Pinched on Booze Charge; Blames Beer Truck Driver

Joseph Kushner, proprietor of a second-hand store at 1524 North Twenty-fourth street, was brought before Police Judge Fitzgerald, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. The charge concerned Kushner's keeping the liquor in his store and not in his home. Kushner blames the brewery truck driver for his plight, asserting that on April 25 he ordered the beer, and when the driver came to deliver it there was no one home. The driver left it at the store and refused to take it back to the house. Kushner couldn't induce any expressman to take the goods up to his house for him, so thereby hangs the tale. His case was held over until Saturday. Seven cases of beer were found in his store and confiscated.

Omaha War News

Oliver Farrand, motorcycle officer, has been made first sergeant of Company A, Sixth Nebraska regiment, commanded by Captain Broms. Farrand quit the police force Monday.

From corporal to second lieutenant in three months is the unusual record of Second Lieutenant Paul Kammerer, of the machine gun company. But the boys will call him "81."

The body of the late "Sergeant Mike," the bull terrier mascot of the machine gun company, has been sent to the tannery. The "Sergeant" will be stuffed and taken to France with the company.

A motorcycle squad of machine gun company men has been organized, which is used to watch the speeders. It is composed of Sergeants Wilson and Alexander, and Privates Oviatt, Lutz and Fisher.

Brigadier General George A. Harries was delayed in leaving for Lincoln to open his headquarters. He left created Harries plans to keep his headquarters at Lincoln until the brigade is mobilized at Fort Crook.

First Sergeant C. E. Hurlbert, U. S. A. retired, has been ordered back to active duty. He has reported at the army recruiting station, Sergeant Hurlbert has been connected with the army for twenty-nine years. His home is at Junction City, Kan.

To relieve the monotony for members of the machine gun company of the Fifth regiment now in their army at Twenty-fifth and Farnam streets, the Nebraska Cycle company has provided the soldiers with photographs and hope company with records.

Captain Miller of Company G, Fourth Nebraska, whose reputation is that he has the handsomest bunch of men in the regiment. "We admit it," he says. Incidentally Captain Miller has one of the best drilled companies. They have been at Fort Crook only three weeks but drill like veterans.

Sergeant Glen McNulty of the machine gun company, Fourth Nebraska, holds the United States record for rapid handling of the machine gun. He can take apart and assemble the sixty-two parts of the gun in 1 minute. It seems almost impossible to do this in 3 minutes. This company will be glad to take a challenge from any other machine gun company in the country.

Sergeant Carpenter of the marine recruiting station, received a circular from marine headquarters at Washington that practically all vacancies in the commissioned personnel of the increased marine corps would be filled from the ranks of meritorious enlisted men. The circular added that hereafter "no civilians will be given commissions with the soldiers of the sea."

Residents of Fort Crook would mildly suggest an increase in the street car service of the Omaha and Southern Interurban Railway company. The other evening a well-filled car pulled into South Side. It was well covered, too, as sixty-three members of the "Fighting Fourth" sat on the roof. Between Bellevue and South Side the car was stopped while the conductor climbed on the roof to collect fares.

An interregiment base ball league is being formed among companies of the Fourth Nebraska at Fort Crook. Recently each company was equipped with a base ball outfit by merchants of Omaha. A regimental team, composed of the cracks of the regiment, also is being organized. Captain Kirchner, Company C, is anxious to line up a game for his company Saturday afternoon at Fort Crook. Among some of the cracks who will try out for the regimental team are Tom Sullivan, former pitcher for Melody brothers and Harry and Irvin Swift from Hawarden college at Hawarden, Ia.

WOMEN HERE READY FOR FOOD CAMPAIGN

Conservation Movement Formally Begun With Opening of Down Town Headquarters; Visit Housewives.

Omaha's food conservation army is now correlated into a working unit which will begin Monday morning to assist Food Administrator Herbert C. Hoover in routing gaunt/hunger and implacable famine from the allied countries and the homes of America. Although Nebraska is one of the last states to organize for this campaign plans are now definitely made for a whirlwind canvass of the housewives of Omaha. Mrs. H. C. Sumney was chosen chairman of the local committee at a meeting in the council chamber at the city hall and Miss Gladys Shamp was appointed secretary and publicity manager.

Women Open Headquarters

The new organization lost no time in opening headquarters and preparing its drive on extravagant housewives. With the co-operation of the Campfire Girls under the supervision of Mrs. J. W. Robbins, Miss Jessie Towne and Miss Nell Ryan, the women began work this morning. Desk room was given the Campfire Girls in the Red Cross headquarters, which will serve the food conservation committee also for headquarters. Scoutmaster C. H. English loaned the Boy Scouts maps which were used in the Red Cross campaign to the Campfire girls. These are carefully marked off into districts with a certain number of pledge cards assigned to each district.

