting and continues with dancing and visiting. The high school "yell" is apt to be heard. Groups gather and compare notes and tell what teachers were there when they were there, and so on. And the orchestra plays and alumni and alumnae whirl in the merry dance.

Half a buck (No, no, this is an unseemly expression for an alumnus to employ. Let us say "fifty cents"). Fifty cents admits to all. You see, alumni, though very brainy, indeed, are not snobbish.

Tickets are on sale at the Sherman & McConnell drug stores, and the association wants to see a big attendance. This year's graduates are especially invited.

If our kind of boys' shoes cost a trifle more than the common kind you will find them worth more than the difference.

THIRTY YEARS IN THE SERVICE—The distinction of being a United States marine for thirty years belongs to Gunnery Sergeant John Shea, who has just been "read out" of the service on account of old age. When a man is "read out" his entire record from the date of his enlistment is publicly proclaimed by his commanding officer, and is one of the highest honors accorded an enlisted man.

Among those already enrolled are some from Creighton, Nebraska University, Nebraska School of Medicine, the Omaha high schools and from schools of the surrounding states.

Leave Stolen Car in Garage Of Friend, Who Tells Police

Frank O'Brien, Keystone hotel, and Nick Mercurio, 627 South Twentieth street, were arrested Thursday night charged with stealing an automobile at Plattsmouth. The car was found at Fortieth and Burdette streets where they had put it in the garage of a friend who discovered it when he came from work and immediately notified the police. Witnesses accompanied by the sheriff came up from Plattsmouth and will take back the car and thieves.

Wives of all physicians are asked to consider themselves members of the committee to assist.

Church Given $2,000 Bond To Apply on Building Fund

FIND ALLEGED SLACKERS ARE UNDER THE AGE

Commission Man and Three Street Car Employees Prove Their Youth to Satisfaction of Authorities.

Russell L. Rohrer, cashier for the Fitzharris Commission company, South Side, arrested for failure to register for the selective draft, proved to the federal authorities that he is under the draft age and was discharged.

Rohrer is one of those who added a year or two to their ages in seeking positions where it was necessary to be 21 years old. He produced an affidavit from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rohrer of Beloit, Kan., showing that he will be 21 years old July 28, 1917. His employers stated that he would not lose his position on account of his misstatement of his age.

"I hope that in all such cases the young men will not be discharged simply because they added a year to their ages in order to obtain their position," said United States Marshal Flynn. "There should be just as little disturbance of business as possible in these times and if these young men are making good at their work I hope they will be kept."

Conductor is Released.

The marshal even will co-operate with young men in such circumstances. He stated that if any man has given his age incorrectly in getting a position and if he is in reality outside of the draft ages such a young man should come to the marshal with proof to show that he is outside the draft ages and thus publicity will be avoided and the young man's position will not be put in jeopardy.

Harry Kratky, a conductor for the street railway company, heard that a warrant was out for his arrest. He came to the marshal immediately with proof that he is less than 21 years old.

Two others, Fred Bahr and Royal Kessler, conductor and motorman, respectively, for the street railway company, were arrested by deputy marshals, but were released on their promise to bring proofs that they are outside the draft ages.

Information was given to Marshal Flynn of two other conductors who, the informants said, had not registered. Investigation showed that they had registered.

Others Under Age.

Lynn Henderson, 110 Angel avenue, Council Bluffs, was reported for failure to register. Investigation showed that he is only 16 years old.

"One young man was arrested on evidence of the age he gave when he joined a 'booze' club in Hastings last year. The young man showed that he is under 21 years old. He said he added a couple of years when he joined the club in order to 'be in' on the drinks."

Sheriff Cain of Dakota county telephoned Marshal Flynn that he has four men there subject to draft who have not registered. Warrants were issued for them and will be served by Deputy Marshal Morgan.

Reichstag Legislative Period to Be Extended

Berlin, June 13.—(Via London, June 14)—A further continuation of the Reichstag legislative period is now being taken for granted in governmental and parliamentary circles, according to the Tagesschau.

It is generally admitted that new elections cannot take place next January, even if the war is concluded then, as the return of voters from all the fronts by that time is impossible.

It is expected that the Reichstag will be called on at the October session to pass on mandates providing for a continuation of the Reichstag until January 12, 1919.
