GAME FISH BITING IN ROCKY STREAMS

So Plentiful This Year that Large Numbers of Trout Are Caught by Still Fishing in Mountains.

Speaking about fishing. Probably there is no stream in Colorado that furnishes better trout fishing than the Cache la Poudre. There is a fish hatchery near by and special attention is paid to keeping the river stocked. This has been going on for a long time and, as a result, the river and all of the nearby tributaries are fairly alive with trout. There are practically all varieties, and in the Cache la Poudre are found the brook trout, the rainbow, the cut-throat and the Dolly Varden, all ready to take the fly.

Cache la Poudre trout are noted for their size, running much larger than those of the Laramie, the Gunnison, or the other rivers of Colorado. In size they range from the catchable size up to three and four pounds, with now and then a five and even a six-pounder.

Easy to Fish.
The Cache la Poudre is one of the easiest of the Colorado rivers to fish, and the amateur, as well as the expert fisherman, can catch trout. There are numerous deep holes where the big fellows lay during the middle of the day, and in these this year fishing has been carried on with amazing success. However, with men, the sportsman method is to wade the stream and whip the riffles. On these, when the trout are feeding, some astonishingly large catches have been made.

Right now fly fishing is at its best, but a couple of weeks later the big trout will rise to grasshoppers, crickets, and even to bacon rinds and worms. Although flies may be obtained in the park, it is well for the fishermen to take them with them. At this time, trout are rising to Royal Coachmen, Black Gnats on sunny days, and to Millers afternoons and cloudy days.

Right now there are a host of people visiting Cherokee Park in order to escape hay fever. In the plain country the time has arrived for the appearance of this disease, and to get away from it former victims are hieing themselves to the park.

So far as Cherokee park is concerned, it is immune from hay fever. The record shows that there has never been a case and people going there with well developed cases are cured. At least, after three or four days in the park the sneezing ceases, and there is no more of it during the season.

The nights are cool and sleeping under two blankets is comfortable. Everywhere the odor of pine and spruce is apparent, and there is no place in Colorado that is so free from lung diseases.

George H. Pritchett Gets Commission as Lieutenant

In a letter from Angleton, Tex., to his sister, Mrs. John L. Kennedy, George H. Pritchett writes that he has received his commission as first lieutenant of Company D, Fifth Texas infantry, and mustered into the federal service, to go into training next month. Mr. Pritchett has lived in Texas for the last three years and helped to raise the company. He hopes to get back to Omaha for a visit before going to the front.

War Drives Italy; Pet Baby Elephant to Exhibit in America

The great European war has even sent its effect into the world of the circus. It gets into everything, doesn't it, this European conflict?

But there's a consolation. For when the war influenced the circus world in America, that influence was for the better, for it released European acts that never could have been persuaded otherwise to cross the ocean for exhibitions in America.

One of these acts is to be seen soon in Omaha, when the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth exhibits next Monday, that of Signor Bagonghi, who is advertised as the "world's most famous equestrian dwarf."

But that doesn't tell the whole story. For there is something more in the appearance of Signor Bagonghi—that of the efforts of years to bring him to this country. Year after year John Ringling, who is "official European scout" for the Barnum & Bailey and Ringling Brothers shows, made trips to Italy and argued with Signor Bagonghi to come to this country. But Signor Bagonghi wouldn't come. In fact, he couldn't come. He was a miniature Jumbo, in that the children of Italy, like the children of England, who refused to allow their beloved elephant to leave them, would not consent to Signor Bagonghi appearing anywhere except in Italy.

MORE BOY SCOUTS LEAVE FOR CAMP

Four Troops Start for Lake Quinnebaugh to Enjoy Outing at the Boy Scouts' Camp.

Troops 2, 5, 7 and 9 of the Omaha Boy Scouts started by rail for Lake Quinnebaugh, the Boy Scout camp, yesterday. The first contingent has been brought back and this is the second going into camp, to remain there until August 6. August 5 will be visitors' day for this group.

The boys travel by auto from Tekamah fourteen miles to the lake. Tekamah people, including the Cornish boys of the Cornish garage, Mr. Greenleaf of the Farmers' State bank and the Latta boys, have been exceptionally generous in the matter of furnishing cars to get the boys over to the lake. This transportation was all done gratis and on the first trip the Tekamah people furnished fifteen cars and two trucks. They also brought the boys back from the lake to Tekamah to take the train for home.

True Hospitality.

"The Tekamah people are thus taking care of us in a difficult situation," said Scout Executive C. H. English. The spirit these Tekamah people showed was great. It was true southern hospitality and is appreciated by all Omaha people.

"Decatur people are also helping out splendidly by furnishing cars to take the boys from the camp to visit the Indian reservation and at the same time by bringing delegations of interesting Indians to visit the camp at night and tell the boys stories."

The scoutmasters who are in charge of the four troops who went today are Brown, Leavitt, Haller and Schiller.

M'MILLAN WRITES FROM FAR NORTH

Explorer Has Traveled Thousands of Miles by Dogsled and Mapped Coast Lines; New Islands Discovered.

Boston, July 27.—Donald B. Macmillan, the arctic explorer, who has been in the polar country for the last four years, expects to return home by September 15 next, according to a letter dated at Etah on November 8 last and received today.

"If our relief ship does not fail us a third time," the explorer writes, "I should reach home about September 15, 1917. Although I have had, or will have had, four years in the arctic, yet I am not tired of it and have planned for further work.

"As you know, we failed to find Crocker land. I am sorry for Peary, who was without a doubt sincere in his belief that it lay some 120 miles due northwest of Cape Thomas Hubbard. We went 151 miles to make sure and then were rewarded with nothing but a clear horizon.

"Last year I reached my objective point, King Christian land, the Finland of some sixty years ago, which has never been visited as far as I know. Returning, I headed for North Cornwall which also has never been explored. Enroute six new islands were discovered and many miles of coastline mapped. Incidentally we picked up about fifty musk oxen and twenty polar bears. Am now planning another long trip in the spring, which, when completed, will net about 8,000 miles of dogteam work.

"We have enough food for the year, such as it is. Our supplies consist largely of beans, salt beef, dehydrated vegetables, whole wheat biscuit and pemmican. Walrus and seal meat are in cache and are on the hills. The ducks and doves will be back in May and then we shall be in the land of promise again."

Wants Divorce from Man Lost at Wrestling Match

Mrs. Nellie Brazil, 5912 North Thirty-fourth street, whose husband, Joseph P. Brazil, disappeared under mysterious circumstances the night of the Stecher-Caddock wrestling match, April 9, and not heard from since, filed suit for divorce in district court on grounds of alleged nonsupport.

The Brazils have been married twenty-five years and have two sons, one 21 years old and the other 23 years old. Mrs. Brazil said she sued for divorce because of property rights. "I would take him back if I ever found he left for any good reason," said Mrs. Brazil.

"I've been unable to find any trace of my husband since he disappeared."

South Side Lad Struck Down by a Passing Auto

Bernard Nice, a 2-year-old boy, who lives at 6616 South Thirty-sixth street, ran out into the street in front of his home Thursday afternoon and was struck by an automobile driven by Louie Staykal, forty-eighth and Harrison streets. He was knocked down and the back of his head and one shoulder was bruised, but he was not seriously hurt. The driver stopped the car and helped the parents take the little fellow into the house.

MARINES STILL CLAMOR FOR SOME MORE COOKS

Too many cooks spoil the broth they say, but Uncle Sam's marines can't get too many cooks for their little mess overseas. Word has gone out that the United States marines need cooks. There is extra money in the job and there probably will be hundreds of applicants.
