Has Thrilling Eastern Trip.

Of all the travelers returning from the east none can tell of more thrilling experiences than Mrs. Frederick C. Cole who returned last week from a five weeks' stay in the east. The trip was made to obtain information and inspiration for her work as chairman of the civil service reform committee of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs.

In Washington Mrs. Cole had two of the most interesting experiences accorded to a modern woman. She saw the disturbing pickets around the White House grounds arrested and taken to the workhouse and she had a personal interview with the Honorable Jeannette Rankin of the house of representatives. At a suffrage conference at headquarters in Washington, she met Mrs. Goethals, wife of Colonel Goethals, who was pouring tea.

Boston and Cambridge were the hub around which Mrs. Cole revolved during most of her visit in the east. While in Cambridge she was the house guest of Richard Henry Dana and his sister, Mrs. Skinner. Mrs. Skinner is an interesting figure because of her literary connections. When a child she studied under the same governess as the daughters of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Longfellow's sister, Lady McIntosh, sent her from London her own nursery governess when her children grew up and Longfellow, the poet, asked a number of the neighbor children, among them Mrs. Skinner, to share the splendid governess with his own little girls. When she was 12 years old she went to Berlin and there studied under her own foreign governess. At the outbreak of war Mrs. Skinner and her husband were in Switzerland and in common with other travelers were marooned there for over a year.

An important German family was stopping at the same hotel and could neither receive nor send any communication to them. Their board was guaranteed for one year by the German consul in Switzerland, so that they were kept by the hotel.

In Boston Mrs. Cole attended the great fiftieth anniversary service at the Episcopal Theological seminary. She was entertained at the Woman's City club of Boston, which was founded in 1815.

She stayed in one of the old Bullfinch houses in the Mount Vernon district in Boston. For a day she visited with Miss L. F. W. Perkins, who was the instigator of the movement for civil service reform in the General Federation of Woman's Clubs. With a Wellesley alumni she went to Wellesley for a day. She saw the annual play at Radcliffe with friends from Watertown, Mass.

With other friends she attended yard night at Harvard. The scene was indescribably gay with the thousands of people thronging and dancing beneath as many Japanese lanterns, but the touch of modern was lent to the picture by the many khaki costumes which interspersed the crowd.

Mrs. Cole returned by way of New York and Chicago. She visited Mrs. William F. Conyne of Warren, Ill., and brought her home to Omaha with her for a three weeks' visit. Mrs. Conyne's daughter, Norma, is at the Three Arts club in Chicago, where Miss Helen Eastman and a number of other Omaha girls have been during the last year.

At the Country Club.

Supper parties at the Country club Sunday night were popular among those of the Country club set who have not gone away on vacation trips. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Baldrige had a party of nine, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Swobe, eight, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Barlow, seven. Smaller parties were guests of Messrs. Henry Doorly, W. D. Hosford, J. T. Stewart, Ed. F. Crofoot, F. W. Clarke, W. B. Millard, D. A. Baum, Clarence Peters, Barton Millard, C. A. Carr, of Fort Omaha, W. H. Lowe and R. W. Gardner.

At Seymour Lake Country Club.

Social life at the club the last few days has been given over largely to the entertainment of special parties arranged for the Sioux City, Ia. golfers who spent Saturday and Sunday as the guests of the Seymour men. Saturday night a banquet and dancing party was given and Sunday many smaller dinner parties were arranged. Saturday night Miss Dorothy Dahlman entertained six guests at dinner, pink and white snap dragons being used as a centerpiece with nut cups to match. Other diners were Miss Anne Prange, who had seven guests; Dr. H. A. Wahl, twenty-three; Messrs. W. Bavinger, five; Grant Parsons, four; Roy Dennis, four; W. B. Tagg, seven. Judge J. W. Woodrugh had a party of nine.

At the Field Club.

