

HOME GARDENS TO FORCE PRICES DOWN

Large Acreage on City Lots to Raise Big Supply of All Sorts of Garden Supplies.

The energetic campaign of malia's city gardeners, will, in the opinion of local commission men, compel the prices of all foodstuffs commodities to drop within a few weeks when the time is ripe for the back yard harvest. Already the commission men and grocers of the city have noted a lack of demand for early vegetables. With favorable growing conditions from now on, it is believed the yield from local gardens will be a wonderful source of supply later in the year.

Most of the local gardeners were imbued with the idea of doing their "bit" rather than reaping any harvest when the movement was started. "I believe this general gardening will be good for the public if it forces down the price and I do not care whether I can make a cent even though I have done considerable gardening this year," said one gardener. It is believed the combined acreage of the city under cultivation will exceed all estimates. The run from the home gardens to the tables will be almost continuous from now on, and results will be obtained very shortly. Tomatoes are still a bit high, the home grown variety still being unavailable. However, the price is not unreasonable, as is the case with greens of all kinds.

Such fruits as apricots, peaches and plums are coming at present from foreign fields in carload lots and their price regarded as reasonable. The shortage of lumber, from which to make boxes will naturally add a small burden to the consumer, as is the case with all canned goods, owing to the scarcity of tin. Cherries and apples in Omaha and suburbs will soon be ready for picking, and this fact will greatly relieve the demand for store goods which will in consequence reduce the price.

Little Grain in Storage, Roads Report to Uncle Sam

Some time ago twenty-three grain carrying railroads, on request of the Railroad's War board, a subcommittee of the special committee on national defense, were requested to make a survey of conditions relative to handling the grain crop of 1917. The result of the survey has been made public through officials of the Omaha roads and shows for the most part that few of the elevators and warehouses in the small grain producing area of the United States have large quantities of grain in storage at the present time.

The railroads were asked to report any shortage of cars for handling grain. They report that in only a few isolated cases there are any shortages of cars available. Railroads were asked if the old crop can be moved before the new crop is ready and universally, the answer is that it can. The committee investigated a report that there has been a disposition among farmers and country elevators to hold back grain with a view to organizing a corner in the hope of higher prices and found no truth in it.

Contract is Let for New Orchard & Wilhelm Building

Construction work is now to be started on the Orchard-Wilhelm company's new building between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets on Howard street. Thomas Herd got the contract Tuesday. The figure is understood to be about $300,000. The construction work is to be pushed as rapidly as possible, especially if the labor troubles in the building trades are settled up soon.

Roads Haul More Coal Than in April Last Year

In the United States there are eighty-five railroads that are known as the principal coal-carrying lines of the country. Soon after its organization the railroad war board requested these railroads to submit figures on their coal-carrying business as compared with last year. At local railroad offices figures are available on the amount of coal the railroads of the country hauled during April, 1917, as compared with the same month of 1916. These figures show that the eighty-five coal-carrying roads had a 29 per cent increase in their tonnage during April as compared with April of 1916. In April, 1917, the roads hauled 659,837 tons of bituminous coal, as against 508,982 carloads during the same month of 1916. The number of working days in both months were the same. And with the same number of working days in March, 1917, the coal tonnage hauled was 8.8 per cent less than during the March of 1916.

New Discovery Ends Corn Misery-- Touch a Corn with Ice-Mint, Then Lift It Right Off--It Won't Hurt a Bit

Soreness Stops Quickly. Then the Corn Shrivels and Lifts Off-- Try It and See. Here is the real "Corn Killer" at last. Say good-bye to your old corn salve and plasters, for that Pet Corn of yours is sure to be a "Goner" if it ever feels the Magic touch of Ice-Mint. This is a new discovery made from a Japanese product and it is certainly a wonder the way it ends corn misery. From the very second that Ice-Mint touches that sore, tender corn your poor, tired, aching feet will feel so easy, cool and comfortable that you will just sigh with relief. Think of it; only a little touch of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin. Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened callouses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! Just ask in any Drug Store for a little Ice-Mint and give your poor, suffering feet the best of their lives. There is nothing better, or nothing "just as good."

Kugel Says the Second Maloney Hearing Short

The second charges against Captain Stephen Maloney, known as "the dirty rat case," probably will be postponed on Thursday morning to Friday morning on account of Attorney Ben S. Baker going to the state supreme court. Mr. Baker has requested this action. "I don't believe the hearing will last more than ten minutes, anyway," commented Superintendent Kugel of the police department. Mayor Dahlman is inclined to believe there were extenuating circumstances in favor of Maloney, who had been accused of various matters which were not cleared up until after the "rat" incident. Maloney is now taking his annual leave of absence.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist a package of canthox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure. —Advertisement.

Corn Acreage in the State is Enormous

After an extensive correspondence with farmers and grain dealers of the state, members of the Omaha Grain exchange estimate that the Nebraska corn acreage this year is 34.5 per cent greater than in 1916. If this increase holds good it will put the acreage up to about 9,234,188, the greatest in the history of the state. Last year the Nebraska acreage into corn was 6,740,803, which was about the normal.

1917 Mountain and National Park Tours

The Burlington, with its Several Through-Service Routes to Yellowstone, Glacier and Colorado, is essentially the route for National Park travel

Yellowstone National Park

I want to tell you about the wonderful scenic tour you can make over Burlington main lines between Omaha, Denver and Yellowstone Park. The Burlington map quickly shows you how these may be combined to form a magnificent circuit tour of the eastern slope of the Rockies, with 700 miles of mountain panorama, from Colorado to the Yellowstone. This year you will tour Yellowstone throughout in automobiles and so touring "The Land of Wonders," over perfect roads, will be the acme of sight seeing enjoyment. You may take a through sleeper from Omaha to the scenic Cody entrance, with its ninety-mile mountain automobile ride through gigantic Shoshone Canyon and over beautiful Sylvan pass—one of the world's most inspiring viewpoints. Your complete ticket from Omaha costs $89 and includes rail fare, Park automobiles and hotels for five days; the camping way is $80. Your ticket carries you direct, or in either direction via Denver over the Cody-Denver Scenic line, through the Big Horn River Canyon; at Loveland, you may detour by auto through Estes Park ($7.00). And if all this mountain magnificence still leaves you with a craving for "more," there is a free side tour, Denver to Colorado Springs, the Pike's Peak Region and return. Let the undersigned show you how aptly the Burlington's through-service routes may be combined for such a matchless tour.

3 National Parks on Burlington Ticket

Glacier is the climax of the rugged grandeur of the Rockies, mighty in its general perspectives, exquisite in its details. The Burlington's tour of Glacier is one of the grandest in the travel world—three National Parks and Scenic Colorado on one ticket. Let me tell you how to make it: You travel one way direct between Omaha and Glacier; you can go one or both ways via Denver. You have a free side tour, Denver to Colorado Springs, the Pike's Peak Region and return. At Loveland, just north of Denver, detour for Rocky Mountain National-Estes Park (auto, $7); resume your journey over our Denver-Cody scenic main line, from Colorado to the Yellowstone; detour through Yellowstone via the scenic Cody Road ($54.50 hotel way; $45.50 camping way; five-day automobile tour of the park); continue your journey thence via Billings to Glacier, or reverse the circuit. The railroad fare for this sweeping tour of the Midwest, Colorado and the east slope of the Continental Divide to the British boundary—from Omaha to Glacier and return is only $37.00.