Campfire Girls

When the Campfire girls begin their canvass they will simply ask the housekeeper to sign the pledge and return it to them. If she wishes a food conservation button and window placard she will pay 10 cents. When the canvass is over these cards will be sent together to Food Administrator Hoover in Washington by express. No fee is required to sign the pledge. It simply denotes that the head of the house who is in charge of the food supply willingly co-operates with the government in carrying out its advice and suggestion in the conservation of food and elimination of waste during the period of the war.

FALLS SIXTY FEET WITHOUT INJURY

Child Hits Hard Ground Below With Force Enough to Kill, But Apparently is Uninjured.

Crawling across the bed into a window of which the screen was open, and falling three stories to the ground was the fate of the 18 months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Parker of the Angelus apartments. A deliveryman making deliveries at the apartment heard something hit the ground near him and looking down discovered the child.

The father was out of the city and Mrs. Parker was in the room alone with the child, when the screen to which it had crawled suddenly opened, allowing the child to plunge sixty feet to the earth below.

The mother immediately ran down stairs and found the deliveryman just picking up the child, which was crying.

Asks Co-Operation On Stolen Automobiles

To further co-operation throughout the state in catching automobile thieves the Omaha Automobile club will insert an advertisement in each of the Omaha newspapers, giving the description of the stolen car. Garage men and auto dealers in Nebraska and Iowa are asked to lend a hand in the plan and keep the descriptions for reference. By doing this they protect the traveling public which spends thousands of dollars a year with them.

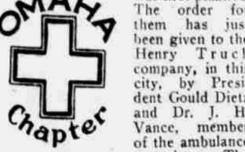

Let Not the Kaiser See This Window Display

In the window of the Milwaukee's Farnam street offices City Passenger Agent Bock has hung a picture that is attracting universal attention. Mr. Bock is the owner of a large-sized picture of the city of Berlin. From some place he has secured a number of small American flags and attached them to the Berlin buildings, giving the impression to the casual observer that the Americans are in possession of the city.

OMAHA TO PROVIDE TWO AMBULANCES

Both Have Been Ordered and Will Be Ready for Service Soon; Will Go to Fort Crook.

The Omaha chapter of the Red Cross will furnish two ambulances instead of one, as was first planned.

The order for them has just been given to the Henry Truck company, in this city, by President Gould Dietz and Dr. J. H. Vance, member of the ambulance committee. The bodies, however, will be made by a Lincoln firm, the A. G. Hebb Auto company, and fully equipped they will cost $1,350 apiece.

They are to be model 15, three-fourths ton chassis trucks, and will be marked with "American Ambulance Company, No. 35." They will accommodate four persons prone and eight in sitting posture. The ambulances will be ready in three weeks and will be used by the Omaha ambulance company in field training at Fort Crook.

Still Raise Funds—Novel schemes for raising money for the Red Cross come to light every day.

The latest is the bidder to the Nemaha county chapter, which has a membership of 4,000, most of whom are German people, and $13,000 in the treasury. The campaign began in June and their quota is $16,000.

Branches of the Nemaha county chapter have been organized among the women in Peru, Brownville, Brock, Nemaha City, Johnson and a country church named Bethel.

Yoder in Red Cross Work—W. A. Yoder, former superintendent of schools in Douglas county and now connected with the Midwest Life Insurance company, has been appointed as assistant director in the state work.

Mr. Yoder will assist in the work at the headquarters, such as correspondence and general organization, and will assist both Frank Judson and Robert Smith, who is in charge of the organization work in the state. The Midwest Life Insurance company released him from service to help with the Red Cross work during the period of heavy work, although he has not severed his connection with the company.

Lengthens Working Hours—The Scottish Rite Women's club has become so energetic in its work for the Red Cross that it has lengthened its working hours.

Instead of the usual afternoon meeting Friday there will be an all-day session at the Scottish Rite cathedral from 10 until 4.

Has Two Secretaries—Mrs. Z. T. Lindsey has two secretaries, Mrs. Katherine Hlatt and Mrs. Frances Burt, assisting her in the distribution of literature in the state and general correspondence.

Sutton Says He Will Appeal His Dismissal

Paul Sutton, former morals squad officer, served notice on the city council that he will appeal to the district court from the recent decision of the council. He asked that a transcript of the recent hearing be prepared at the earliest convenience.