Sunday night supper parties at the Field club were many. Few exceeded five in number of guests. Hosts were Messrs J. W. Towle, C. E. Griffey, Ed Slater, V. H. O'Sheat, Jack Sharpe, Victor I. Jeep, A. H. Peters, R. H. Manley, H. B. Flatt, James Trimble, T. P. Redmond, Byron Smith, F. P. Loomis, L. G. Lowry, W. P. Thomas, W. H. Head, Righter Wood, Earl Buck, H. L. Arnold, R. R. Retzger, Harley Conant, Albert Cahm, John Barnes, Carl Swanson and Dr. B. B. Davis.

At Happy Hollow Club.

Mrs. Palmer Findley had a four-course luncheon at Happy Hollow club today. Mrs. Cuthbert Vincent will have sixteen guests at luncheon at the club Tuesday. Miss Florence Darr will have fifteen guests at luncheon Thursday.

Supper parties at the club for Tuesday night at the Battle cabaret will be entertained by Messrs. R. M. Switzer, C. E. Wagner, Yale Holland, W. H. Dale, W. W. Hoye, Howard Goodrich, John Parrish, J. J. Jumper, A. P. Overgaard, H. I. Adams, I. W. Porter, R. Russell, J. H. Hussie, A. B. McConnell and J. H. Negele.

At the Boat Club.

In honor of Dr. A. V. Hennessey and Mrs. Hennessey of Council Bluffs, a dinner was given Sunday night at the Council Bluffs Rowing association. Dr. Hennessey, who has many Omaha friends, leaves soon to enter army service and in his honor numerous affairs have been given by his business associates and friends.

Birth Announcement.

A son was born to Rev. and Mrs. George A. Percival in Cape Vincent, N. Y., last Thursday. Mrs. Percival

HAS INTERESTING TIME VISITING IN EAST.

Mrs. F.H. Cole

is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hamilton of Peoria, Ill., former Omaha people, and will be remembered here as Miss Jean Hamilton. Rev. Percival is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Percival of this city. A call has been sent to him from the church at Colon, Neb., which he has accepted. He will arrive September 1 in Omaha enroute to his new charge.

Picnic Postponed.

The annual Sunday school and parish picnic of St. Paul's Episcopal church will be held Friday afternoon and evening at Riverview park. There will be athletic events besides swimming and boating. The picnic was postponed on account of the funeral of Mrs. Peter Besen, which will be held from the church on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

At Carter Lake Club.

Miss Signe Anderson gave a swimming and dinner party at Carter Lake club Sunday.

On the Calendar.

The Calender club will give a card party at Lyceum hall, Twenty-second and Locust streets, Wednesday at 2:30. The hostesses will be Madames H. A. Mason and A. B. Frarry. Miss Helen Walker will entertain twenty guests at a dinner-dance Thursday night in the Blackstone roof garden. Dinner will be served in the oriental room.

Events of the Day.

Mrs. A. W. Carpenter entertained five guests at luncheon at the Blackstone today. Mr. H. A. Holahan will have six guests at a supper party tonight in the Oriental room at the Blackstone.

On Vacation Trips.

Miss Selda Brown left Saturday night to spend three weeks in New York. Mrs. John S. McAtee returned Friday from Illinois, where she has been with Dr. McAtee since his entrance into the training camp. Mrs. W. E. Callahan and her daughters, Mary Ann and Lucy, will motor to Okoboji next week to remain until school opens in September.

Demand for Ice Cream

Here is Unprecedented

Ice cream is being manufactured in Omaha at the present time as never before in the city's history. Practically the entire state, together with Omaha, is consuming more ice cream at present than the prominent manufacturers of this city can make.

"Ever since a week ago Saturday we have been absolutely snowed under with ice cream orders, and our customers out in the state are being supplied with what you might term 'Ice Cream Specials,'" declared one prominent manufacturer. "The hot weather naturally drives the perspiring individual to the ice cream counter for relief."

The ice cream factories are working both night and day at full capacity. Many emergency arrangements have been installed to overcome the heavy demand.

Eastern and central Iowa is being supplied from the Council Bluffs branches of local concerns.

Two Paxton & Gallagher

Employees Are Married

Cupid descended upon the firm of Paxton & Gallagher Saturday, July 21, and chose as his marks Miss Anna Peters, a stenographer for the firm, and Elmer H. Raber, who has been in their employ since 1913.

