Some Difference "Then And Now" in Farm Prices

Stella, Neb., July 9.—(Special.)—Twenty-five years ago this summer the following prices prevailed in Richardson county: Turkeys, per pound, 6 cents; hens, per pound, 6 cents; spring chickens, one and a half pounds and over, 8 cents, craws to be empty; geese, full feathered, per dozen, $3.60; roosters, $1.25; ducks, full feathered, per dozen, $1.50; pigeons, per dozen, $1.

Carnival Denied City Site.

Fremont, Neb., July 9.—(Special Telegram.)—The carnival company billed to show in Fremont this week during the races has been ordered not to pitch its tents within the city limits. The council at a special meeting with only four members present, granted the company permission to show here at the request of the Racing association. When citizens in the vicinity of the grounds protested, the Board of Health took the matter in hand and Mayor Wiley issued an order prohibiting the carnival from showing here. Arrangements have been made to locate the tents on the racetrack grounds. The driving park is outside the city limits.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, Neb., July 9.—(Special Telegram.)—Telephone companies in Nebraska that are paying more than 7 per cent in dividends will be interested in a ruling made by the State Railway commission in the Hartington case, which in effect means that dividends for more than that amount will be looked upon with disfavor by the commission.

EXPECT NEVILLE TO RESIGN OFFICE

Democratic Politicians Are Still All Aflutter Over Prospect of Having Howard in Place at Capital.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, July 9.—(Special.)—Democratic politicians who combed Nebraska from stem to stern last year in an effort to find a man strong enough to lambast the Bryan faction of the party and defeat Charles W. Bryan for the democratic nomination for governor had all their energy for naught, for there is every indication now that while they were successful in finding their man, were successful in seeing him defeat Mr. Bryan for the nomination and again successful in landing their man in the governor's chair, they are now facing the cold proposition of seeing their plumed knight resign the office of governor and a man promoted to the place who was one of the strongest Bryan followers in the state and who has no love whatever for the Hitchcock-Mullen faction of democracy in this state, which discovered Keith Neville and made him governor of the state.

Western Contributes Loyally to Red Cross

Western, Neb., July 9.—(Special.)—The Red Cross campaign for funds closed Saturday evening, the amount asked of Western and precinct was $930, the amount received from all sources was $1,465 with more to come in which will undoubtedly bring the total amount to $1,500. J. F. Blanchard, president of the local branch of the county chapter of the Red Cross, assisted by J. M. Van Ausken, outlined the campaign. After the business men had contributed quite generously, and the young women had sold ice cream and Red Cross buttons, taking in over $200, then the pastors of three German and the two English speaking churches, assisted by laymen from each church, made a general house-to-house canvass of the entire town and precinct.

Look for Resignation.

It is becoming almost a settled prophecy that within the next two weeks, the resignation of Governor Neville will be sent to Lieutenant Governor Edward Howard and the latter will step into the gubernatorial offices. With the promotion of the lieutenant governor to the governorship, the new governor will promptly name Mr. Neville for a commission as colonel of the "Dandy Sixth" or to some commission in that regiment satisfactory to the present governor. Most people figure that the colonelcy of the new regiment is the position the governor desires and if so there is little question but he will get it.

Notes from Beatrice And Gage County

Beatrice, Neb., July 9.—(Special.)—Announcement was received here Saturday of the sudden death of Mrs. D. W. Elkins, formerly of this city, which occurred at her home at Mount Vernon, Wash., where she located in 1906. She was a native of Clay county, Kentucky, and was married to Mr. Elkins in this city. She is survived by her husband and one son.

Picture Little Confab.

Some people are rather likely to smile just a little when they draw the picture of that confab out back of the senatorial barn, and knowing the ability of the present governor to do as he "darn pleases," believe what the senator may say to the governor will not cut very much of the congealed article.

Inspect Seed Prospects.

Stella, Neb., July 9.—(Special.)—Representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture were in Nemaha county, two miles north of here, this week examining the wheat situation to learn the prospects for getting seed wheat to supply western counties. They made a careful estimate and state that the yield in Nemaha county will be about one-fourth normal crop and that the grain is of excellent quality. Shortage in the crop is due to high winds and lack of moisture in the winter.

News Notes From York.

York, Neb., July 9.—(Special.)—Lloyd White and Etta Long, both of Beaver Crossing, were married Saturday by County Judge Hopkins. The Red Cross organization of this county have signed up the full quota, 3,003 members.

OFFICERS LEAVE FOR TORONTO CAMP

Fifteen Students Go There From Fort Snelling to Train for Aviation Service; to Study French System.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 9.—(Special Telegram.)—Fifteen student officers have just left for Toronto, Canada, to train for the aviation service. This is expected to be the last batch of Americans to be sent to Canada as the United States is establishing new aviation fields in this country, large enough, it is said, to train all American air men. Trench construction modeled after the defenses of the European armies in the present war will begin at Fort Snelling tomorrow afternoon. Next week an entire morning will be devoted to this work, and from now until the camp closes many periods will be employed in developing the trench system in connection with various tactical problems.

Barbed wire entanglements will be placed before these trenches, but this work will not be taken up until next week. Today two battalions marched against the "enemy" south of the post and have thrown a guard on their right flank. Later in the day they returned into defensive positions against an "enemy" presumed to be in the twin cities. Next week the students will have an opportunity to do individual cooking. They will have an overnight camp, sleeping in shelter tents and doing outpost duty. Each man will have to prepare his own eats.

More Schools for York.

York, Neb., July 9.—(Special.)—School district No. 12, city of York, has called for an election to vote $60,000 more bonds to complete the four school buildings, which will cost $325,000.
