

COPPER OFFICIALS CENSOR PRESS NEWS

Dispatches About Bisbee Deportations Held Up by Order of Mine Officials—Said it Was Sheriff's Order.

Douglas, Ariz., July 13.—The censorship imposed on Associated Press dispatches filed here and in Bisbee yesterday during the deportation of nearly 1,200 members of the Industrial Workers of the World from Bisbee was directed by two officers of the Phelps-Dodge corporation—Robert Rea, general auditor of the corporation, and H. H. Stout, superintendent of the Copper Queen Smelter here.

These men and not an army officer as reported to the outside world by the Western Union office here at the time, were the ones who issued the censorship orders to the telegraph company.

The report that the military authorities had established the censorship was due, according to Manager Tillotson, of the local Western Union office, to the fact that Mr. Stout, generally known as "Captain" and to the fact that his dress is similar to that of an army man.

Thought Stout Army Captain.

Mr. Tillotson told the Associated Press after the censorship had been removed and an investigation made that he thought Mr. Stout was a captain in the regular army and that he was bound to obey his orders regarding the transmission of dispatches relating to the disturbance at Bisbee.

The report that the military authorities had imposed the censorship persisted throughout the district until late last night when inquiries at army headquarters brought the information that no military censorship had been in effect.

Early today Mr. Stout admitted that he had directed the censorship but said he had acted on instructions "from the sheriff's office" at Bisbee.

Pressed as to who in the sheriff's office had authority to censor telegrams Mr. Stout was unable to designate from what person he had received his instructions but persisted that they came from Bisbee Sheriff Harry Wheeler went to Columbus with the cattle train on which the men were deported and had not returned to Douglas early today.

Orders Dispatch Killed.

The first dispatch concerning the deportations were filed by a correspondent of the Associated Press in the Western Union office at 6 a. m. It was forwarded at once to El Paso, to be relayed to the Associated Press office at Denver, but before the relay was made Mr. Rea, representing the Phelps-Dodge corporation, which controls the mines affected by the strike at Bisbee, instructed the operator on duty that the message was withdrawn. Upon this authority, according to information given the Associated Press by the local Western Union office, the message was recalled by the operator.

Soon after the first application of the Phelps-Dodge censorship, Mr. Stout informed Manager Tillotson of the telegraph company concerning the nature of the censorship that was to be imposed and Mr. Tillotson obeyed, holding up all messages relating to the Bisbee deportations until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Stout and Mr. Rea both discussed the censorship while it was in effect, saying they desired no information to reach the outside world until the deportations had been completed satisfactorily to them.

Broker's Wire Censored.

The copper company officials also censored the leased wire of a brokerage company and undertook to censor telephone calls. In their telephone censorship they were only partly successful, for late in the day a connection was obtained with Tucson and a brief bulletin transmitted.

Although Mr. Stout said his orders for the censorship came from the sheriff's office at Bisbee, correspondents in the latter place were under the impression that Mr. Stout was directing the censorship of both towns from Douglas.

One correspondent whose dispatches were held up in Bisbee reached Mr. Stout over the telephone to obtain a release of his messages, but was informed that the censorship would be raised when the men had passed through Douglas and not before. Every effort to learn by what authority the Phelps-Dodge officials imposed the censorship was without avail until today, when Mr. Stout referred inquirers to the sheriff.

FLYING IN HEAVY CLOUDS DANGEROUS

Member of Royal British Flying Corps Tells of the Perils Faced by the Military Birdmen.

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) London, July 1.—Dangers of flying in heavy clouds when it is impossible to keep the airplane on even keel and the aviator has only his compass to depend upon, were described by Captain B. C. Hicks of the Royal Flying Corps, in an address on "Modern Air-manship," which he recently delivered before the Aeronautical society. Describing an experience of his own, he said his airplane "tumbled about" in the cloud and that he emerged from it flying nearly upside down.

Testing New Machine.

"I set out on a very cloudy, windy day to do a test climb to 10,000 feet on a late type two-seater. On reaching 1,200 feet we got into a dense rain cloud, but carried on beyond beyond 5,000 feet, still in the cloud, when the compass apparently began to swing, although actually it is the machine that begins to swing, not the compass.

Efforts to check the compass had the effect of causing it to swing more violently in the other direction. The air speed then rushed up far beyond normal flying speed. All efforts to pull her up checked her only slightly. Then the rudder was tried. Back went the air speed to zero. There was an unusual, uncanny feeling of being detached from the machine and I knew her to be literally tumbling about in the clouds.

Aircraft Loses Furniture.

