through, sellers considering the conces-sions packers were demanding larger than conditions warranted.

The close was another extremely draggy affair. Buyers had left the plain heavy and mixed packing kinds out all morning and quite a number of these were left for the finish, along with a few decent hors. For finish, along with a few decent hogs. For a while it looked like twenty or so loads might have to be carried over, as buyers quit altogether when there were that many cars still unsold, but towards midday they went back and cleaned the yards, getting common packers fully a dime lower, and the few decent hogs that were left a nickel to possibly 5@10c lower.

Sheep—Fat lambs have just gone through another week of price depression. With the exception of Thursday, when the market held about steady values, have broken every day this week and on the close killing lambs are right close to 75c lower than a week ago. Slow markets have been the rule, as only the hardest kind of work on the part of sellers has kept packers from enforcing even greater price declines.

Native offerings have been rather scarce all week and have sold on about the same Native offerings have been rather scarce all week and have sold on about the same basis as rangers. A few head brought $15.60 yesterday, but they were no criterion of the market, as no lots of a deck or more were on sale. On the close the best of the rangers are selling at $15.40, with bulk of the offerings around $15.25. At last week's close a spread of $15.75@16.19 was buying lambs that were, if anything, hardly as good as the ones that have been here the last day or two. What the future course of the market will be is pretty much a question. Fackers have beaten prices down until they are just about on a par with feeder values, and this might act as a check on any further bearish inclinations, but there has been little improvement in the eastern dressed mutton trade, and packers

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET. Again Averages Higher in Pit Despite

Bearish Influences. Chicago, July 14.—Corn averaged higher in value today, despite some setbacks due largely to bearish inferences regarding the utlook for peace. Scarcity of supplies vallable for immediate use formed the available for immediate use formed the chief element of strength. The market closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to %c up with $1.59\fo for September and $1.12\fo for December. Wheat gained ic net, closing at $2.04 for July and $1.95\fo for September.

Oats were unchanged to % $ %c higher and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 25c. rise of Ioc.

It was mainly at the outset and near the windup that the corn market showed a tendency to swing lower. Better weather conditions for the growth of the domestic conditions for the growth of the domestic crop counted also as a handleap for buyers. Nevertheless, increased orders to purchase came into play on declines and continually forced the market upward during the great-er part of the session. This was especially the case after spot delivery had risen to $1.97 for No. 2 white, a jump of 2c a bushel over night.

Business in wheat remained at nearly the zero stage, awaiting congressional action at Washington as to the food control bill. Meanwhile prices bardened a little, influ-enced, perhaps, by current bullish crop re-ports from Canada and North Dakota an by a government decree lifting quotations in France to $3.05 a bushel.

Outs duplicated the action of corn. Some reduction in the visible supply of outs was expected to be shown in the weekly statement on Monday.

Demand for lard was stimulated by peace talk. Other provisions shared more or less in the attendant advance.
