

SPANISH THRONE REPORTED SHAKEN

Rumors of Rebellion in Kingdom of Bourbons Reach London; Army Believed in Control of Government.

London, June 16.—Rumors of a serious revolutionary movement in Spain are given prominence in a section of the press. There has been an almost complete absence of news from the peninsula since the appointment of the new ministry.

Rumors of something abnormal in the Spanish situation have been given prominence in the last two or three days in a small section of the press and today several papers print articles declaring that something important is happening.

One suggestion is that a movement to bring Spain into the war is materializing, but the little information available is to the effect that the crisis is purely a domestic one and largely due to the demand for reforms by the rank and file of the army.

According to the Express, the army has obtained complete dominance, military "committees of defense" have been established and have tabulated a list of the reforms demanded by the army. The action of the committee, says the Express, is a more or less vivid reflection of what happened in Petrograd.

The Daily News reports serious industrial unrest. Labor troubles are partly explainable by the widespread poverty to which high food prices have brought the people.

In all the reports there are allusions to German influences working for their own ends. The Spanish embassy in London disclaims knowledge of anything unusual, but it is stated that neither commercial firms or newspapers are able to get replies to telegraph queries.

from church records and showed that he is 35. The commissioner was convinced that Anton is at least 33 years old and ordered him released. The Nesterole family has lived in Omaha for forty years. The parents are dead. The eldest daughter stated at the hearing that she has two sons in the navy and that the family is patriotic although of German blood.

Publication in The Bee, Friday, of United States Marshal Flynn's statement advising young men outside the draft ages who may have falsified their ages in order to secure positions, to bring proof of their birth to him and thus avoid possible arrest, resulted in the arrival at his office, early Saturday morning, of two young men. They were armed with their birth certificates and stated that they had stretched their ages a little in order to obtain positions. The marshal made record of the facts and if any complaint is made against these young men for not registering they will avoid arrest.

Evidence on File. The marshal has a big envelope now, marked "Birth Certificates." In it he keeps evidence of these cases. He has affidavits also on file, proving ages of others. One man sent in a long affidavit, stating that he had lived for twenty years, "within sixty yards" of a certain young man and therefore knows he is less than 21 years old.

Lawrence Meredith and Lloyd Tomlinson were arrested at Norfolk, charged with avoiding the draft registration. They were committed to jail.

Nebraska's splendid patriotic showing in the registration is very gratifying to Marshal Flynn. There will be some other arrests, naturally, but with ten days passed since registration day and with only twenty arrests and nearly all of those discharged as outside the law, Nebraska is a model of patriotism.

MOROCCAN WARRIOR IN FORE OF FIGHT

Moors Bow Themselves in Prayer, and Singing Songs, Rush into the Battle Front.

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)

French Front, May 30.—Natural warriors like the Moroccans found themselves in their element fighting beside their French comrades in the fierce battles for the possession of the Chemin des Dames, or the Road of the Women, that bulwark of the German defensive line to the north of Aisne to which the German commander-in-chief attached so much importance that he sacrificed thousands of his best troops in order to hold it. Most of the men of the Moroccan regiments had not been under shell-fire before when they were ordered forward to the assault. They bowed themselves in prayer before going over the top, and then awaited with stoic expression the signal of their commanding officer.

The heavy barrage fire put up by the Germans did not dismay them. They went forward through the partially destroyed woods covering the slopes of the hills leading to the Chemin des Dames without the slightest hesitation, although they knew that many machine guns were hidden in the mouths of caverns on the hillsides waiting to mow them down. A curtain of French artillery fire preceded them and caused the German gunners to take shelter until the Moors were almost upon them. Then, when the gunners came out and tried to bring their murderous weapons into action, the Moors leaped upon them and plied their bayonets until all around them groups of Germans threw up their hands and yelled "Comrade" in token of surrender.

Attack German Second Line.

The Moroccans dashed on and were soon in the second German line, wave after wave of them coming on at wide intervals throwing grenades and using their rifles as they advanced. It was an inspiring sight to see the native sergeants, after many of their white officers had fallen, urging their men on. Their discipline had been so instilled into them that, even under the severest fire in the heat of battle, these non-commissioned officers could be seen ordering their men to keep the proper intervals of open order.

Discipline is Maintained.

Once over the crest of the Chemin des Dames, the objective of the operation, it was difficult to restrain the ardor of the men, who wished to advance even farther.

GERMANY OFFERS PEACE TO RUSSIA

Danish Socialist Paper Says Tentative Proposal Made Through Member of Swiss Council.

Stockholm, June 16.—(Via London.)—The Social Demokrat says Germany has made an offer of peace to Russia through a member of the Swiss federal council.

