

PAGEANT CLOSES
GOLDEN JUBILEE

Five Thousand People Witness
Noteworthy Celebration of Completion of Fifty Years of Sunday School Work.

What was probably the most noteworthy pageant of religious education ever given in the state of Nebraska was staged by 600 Omaha and Douglas county Sunday school people at the Auditorium Thursday before an audience of 5,000 people.

The pageant was presented under the auspices of the Douglas County Sunday School association as a part of the celebration in connection with the golden jubilee convention of the State Sunday School association in Omaha.

A chorus of several hundred male and female voices occupied the stage. The singers were banked tier above tier from the front of the rostrum to the rear curtain.

The episodes opened with a processional, "We March, We March, We March." Mrs. P. L. Edgar directed this. The introductory tableaux was directed by Mrs. F. R. Joslin of Parkvale Presbyterian church.

Hebrew Period Shown.
The Hebrew period was the first to be represented. The banner bearers were directed by Mrs. Frank Gordon of Walnut Hill Methodist church.

Miss Ruth Sheldon directed the representation of the patriarchal training in the Hebrew household. Mrs. Pauline Gail of the First Methodist church was director of the school of scribes in which Ezra was represented teaching at the water hole. The synagogue school of the first century B. C. was represented by a group under the direction of Mrs. Quentin Moore of Central United Presbyterian church.

This brought the story in successive steps down to the Christian era. Mrs. R. W. Wisby was director of the representation of the teaching of Timothy. The period of the reformation was vividly reproduced when Luther and his followers entered in their flowing black robes, and the great reformer nailed his ninety-seven theses upon the door of the church. This was handled by Rev. C. N. Swihart of Grace Lutheran church.

Birth of Sunday School.
In the modern period the birth of the Sunday school was represented. Mr. Core of Hanson Park Methodist Episcopal church directed the work and with a group of boys in torn shirts and dismantled suspenders fighting in the streets, illustrated the power of the Sunday school in directing boys aright. He found the boys fighting, but before they left the stage he had them singing in chorus:

"Let those delight to bark and bite, etc., For their little hands were never made To tear each other's eyes."

Steps in development were then further handled by Miss Jane Liddell and Miss Allen Koch of Kountze Memorial church.

Graded Sunday School Work Shown.
The graded Sunday school representation was spectacular and highly entertaining. Here the children of all ages trooped in as on a Sunday morning. Big sisters were bringing some, while mothers attended others and in many cases mothers with their hats on, carried infants in their arms.

Sunday school teachers trooped along with a myriad of white-clad girls and boys, and two of the teachers brought in a beautiful cradle handsomely trimmed in pink silk as a representation of the cradle roll. During the singing some of the infants of the cradle roll undertook to set up a chorus of their own voicing their displeasure of the whole affair, but the crowd was good-natured, appreciated the position of the babes and laughed heartily.

Representatives of the children of all the Protestant Sunday schools in the city, took part in this feature, directed by J. R. Cain, Jr., First Christian church, with Mrs. R. J. Daniels, First Baptist church, accompanist.

Other Departments Shown.
The representation of the junior department was directed by Mrs. P. M. Conklin. J. Evans had charge of the intermediate department. Robert Grant and Mrs. William McMurphy had charge of the theme, "Masters of Self." Miss Nollman and Mrs. Paul Bradley represented "Paul's Triumph." Miss Mary Mann was responsible for the mission study theme, "The Bible for All Nations," representing John Elliott and the Bible for the Indians.

"For God and Home and Native Land" was a temperance study directed by Mrs. Alex. McKim and Mrs. Hennee of Clifton Hill Presbyterian church.

A tableau and representation by the Campfire girls was directed by Miss Nellie Ryan and the Boy Scouts appeared for a part under Morley Young, Troop 9.

Every Branch Revealed.
The senior department reached out into the field of opportunities for service and C. A. Musselman and Mrs. J. B. Butler of Florence Presbyterian church handled it. Teacher training was handled by Mrs. C. A. Huisstetter and Mrs. Margaret Bradway of Pearl Memorial church. The adult department inspection service was illustrated under the direction of D. E. Armstrong, St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church. Mrs. George Evans of North Christian church had charge of the episode of the home department and Mrs. Byron Peterson carried through the illustration of the necessity of Christian training for the child by the parents.

Tableau Closes Pageant.
A grand final tableau closed the pageant. Costumes had been prepared and acquired with great attention to detail for all the various parts, and the whole entertainment was well received by the audience.

Following are some of the principals who planned and executed the pageant:
General director of pageant—Mrs. C. A. Musselman.
Musical director—Mr. John Helgren.
Pianists—Mrs. E. R. Zabriskie and Miss Grace Slabaugh.

Stage manager—J. F. Smith, Max Walker and Ernest Newhouse.
Chairman costume committee—Mrs. P. M. Conklin.
John Duff, president Douglas County Sunday School association.
Miss Emma Lindquist, secretary association.

Chorus of 300 voices from Sunday Schools of Greater Omaha.

Cudahy Packing Company
Makes Red Cross Donation
Through Branch Plants in Various Cities.

The Cudahy Packing company has made its Red Cross donation through its various plants and branch houses, located in 105 different cities, instead of subscribing a lump sum through the general offices located at Chicago.

M. R. Murphy, general manager, says this was occasioned by the smaller cities requesting that the company make its donations through the local plants and branch houses in view of the demands made on them. The company concluded that it would give better satisfaction in this manner than by contributing in a lump sum from the Chicago office.

Cudahy Boosts Enlistments.
M. R. Murphy, general manager of the Cudahy Packing company, is sending letters to the superintendents and foremen of the company containing an extract from a circular letter sent out by Captain James F. McKinley, cavalry recruiting officer. In behalf of the company, Mr. Murphy is urging his men to do everything in their power to help the cause along and encourage the employees to join the colors, assuring them that in case they respond to the country's call, upon their return their old positions will be open to them, and whenever possible they will be given better ones and their names will be enrolled on the roll of honor for advancement. "I hope you gentlemen will vie with each other in seeing how many men from your department will take advantage of this offer," he said.

George W. Lewis Dies.

Magic City Gossip.

William Reeves, 40 years of age, died Wednesday at his home, Twenty-eighth and County road.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Skokan, with a party of friends, left for an extended motor trip through Nebraska and Kansas. Before coming back to South Side the party will pay a visit to St. Joseph, Mo., to visit Mr. Skokan's brother.

Howard J. Gramlich, professor of animal husbandry at the Nebraska school of Agriculture at Lincoln, was on the stock market Wednesday with four cars of cattle from his farm at Greenwood. He said these cattle cost him $6.40 last October. They sold for $12.40, which he considers a nice gain.

Two Men Prove They Are Not War Slackers

J. W. Gates of Madison, Neb., applied at the American Smelting and Refining company's plant for a job. He said he was over 21. A man was standing near by who proved to be a federal bureau of investigation sleuth.

"Let me see your registration card," he said.

Gates didn't have any and the detective immediately placed him under arrest. He had his birth certificate at a hearing before United States Commissioner McLoughlin Thursday. The certificate showed that he is only 18 years old. He was released.

"Lonnie" White, who is not white, but black, was also released by Commissioner McLoughlin. "Lonnie" was spending ten days in the county jail recently when he was asked to show his registration card. He didn't have any to show. He told a story about going up to register and the man said he didn't have to register because he had a sore foot. He said he wanted to register. So the commissioner released him and Deputy Marshal Yates accompanied him to the registration office.
