Roller Skating Contest For the Homecoming Maybe even the famous roller skating contest of thirty years ago will be reproduced at Nebraska City August 16 when the annual homecoming is celebrated. Some of the old-timers are asking that this be reproduced, but Robert C. Druesedow of Omaha, who was one of the principals, does not wish to stand for it.

Friends tell the circumstances something like this: Admission to the rink was 10 cents. Every person who paid an admission got a vote on who was the best skater. Mr. Druesedow, then a young chap with a head which already showed shrewd political discernment, hung onto his father's coat-tails until he got about $15 with which to buy tickets for most of the kids in town. They were to vote for Druesedow. Druesedow was skating against Oscar Strine that night.

When the time came for the contestants to enter the rink, Druesedow rolled in on his skates, all dolled up in a crimson and green velvet suit, knickerbockers bound with pink ribbons at the knees, and his head topped off with a green stocking cap. He glided in in all the glory of his plumage and swept the galleries with his eye, taking in the fact that all the 150 boys whose way he had paid were there ready to cast their votes for him. The 150 boys stayed and enjoyed the show at Bob's expense and then voted the prize to Oscar Strine.

This is what his friends tell on him. He has not been interviewed for his confirmation or denial of the story. Anyway, he is now to be the chairman of the Omaha delegation that will go to Nebraska City August 16 for the homecoming. He will hold the first meeting at his office Saturday night of this week.

LITTLE NEWS WILL COME FROM CAMPS

Staff Men of Newspaper Associations Only Detailed to Divisional Headquarters and News Censored.

There will be a doleful death of news from Nebraska brigade headquarters at Deming, N. M., and from Nebraska soldiers at the front, it is understood, for newspaper attaches will be forbidden to accompany the troops, and by War department's ruling regular officers are not permitted to write news dispatches. Representatives of newspaper associations will be detailed to divisional headquarters and will be allowed to forward such stuff as the censor approves—and only such. The censor will be an officer, or perhaps officers, named for the purpose.

His Personal News. A division consists of 30,000 men, and so it is not only foreseen, but it is now made known there will be nothing in the line of "personal news" from the front. Two or three newspaper men cannot be expected to handle all the news of regional interest concerning 30,000 men; it is pointed out. Only the news of general interest will be passed by the censor, and such information will not be of a personal character. On the contrary, it is indicated the probable procedure will be to order that only the names of the more important commanding officers be used in news stories.

The brigade is solely a fighting unit," said an officer at Nebraska brigade headquarters. "There will be no place in the Nebraska brigade for newspaper men. Newspaper men will not be assigned to the brigade. All reports will go to divisional headquarters and such information as is not of a military character and is passed by the censor will be given the newspaper men there. Nothing will be allowed to go out uncensored."

The exploitation of individual officers, it is intimated, will be an offense against the military that will not readily be condoned.

McVann Now Back in Omaha After Duties in Washington E. J. McVann, manager of the traffic bureau of the Commercial club, has returned to Omaha from Washington after an absence of several months. He has been attending legal matters and rate cases for some of his eastern clients of his Chicago and Washington offices. Mr. McVann now maintains three offices, the one at the traffic bureau in Omaha, one in the Lumber Exchange building in Chicago, and one in Washington.

It was recently reported from Lincoln that Henry T. Clarke, former state railway commissioner in Nebraska, had been elected to fill McVann's job as manager of the traffic bureau in Omaha. This was untrue. Clarke was elected traffic attorney for the Omaha Grain Exchange instead. It was his election to this position that was confused with the traffic bureau job in Omaha. Mr. McVann is still under contract with the governing committee of the traffic bureau of the Commercial club to superintend the work of that bureau, though he divides his time between this and his private practice in Chicago and Washington.

Red Cross Activities

To supply Red Cross workers with raw material at the expense of the Omaha Red Cross chapter and let the women bring back finished garments, without any expense to them except their time and labor, is the dream of W. G. Ura, secretary of the local chapter, with reference to carrying on the work in which the women of this city are now engaged.

"In Minneapolis," said Mr. Ura, "the chairman of auxiliary hands over $4,000 monthly in raw materials, which the women make up into the needed supplies. We, of course, could not furnish so large an amount, but certain it is that with a local appropriation of $63,750 and with revenues, such as donations from the Hotel Men's association and others, we ought to be able to furnish the materials that the auxiliaries are at present providing of their own volition."

"At present no raw materials are furnished the workers except those used in bandages. It is only right that the expense of purchasing these goods should come from the treasury which the husbands and fathers of the city have so generously provided, and that the labor and time consumed in making up the materials come from the mothers and daughters of these men. I hope that this method will soon be adopted in our chapter here. It is the only reasonable and fair way possible."

Knitting Pamphlets Ready—Mrs. Z. T. Lindsey announced Tuesday morning that the knitting pamphlets are now on distribution. Anyone writing or calling at the Red Cross headquarters at the court house may secure full directions as well as samples of yarn.

Visitors at Headquarters—Mrs. E. Welch of Papillon, Mrs. C. W. Vest of Sidney and Mrs. S. C. Buker of Cedar Rapids visited Red Cross headquarters Tuesday morning. Mrs. Charles Kelsey of Norfolk was a Monday visitor.