The Social Demokrat today published the translation of a telegram said to have been sent in cipher from the political department of the Swiss federal council to E. Odier, the Swiss minister at Petrograd. It is dated at Bern, June 5, and says:

"Hoffman, a member of the federal council, authorizes you to make to Grimm (a Russian socialist professor who returned to Russia from Switzerland after the revolution) the following oral communication:

"Germany will not undertake an offensive so long as an arrangement with Russia seems possible. After conversations with an important personage, I am convinced that Germany aims at a peace with Russia honorable to both parties, with intimate economic and commercial relations and financial support to place Russia once again on its feet; no interference in the domestic affairs of Russia; an entente cordiale on Poland, Lithuania and Courland in view of the relationship between the peoples; restitution of the occupied provinces and Russia; on the other hand, to give back to Austria the provinces which it had been able to take."

Man With Three Wives Held Under Mann Act

Los Angeles, Calif., June 16.—Evidence gathered by the Department of Justice against John V. Clark, former superintendent of schools at Dundee, Ill., it was learned here today, caused search to be made for three "Mrs. Clark" mentioned in correspondence found on Clark when arrested here ten days ago. Clark now is in custody at Jackson, Miss., where he was taken on a Mann act warrant.

It was alleged Clark took Miss Caroline Brewer from New Orleans where the two taught in the same school, to Gulfport, Miss., where they were said to have been married. Letters to Clark, it was alleged, mentioned a wife at Muskogee, Ok., a Mrs. Katherine H. Clark of Chicago and a Mrs. Julia V. Clark of Terre Haute, Ind.

Clark, it was said, left his bride at Gulfport on receipt of a telegram calling him to El Paso. The wife later was notified he was killed in Juarez, but an investigation disproved this and his trunk was traced here. A relative of New Orleans took Clark into custody personally and guarded him for two days until a formal arrest was made.

Search Being Made for Autobiography of Diaz

Mexico City, May 15.—(Special Telegram.)—Earnest search is being made for the "autobiography of Porfirio Diaz," news of which has just come to light here. It is alleged that Diaz in 1892 completed a book covering his life experience and administration up to that time. This book, it is said, he wished made public only after his death. Only 100 copies were struck off. The original manuscript was destroyed by Diaz, it is said, and the 100 copies placed in a chest and put away. One of these copies, according to Diaz directions, was to go to each state governor on Diaz' death, but Diaz died in exile in Spain and the interesting and valuable historical document has not been discovered.

FRENCH SENATORS APPLAUD PERSHING

Last Day's Stay of American Commander in Paris Featured by Reception in Senate Chamber.

Paris, June 16.—Major General John J. Pershing, commander of the American military forces in France, spent his third and last day in Paris before leaving for the front in making official calls, paying a visit to Marshal Joffre, with whom he had luncheon, and visiting the senate. He also visited the Picpus cemetery, where he placed a wreath on the tomb of Lafayette.

During his visit to the senate today there were scenes of enthusiasm similar to those that took place in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. The senators stood when General Pershing appeared in the diplomatic box, accompanied by William Graves Sharp, the American ambassador, and applauded him for several minutes.

M. Ribot, the premier, alluded to the presence of the distinguished American soldier and called on Foreign Minister Viviani to address the senate. M. Viviani launched into an oration in which he described the refusal of the United States to see the ideals of civilization, of democracy and of right in battle with destructive forces without taking her part, which he declared was a great and noble part.

The senate took a recess of half an hour so the members might be introduced to General Pershing, and Antoine Dubost, president of the senate, escorted him through the immense lobby of the Luxembourg palace, introducing him to the members.

The Tansan Maru was under charter to Patterson, Wyld & Co. of Boston and carried a general cargo. Ship and cargo were valued at $1,600,000. The vessel was unarmed.

Reports had been current in shipping circles for some days that the Tansan Maru had been lost, but it was not until today that the agents received definite information. MANY INJURED WHEN POLICE ATTACK MOB Crowd of Sympathizers Clash With Officers When Anarchists Are Locked in Tombs Prison.

New York, June 16.—While Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, known as anarchists, were being locked in the Tombs prison this afternoon pending action by the federal grand jury on a charge that the two conspired against the selective draft, hundreds of their sympathizers assembled in the vicinity of city hall park to protest against the state military census.

Mayor Mitchel was not in the city hall to receive a petition which the women brought and the police promised to hand it to him on Monday.

Women Object to Draft.

The memorial, signed "a few hundred representing New York women," protested against registration by women—as the creators of life—and "anti-militarists opposed to the destruction of life."

The mayor's support was solicited "in the repeal of this unjust and unconstitutional law."

Many women and more than twenty policemen were bruised during the fighting. The crowd repeatedly shouted: "Down with the draft!" A squad of police reserves unable to disperse them was forced to club the mob. Several persons were hurt, including a police sergeant, and it was many minutes before the anti-conscriptors and their sympathizers were scattered.

Attempt at Rescue.

One of the incidents was an unsuccessful attempt by men and women to rescue from the police three women who had been arrested. The police later raided the headquarters of what they said was a Russian group of anarchists. They arrested thirty men and seized literature which included thousands of pamphlets denouncing conscription.
