One of Purposes of Mobilization at Home Station Is to Begin Fight Against Disease.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, July 8.—(Special.)—The announcement that each company of the National Guard will mobilize at its home station on July 15, in order to get ready for general mobilization of all units of the guard, has set things moving.

The local mobilization is to get the men in physical shape to withstand disease. All of the men will be vaccinated for contagious diseases, so that by the time they are called to the general camp they will be over the trouble of sore arms caused by the vaccinations. Strenuous drilling will also be a part of the program.

Guardsmen will be allowed to enter the officers' training camps. That is the announcement of Adjutant General Hall and each company commander will be allowed to name any private or non-commissioned officer for that service, who shows the proper spirit and aptitude for the work. These men after being accepted will be given the same standing as those who have already been taking training in the officers' camps.

Deputy Superintendent in Office Minus Bond

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, July 8.—(Special.)—One deputy state officer has been getting along very nicely without filing a bond. In fact it appears that his duties have been performed just as well without one of those handy little instruments, which are generally found in all well regulated official families, as with one.

But he has been "discovered" and it will now be up to State Superintendent W. H. Clemmons to fire his deputy and hire him over again, for the state constitution says that bonds must be filed at the same time the oath of office is taken and if not filed the office shall become vacant.

The deputy, who happens to be J. A. Woodard of the state superintendent's office, explains that on account of the very arduous duties imposed upon him because of the serious illness of State Superintendent Clemmons, he put the matter off from time to time and also the bonding companies wanted $45 for a two-year bond and he considered it too much. However, he will now proceed to get a bond.

Seward Business Men Give Week-End Band Concerts

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, Neb., July 8.—(Special.)—The Nebraska State Band of Lincoln gives Saturday night concerts each week at Seward. Progressive business men of that city take this way to attract crowds to the town for Saturday night trading.

The town has more than four miles of paved streets with residences along them which do credit to any city in the state. A fine court house, fine Commercial club rooms, a jail that would be a good enough residence for a millionaire, but for which the county now has little use except as a residence for the county sheriff, fine banks, a large city hall, a finely equipped volunteer fire department and a general air of prosperity in evidence everywhere.

Tecumseh Company of Dandy Sixth Has 90 Men

(Special.)
Tecumseh, Neb., July 8.—(Special.)—Company M, Sixth Nebraska regiment of volunteer infantry of this city, now has a membership of ninety men who have passed the medical examination. The company has called a meeting for the Commercial club rooms next Tuesday evening for the election of officers. There are candidates for the places and a lively election is looked for.

The Test of Time.

Say what you will, time tries all things, only the best survive. Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy has been in use for more than forty years. Many millions of bottles have been sold and used during this time. It has stood the test of time because it can always be depended upon.

Defense Council Surveys Johnson County Farms

(Special.)
Tecumseh, Neb., July 8.—(Special.)—Alden A. Potter and H. J. Young have just completed their inspection of the farms of all the localities of Johnson county. Their work is promoted by the National Defense Council and the State Board of Agriculture. It was the purpose of the men especially to learn of the situation of the wheat crop, having in view the protection of the farmers for seed wheat for another fall.

The men stated that, while they found a comparatively small acreage of wheat in the county, owing to much of the land being put into corn, they did find more and better fields of the grain than they had expected, basing their opinions on the reports that had gone out. In the northeastern part of the county, and about Elk Creek, in the southeastern part, they found much good wheat. The wheat and corn are coming up at the same time, and the cutting will soon be on.

Messrs. Potter and Young stated that the wheat situation in Johnson county is better than it is in Gage county, to the west of us, and it is even better in Nemaha county, east of this county, than it is here.

Judges Using Motor Cars May Collect Railroad Fare

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, July 8.—(Special.)—Judges of the district court who use their own automobiles in going from place to place to hold court, will be allowed for their use the amount that would have to be paid for railroad fare if the trip were taken by train, according to a letter of instructions sent out to the judges by State Auditor Smith yesterday.