"A few days ago a squadron commander told me that on one occasion when in France everything took in his machine fell out while in a cloud. A week or so ago, on the south coast, a machine disintegrated itself in a cloud and the main planes landed half a mile from the fuselage. In a cloud you can see nothing whatever but your machine. There is no fixed point visible.

Improvement is Rapid.

Captain Hicks said the rate of improvement in aircraft was so alarmingly rapid that manufacturers could scarcely keep pace. Comparing the average performances of five different types of machines used at the beginning of the war with others of late patterns, he said that maximum speed for level flying had nearly doubled. Horse power was more than doubled.

Airmanship had advanced more than it would have done in eight or ten years of peace conditions and the advance seemed to have been along what might be called conventional lines—that is, improvement on standard designs, and no good results had been obtained from any departure from that standard. To his mind improvements in engines were responsible for present-day performances to a far greater extent than improvement in machines.

Phoniment Musselman Killed in London Air Raid

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) London, June 25.—The German air-raiders have scored their first East India civilian victims in Peer Mohammed, a prominent Musselman from the Punjab who was in London on a war mission during the last raid. He is now lying in a critical condition in the East End hospital, having been hit by a splinter from a bursting air torpedo.

FRENCH GIRLS SET NEW STRIKE FASHION

Seamstresses of Paris by Unusual Methods Win Demands for Better Working Conditions.

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Paris, July 1.—The sewing girls of Paris have set a new fashion in the conduct of strikes and added dignity to a nickname that had become more or less familiar. They have shown that hobbled boots and bludgeons are not the only effective means of persuasion in labor contentions.

The "midinette" strike is already a precedent, though it ended only recently. Several other strikes modeled after it have succeeded since and others are in process of settlement. Never again, in all probability, will the condition of working women of Paris be what it was before, and what it has been during the war, with thousands of girls working ten hours a day for from 30 to 40 cents.

Centers of Fashion.

The buildings from which these young girls come are the centers of fashion for the world. In these buildings are created each season the styles that are worn in New York and London—even Berlin. They are generally vast and always sumptuous, with majestic liveried porters at the doors and smartly dressed footmen inside.

Girls Are Valuable.

Although thousands of these girls were working for a bare existence in these palaces of fashion, yet to their inborn taste and skill were due the development of those houses and the reputation of Paris as the center of fashion. The proof of it is that dress-making concerns with a Parisian reputation have tried to do elsewhere and with other help what they did in Paris with the aid of the "midinettes," and failed.

A great many American women have paid hundreds of dollars for dresses made in these establishments, but the American woman does not suspect that the "midinette" who made her rich gown for a little less than living wages has had one like it for herself at night of the same pattern and quite as perfect in cut and fit, but of less rich material also bought with money saved from her

FINLAND DECLARES ITS INDEPENDENCE

Passage of Bill by Diet on Thursday Creates Issue Which May Disturb Russia.

Petrograd, July 13.—The Finnish Diet on Thursday passed the second reading of a bill virtually establishing Finnish independence. The introduction of the bill has created a serious crisis here and N. C. Tchaidze, president of the Council of Workmen and Soldier's delegates, has gone to Helsinki in an effort to settle the differences.

According to the newspaper Birzheviya, M. Lvoff's socialist colleagues declare themselves in principle in sympathy with Finland's move. The premier and other ministers belonging to the cabinet party refuse, however, to allow Finland to determine its relations with Russia, insisting it must wait until the meeting of the constituent assembly.

The law, which was engineered by socialists, proclaims that Russia has lost all authority in Finland, except in the domains of diplomacy and in the army and navy wherein, however, Russia's rights are undefined. All other prerogatives of the grand duke of Finland which the provisional government claims passed automatically to it, belong to Finland. Specifically the Diet assumes the grand duke's right to put into execution the law, convoke and prorogue the legislature and appoint a supreme executive.

The governor-general is not mentioned in the law, and as no functions are left him, he is practically superseded. Telegrams from Helsinki declare that after the promulgation of the law the Diet will appoint its own senate.

Cotton Prices Now Said To Be on Level With Rest

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Manchester, England, June 25.—Prof. Todd calls attention to the fact that while the price of cotton has been establishing new records every other day, it has reached a level commensurate with the rise in the general level of prices for the first time since the beginning of the war.

Fete of St. Catherine.

If the husband never is found she makes fun even out of that. At the fete of St. Catherine on November 25 each year, "midinettes" who have reached their twenty-fifth year and pass into the category of "old maids," are feted by their comrades and sometimes by their employers. It is one of the merriest fetes of the year in Paris.