The two were married by the Rev. C. H. Fleming of the Covenant Presbyterian church, at the parsonage. After the service a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Peters. The young people will make their home in Omaha.

MOVIE ACTRESSES AND THEIR HAIR

Did it ever occur to you that every movie actress you have seen has lovely hair, while the most popular courtly hair, which the most popular courtly fact, many are leading ladies just because of their attractive locks. Inquiry among them discloses the fact that they bring out all the natural beauty of their hair by careful shampooing, not with any soap or make-shift, but with a simple mixture, by putting a teaspoonful of canthrox (which they get from the druggist) in a cup of hot water and applying this instead of soap. This full cup of shampoo liquid is enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use, the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. The hair is so fluffy that it looks much heavier than it is, while its lustre and softness is delightful.

What the Large Hat Is Doing

A LITTLE check gingham, a hat of peanut fibre, good taste in combining the two and you have this charming midsummer chapeau.

CHANTILLY lace of open pattern is the connecting link between a soft draped crown and flange of black satin. A heavy tassel adorns the brim.

A WONDERFUL shade of heliotrope hemp is the foreground of a midsummer hat against which birds of smoke and slate color beat their wings.

As to Summer Morals

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

"I'll have to diet," laughed Fanny. "I've just bought the cutest little one-piece jersey bathing suit and I won't look a bit cute in it unless I lose ten pounds."

Everyone smiled in friendly wise. Fanny is such an adorably slim and boyish little thing—so pert and dainty—that the picture she conjures up in any pose or mood is charming. But the picture of a little jersey bathing suit so scant and all-revealing that one must reduce a slyph to a slyver that she may wear it, is not charming.

The greatest of all my nature-loves is the ocean. When the white-crested waves come pounding in on a tawny beach or the gentle blue waters lap up over the white sand I feel that perfect beauty has been achieved.

There may be more grandeur in snow-capped mountains; green banks sloping down to a winding river may be more romantic. But the ocean has a glorious, inspiring and ever-changing wonder—and I object to seeing it marred by vain mortals!

There is a type of individual who wants to write his name on the treasure-hung walls of the Vatican. "Sacreligious!" you exclaim. Almost the same epithet applies to the cheap weakling who exploits himself vainly and braashly against any of the lovely backgrounds of nature.

There is a list of offenses given over to summer time and violently annoying to all who possess one whit of good taste. The beach is desecrated by immodest costumes and the greater immodesty of men and women lolling around in easy languor which would strike them as little short of vile if the stage settings were somebody's living room!

You get into an open street car of a summer evening and behold numerous couples behaving themselves as if it were the moment after she had said "Yes," and they had the sheltered veranda all to themselves.

A girl friend of mine went to a summer resort recently on an excursion boat and she informed me the next day that she really felt conspicuous and almost guilty of bad taste. Guess why?

"Jack and I were the only couple on board who weren't spooning," said she. "It sort of seemed as if we must think ourselves better than anybody else and whenever anybody stopped to shift around to the other side, so he could support his sweetheart with his right arm instead of his left, they stared at us sort of reproachfully and critically as if they thought there was something very wrong with us. I began to wonder if there were and I think Jack did, too!"

I wonder if other boys and girls who generally behave themselves decently, respectfully and with perfect good taste yield to the lure of summer "informality," because it seems to be taken for granted that everybody will do it.

IN 5 YEARS—WHAT?

Your teeth are sound today, but are you insuring them against time? Today's neglect means toothache tomorrow—perhaps painful operations, perhaps the loss of a tooth.

Better arrange today to make that long-postponed visit to the dentist. Better decide today on a dentifrice which is both safe and efficient.

What should you expect of a dentifrice? First, that it cleanse, and cleanse pleasantly. Second, that it be free from sharp crystals which scratch and wear away the enamel. Third, that its makers refrain from making impossible "germicidal" claims.

S. S. White Tooth Paste conforms to all three requirements. It is a pure, wholesome, non-medicated cleanser, deliciously flavored, and as pleasant to use as it is efficient.

Your druggist has it. Sign and mail the coupon below for a copy of our booklet "Good Teeth; How They Grow And How To Keep Them."
