REICHSTAG ADOPTS PEACE RESOLUTION

Lawmakers Vote Majority Program Despite Chancellor's Speech; Large War Credit Also is Voted.

(By Associated Press.)

Copenhagen, July 21 .- After Imperial Chancellor Michaelis had declared that Germany would not continue the war a day longer if it could obtain an honorable peace, the Reichstag adopted the majority peace resolution calling for peace without annexation or indemnities and passed without discussion the third reading of the war credit bill for 15,000,000

U. S. Causes No Concern.

Chancellor Michaelis in his address declared America's intervention was not regarded with serious concern. The German fleet, particularly the submarines, would master the situation, he said.

"We look without serious concern upon the optimistic sentiment in the entente countries caused by Ameri-ca's intervention," the chancellor stated. It is easy to reckon how much tonnage is necessary to transport an army from America to Europe, how much tonnage is required to feed such an army. France and England are scarcely able to feed and supply their own armies without forcing the economic situation still further.

"After our previous success we shall be able to master this situation also through our fleet, particularly the submarines. That is our firm conviction and assurance. We and our allies, therefore can look forward to any further development of military events with calm security.

Mobilization Meant War. Although English statesmen knew, as shown by their Blue Book, that Russian mobilization must lead to war with Germany, they addressed front line trenches. not a word of warning to Russia

England force.

England prevented neutral trade with Germany and proclaimed a war of starvation. Our faint hope that America, at the head of the neutrals, would check English illegality was vain and the final attempt we made by an honorably intended peace offer to avoid the last extremity failed.

"Then Germany had to choose this last measure as a counter measure of last measure of last measure as a counter measure of last measure as a counter measure of last measure of last measure as a counter measure of last measure of last measure of last measure of last measure as a counter measure of last measure of last

How Much Longer?

"The burning question in our hearts, however, is how much longer the war is to last. With this com-plex matter which stands in the cen-ter of all our interest and all our proceedings today. Germany did not de-sire the war in order to make vio-lent conquests and therefore will not continue the war a day longer merely for the sake of such conquests, if it could obtain an honorable peace.
"The Germans," he said, "wish to conclude peace as combatants who purpose and proved themselves invincible. A condition of a peace was the inviolability of Germany's territory. No parley was possible with the enemy demanding the cession of German soil.

"What we long to attain," the chancellor went on, "is a new and splendid Germany, not a Germany which wishes as our enemies believe, to terrorize the world with its armed might; no, the morally purified, God-fearing, loyal and mighty Germany which we