This rule will also apply to other officials of the state who have been in the habit of using their own cars and then charging up what they would have to pay if they had hired cars to make the trip.

Big Valuation Increase On Nebraska Property

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, July 8.—(Special.)—In the opinion of Secretary O. E. Bernecker of the State Board of Assessment, the valuation of the state, when all reports have been received, will be at least increased between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000. He thinks it will reach $28,000,000, basing his claim on the thirty-two counties reported.

The counties show an increase of $7,704,636, the increase running all the way from $13,580 in Nance county to $892,004 in Keith county. It is expected that Douglas and Lancaster will both show a large increase.

BRITONS DEMAND REPRISALS UPON GERMAN TOWNS

when the anti-aircraft guns were crashing sharply and the machine guns were rattling aloft. Then came three or four minutes when the heavy explosion of bombs and the shattering of glass was the dominant sound; then a few minutes when the artillery fire receded into the distance.

The Germans steered a course across London from northwest to southeast. They dropped the last of their supply of bombs on a section of workmen's dwellings and crossed the Thames. Some observers say that a giant airplane piloted the squadron and that the bomb carriers were in the center, flanked by scouts for fighting off the British airmen.

The low altitude and slow pace at which the Germans crossed London and the daredevil way they circled over their objectives, caused great surprise. When first seen they were steering a steady course from the northwest evidently in the act of making a long sweeping curve which would ultimately bring their heads in the direction of home. They completed the maneuver over the Thames and as the British machines came in to picture the raiders quickened their pace.

Fierce Running Fight

A fierce running fight ensued between a strong force of British machines and the raiders toward the mouth of the river. The machines flew fairly low and the rattle of machine guns was distinctly audible from the ground. None of the Germans had been brought down when the combatants disappeared from view, but the British squadron continued the pursuit and engaged the raiders heavily.

Today's attack was plainly directed against the civilian population and business and financial buildings. There is no question that the Germans knew where they were and it was no matter of scattering explosives blindly from a great height.

The machines flew fairly low and the rattle of machine guns was distinctly audible from the ground. None of the Germans had been brought down when the combatants disappeared from view, but the British squadron continued the pursuit and engaged the raiders heavily.

Attack On Hospital

Among the places attacked was one of the extensive metropolitan hospitals, above which the Red Cross flag was flying conspicuously. Early rumors were abroad that the hospital had been badly damaged, but investigation showed it had escaped entirely, although several bombs fell close to it.

The day's experience showed that persons in solidly constructed buildings are comparatively safe, but the windows of these buildings were today crowded with young clerks determined not to miss the spectacle at whatever cost.

The fate of the humble dwellers in workmen's houses was different. They had no chance for their lives. In sight, now familiar to Londoners, of distracted, sobbing mothers rushing about the ruins of tenements, fearing to find, and sometimes finding the mangled bodies of their children, was the most moving incident of the German victory. A thorough investigation of the results of the battle by staff correspondents of The Associated Press, showed that no military, munitions, or supply establishments was touched.

Streets Are Crowded

Five minutes after the explosions ceased, the streets of the district attacked were jammed with masses of humanity. Fire engines, ambulances, patrol wagons, motors with nurses and doctors seemed to spring from the earth. Almost immediately waves of sightseers from the west end swept down and seemed to come in droves throughout the day.

Anger and determination seemed to be the dominating sentiments of the populace. One certain result of the raid will be an increased demand for reprisal on German cities. Several members of parliament have already announced their purpose to raise the question as soon as the house of commons meets.

The summons recently voiced most strongly by the archbishop of Canterbury and seconded by perhaps the majority of the substantial leaders of public opinion, that the British should not descend to the level of the Germans is not popular with the masses, and the suggestion that the slaughter of English civilians would cease if each visiting town quickly followed by a similar stroke against some German city, commands strong support among those who have looked on the bodies of their slain and mangled countrymen.