Pawnee Membership Large—Miss Tillie Wright, inspector of the Pawnee County Red Cross chapter, visited the state headquarters here Tuesday morning. She reported that this chapter has a membership of fifty women and that they have all ready for shipment two dozen hospital shirts and fourteen suits of pajamas. Twice a week they sew for the Red Cross. On August 1 they expect to start a campaign, in the course of which they will solicit every voter in Pawnee county for funds for the benefit of the Red Cross.

To Speak at Happy Hollow—Mrs. E. G. Preston will address the Happy Hollow Red Cross auxiliary at the club house Wednesday afternoon at 2. A large attendance of the members of the auxiliary and their friends is expected to hear in detail the plan for a Nebraska convalescent hospital abroad.

Gives Quarter of a Million—The Western Union Telegraph company, through its president, Newcomb Carlton, has contributed $250,000 to the Red Cross war fund. Mr. Carlton is a member of the New York county chapter of the American Red Cross and is taking a very active part in the work of that society.

CITY COUNCIL NOW FACES BIG DEFICIT

Street Cleaning and Maintenance Department and Recreation Work May Have to Be Curtailed.

Members of the city council today discussed the possible suspension of work by the street cleaning and maintenance department and a curtailment of recreation work in City Commissioner Hummel's department. Lack of funds was given as the reason.

Soon after the council met Commissioner Parks informed the board that he faced a deficit of $55,000. Twenty-five thousand dollars of this deficit, he said, was caused by the increase in wages paid day laborers. The rest of the amount, he added, was due to the fact that the council cut his appropriation.

"Things have gone up so high that I don't know what to do unless I shut down on everything," he said. Parks stated that he had been promised about $30,000 from a wheel tax ordinance, which went only as far as the court, where it now rests.

Commissioner Hummel added to the point that he needed $2,000 at once to continue recreation work. "The public enjoys swimming at the parks and it would be a shame if we had to curtail the work."

Eleven Lives Saved. He said the hot weather was responsible for added expense in his department. Two Sundays ago city life savers pulled out eleven persons from the water who might otherwise have been drowned. Last Sunday seven were saved.

"I found it necessary to hire a large number of extra guards and to keep them at the pools. I don't think the public wants such work stopped."

He added that life saving was a necessity and therefore the council should give him the emergency fund, taking it from the emergency fund.

Commissioner Parks also added that it was a necessity to maintain his department and that money should be provided from the emergency fund.

Assistant City Attorney TePoel advised both commissioners that "mere lack of insight" on their part in not obtaining enough funds at the start did not constitute an emergency and that they could not get money in that way.

Other commissioners took up the increased cost of living complaint. A large part of the morning session was passed in discussing the problem.

Stabbing Affair at The Millard Hotel After an argument about which all were reluctant to tell, police officers a free-for-all fight was started in the Millard hotel about 1 a. m. Tuesday. J. H. Reynolds, 2321 D street, Lincoln; W. J. Ryan, Albany hotel, and James Kearns, giving his address as Eighth and Webster streets, were the principals.

Ryan and Kearns, as the fight progressed, drew knives and seriously stabbed Reynolds. A four-inch cut was made in the left side of his face and another of the same length in the forehead. The arteries of the right wrist were severed by a six-inch cut. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital by Police Surgeon Mullen, who attended him.

After the stabbing affray Ryan and

"Give Service" Girls Need Canvassers on North Side The "Give Service" girls who are canvassing the housewives of the city with Herbert C. Hoover's food conservation pledge cards say they are badly in need of recruits from the North Side.

"The districts north of Hamilton street are as yet unprovided for," said Miss Jessie Towne Tuesday morning. "We want girls to canvass in the districts in which they live and will welcome any who can give their services."

OMAHA STRIKE CASE IN GOVERNOR'S HANDS

Testimony Has Been Offered by the Labor Men, but the Employers Refuse to Talk.

Robert Cowell and T. P. Reynolds, members of the state board of mediation and investigation went to Lincoln yesterday to make a report to Governor Neville of their findings in investigating the strike in Omaha. At Lincoln they were joined by the other members of the board, Norman and Sawyer, and the members in a body made the report.

The report covers only the testimony of the strikers, as the employers refused to testify, preferring to stand upon what they were told was their constitutional right in refusing to testify since they were under a temporary restraining order.

It is thought that Governor Neville will insist upon the other part of the testimony, that of the employers, being incorporated in the report before he accepts the report finally.

What steps the governor will take in the strike matter after he has received the full report is a matter of conjecture. Chairman Cowell of the board said: "As I interpret the law creating this board, it gives the governor no further authority in a strike matter than he already has as the chief executive of the state."

Mr. Cowell could not venture an opinion as to what would be the result when the report is in the governor's hands.

Hearing Wednesday for Change in Labor Suit Hearing on a motion for a change of venue filed in district court by attorneys for Omaha unions in the injunction suit brought by Attorney General Reed against them and the Business Men's association has been set for Wednesday morning by Judge Leslie.

Attorneys for the unions allege Judge Leslie, who granted the injunction, when the attorney general evoked the Junkin act in an attempt to end Omaha strike troubles, is "biased and prejudiced" against union labor.
