

OMAHA CONTINUES ARMY CAMP-FIGHT

Commercial Club and Railroads Press Claims of This City; Many Trunk Lines and Good Facilities.

Omaha has not relaxed its efforts to secure the location of one of the army cantonments. The selection of Des Moines came as a surprise to everybody acquainted with existing conditions. The fight was resumed yesterday.

The renewed activity follows the announcement by the Associated Press last night, that Secretary of War Baker had stated there might be a re-location of the cantonment that was given to Des Moines.

The secretary of war said that Des Moines lacked the requisite railroad facilities for handling the business the cantonment would create and require. Commissioner Manley of the Omaha Commercial club after being apprised by a report from The Bee of the statement made by the secretary of war, said:

"The Omaha committee will get busy at once and warm up the wires between Omaha and Washington. We will renew our efforts and if Des Moines is rejected as a location, I see no reason why the claims of Omaha should not receive consideration.

Plenty of Rail Lines.
Our committee filed an exhaustive brief. We set forth the fact that the city is located on numerous lines of railroad, nearly all of them having close traffic arrangements with the roads reaching the Atlantic, Pacific and gulf coasts. We are thirteen hours from Chicago and only thirty-two hours from New York.

"The brief was prepared with the greatest of care and is now on file with the secretary of war.

"Our committee will immediately get in communication with Senator Hitchcock, and while we do not feel that it is necessary, we will urge him to again present and urge the claims of Omaha.

"The fact that Des Moines has but one through railroad line and that the site of the cantonment is distant from this road, and can be reached only by an interurban line, added to the surprise, when the announcement came that the Iowa capital had won over Omaha.

Offered Fine Site.
It was believed that Omaha with its six trunk lines, most of them having transcontinental connections, to say nothing of the three lines operating north to the British possessions and the three to the Gulf of Mexico, would be looked upon with favor if railroad facilities were taken into consideration.

Railroads for Omaha.
Local railroad men are of the unanimous opinion that if Secretary of War Baker concludes to relocate the army cantonment that was assigned to Des Moines Omaha will get it. They are not only bending all their energies and using all influences to land the prize for Omaha, but are ready to lend the Commercial club whatever assistance they can.

The Omaha men point to the fact that Omaha is the only city in the list that has the adequate railroad facilities for handling the business that would accrue from the cantonment. They have already presented this fact to the War department and are ready to follow it up with other argument.

FIRST 1917 VICTIM DIES IN MANAWA

Axtel Sorenson Drowned When He Falls From Sailboat; Body Recovered Nearly an Hour Later.

The first victim of 1917 on Lake Manawa met his death Friday. Axtel Sorenson and O. Flack, clerks at the Burlington freight office, in Council Bluffs, went to Lake Manawa to try Flack's new sail boat. They met a number of companions at the lake and the party boarded the little craft. They sailed to the Kurtaal and there the wind left them and the boat was becalmed.

Sorenson seized an oar and attempted to swing the craft about so that the little breeze that was stirring might catch the sails. In some manner he plunged over the side of the boat and sank in twenty feet of water.

Life-savers at the Kurtaal heard the frantic shouts of the young men aboard the craft, but paid no heed to their cries, thinking it all a joke.

No one saw Sorenson come up and after his companions had dived for a time in an attempt to find him, they went to the Fish and Game club and there procured grappling irons with which to search further for the body. Joe Dimmick, a member of the Fish and Game club, found the body fifty-five minutes after Sorenson had fallen from the boat.

Sorenson was 22 years old and lived at 217 Harrison street, Council Bluffs. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Sina Sorenson, a sister and a brother.

Merriam Goes to Washington To Confer With Grain Experts

Julius H. Barnes, who with several other grain experts, has been chosen by Mr. Hoover, national food commissioner, to look after the buying of grain in this country for the allied governments, has invited Nathan Merriam, of the Merriam & Millard company, to meet in a conference in Washington at 11 o'clock next Tuesday.

This conference is preliminary to a larger conference to be held after members have discussed various details of possible operation under pending legislation.

Mr. Merriam wired Mr. Barnes that he would be in Washington at the appointed time to attend the conference, and that he would, at his own expense, do whatever else it lay within his power to do for the government at this time.

Denies Report That Road Will Build West to Coast

In Minneapolis President Clark of the Omaha road, a part of the Northwestern system, has commenced denying a report that President Gardner of the parent line of the system, has frequently been called upon to deny. This report is that the Northwestern contemplates extending its line from Lander west to the Pacific coast.

President Clark states that the road of which he is the chief executive officer, hopes eventually to complete the enlargement of the Minneapolis terminals. Plans for these terminals were approved some years ago.

This Store Tells Its Story Every Day

By its Service—the way its clerks and salespeople speak and act.

THE cleverness, courtesy and manifestations of being interested in what the customer wants to know or do is the best illumination that can be given to all corners of what the store actually is.

Unless our people are in good health and well balanced by knowledge, patience and promptitude to receive our friends when they call, the largeness and freshness of the stocks and proper price on everything count for little.

In stocks, assortments and character of merchandise, not to go backward would be something, for we provide most liberally, but this will not satisfy us, we must go forward—Forward every day.

Fashion's Last Mould Rengo Belt- Reducing Corsets

STOUT and medium figures fitting the summer models of Rengo Belt-Reducing corsets will absolutely mould the silhouette of fashion's last lines.

Rengo Belt corsets are positively not breakable or stretchable. Their lines are fixed by the designers and no amount of stress or strain from heavy figures can change them one whit. The same mould—the same smooth fitting over abdomen and hips—the same waist-line—exactly the same model of proportion as in the average figure—is the result obtained when medium, heavy and full figures wear Rengo Belt-Reducing corsets.

The exclusive Rengo Belt feature of tailoring the abdominal portion of all Rengo Belt corsets is the basic principle of the great supporting strength which has made these garments famous for more than nine years. Added to this is superlative strength in materials and double watch-spring steels, for greater freedom, "steelastic" webbing is provided in several models. Price range $2.50 to $3.50.