Mexican Factories Are Once More in Operation

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)
Mexico City, June 16.—A commission of workmen has visited the capital to talk with President Carranza concerning the alleged activities of the leaders of labor unions in some of the cotton and textile factories of Vera Cruz. It is said they asked that the activities of some of these labor agents be curbed, as they have led to disorders and in some cases to the closing down of the factories. The affair was speedily adjusted and the factories have resumed operation.

SENATE'S ACTION ON LIQUOR BLOW TO J. BARLEYCORN

(Special.)
The probable loss in federal revenues is placed at from $200,000,000 to $400,000,000, although this as well as the cost of purchase would depend entirely on how much liquor was withdrawn tax-paid before the commanding.

The senate's action promises indefinite delay in enacting the war tax bill, further delay on the food control bill, and indefinite postponement on adjustment of congress. The revised $1,670,000,000 war tax bill was withdrawn immediately following the final vote upon the liquor question to seek new sources of revenue in case taxation on distilled liquors is eliminated.

Enormous withdrawal of distilled liquors from bonded warehouses before the senate provision could become effective was estimated that manufacturers and dealers probably could raise funds enough to withdraw at least half of the existing supply or enough to meet consumption demands for a year or more.

Not Subject to Change

One feature of the bill as it now stands—the prohibition of the manufacture of distilled spirits—will not be subject to change in conference and therefore is certain to become law.

A resort to cloture still is threatened to hasten action on other disputed sections of the control bill. Senator Chamberlain tonight presented and withdrew temporarily his cloture agreement to obtain an agreement by unanimous consent for a final vote next week. Determined to measure during the coming week, he announced that he would renew the cloture motion on Monday unless an agreement could be reached.

The "wets" were successful, however, in confining the senate's action to distilled beverages without interfering with beer and wines.

In withdrawing the revised war tax bill from the senate and having it re-committed to the finance committee, Chairman Simmons said the further revision would depend upon the final action of the congress as to eliminating distilling as a source of revenue. The committee will meet Monday to consider the situation tentatively. Privately it was stated that to make up any loss in revenue from distilled beverages it was probable that the taxes on beer and wines would be increased greatly and also possibly the taxes on incomes and war excess profits.

Senate Reverses Itself

On Senator Cummins' amendment the senate reversed itself. After having been added yesterday to the Robinson substitute by a vote of 45 to 40, it was stricken out today, 43 to 39.

With the addition of the Smoot amendment, deletion of the Cummins provision and adoption of an amendment by Senator Jones exempting distilled beverages bought by the government from taxation, the senate decided, 46 to 34, against adding provisions offered by Senator Pittman of Nevada, which were originally drafted by Senator Gore of Oklahoma and approved by the senate agricultural committee, authorizing the president to suspend the manufacture of beer and wine and to limit their alcoholic content.

EDITORS TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF WAR

(Special.)
Minneapolis, Minn., July 8.—New conditions which the publisher has been compelled to meet because of the war will form one of the chief topics of discussion at the four-day convention of the National Editorial association which opens here tomorrow.

Several hundred delegates, most of whom are editors of weekly or small daily newspapers, will represent various sections of the United States at the meeting.

Plans for an excursion into Western Canada for the purpose of affecting closer co-operation with Canadian publications, have been abandoned in consideration of the joint policy of the government and railroads in discouraging unnecessary demands on railroad equipment.

The question of solidifying the press and other forces in a campaign for a lasting world-wide peace after the conclusion of the war will be taken up at the convention.

World-Wide Conference

"Men will be expected to attend a world-wide gathering of newspapermen who will in turn impress upon their brothers throughout the world the obligations of civilization in bringing about the triumph of democracy," declared H. C. Hotaling, vice-president, in announcing the proposal.

Increased cost of publishing the country newspaper will be discussed from all angles, and an effort will be made to place the convention on record as opposed to small papers giving free political advertising.
