

RESEARCH DIRECTOR FOR OMAHA SCHOOLS

H. W. Anderson of Iowa City Named to Study Progress of Students and Detect Weak Points.

The Board of Education last night appointed H. W. Anderson of Iowa City as director of research, to work under the direction of Superintendent Beverage at a salary of $2,000 a year. "It is our purpose to determine actual school conditions in a scientific manner; to determine the progress of the pupils in our schools and to strengthen the weak places," explained the superintendent to the board members.

Ruth Wheelock, Clem Dickey Browning, Lena McCullough, Nellie L. McGaw, W. M. Whitmyre, George E. Ritchey, Elsie W. Neef and Mabel Parker Evans resigned from the teaching staff. Miss Jennie C. Salmon, first grade teacher at Lathrop school, was placed on the retired list.

Teachers placed on the assigned list: Grace Holmes, F. P. Durant, C. B. Rice, A. A. Weisbecker, R. Ammerell, Edith M. Roberts and Irving Garwood.

Vocational Director. Myrtle Fitz Roberts was appointed as director of vocational guidance at a salary of $1,200 a year. She has been in the service of the Collegiate Alumnae and worked in connection with another four-room annex which is erected in connection with the High School of Commerce, at a cost of $6,000, and a two-room annex will be moved from Franklin school site to the Commerce High grounds to relieve congestion next month.

The board approved an appropriation of $33,500 for reorganization of the heating and power plant at Central High school. This plant will serve the Central High school and the proposed new High School of Commerce.

T. P. Reynolds, president of the Central Labor union, urged the board to direct its superintendent of buildings to recognize the union scale of wages in employment of painters and decorators. It is alleged that 55 cents per hour is being paid, while the union scale is 62 1/2 cents per hour.

Another statement was that janitors are painting during the vacation period. Ann M. Stell asked to be reinstated as teacher. Chairman Wells of the teachers' committee explained that she had married a soldier.

Frank H. Woodland began his service as attorney of the board.

Summer Amusements

Strand—Enid Bennett, who will be remembered for her clever work in past Triangle productions, is seen at the Strand for three days commencing today. "The Mother Instinct," a gripping story of emotional type, which holds the audience from start to finish. A Keystone laugh maker, "Whose Baby?" is also on tap, as well as the ever interesting Pathé Weekly.

Muse—At the Muse theater today and Wednesday, the film fans of this city will have the exceptional opportunity of seeing Regina Baret, the vaudeville star, in a notable film play, "The Golden Lotus." A strange story of a woman who led a life of sin and suffering to two men as the result.

Empress—An entire program of unusual excellence is the offering at the Empress for today and tomorrow. Heading the bill is the Barlett-Hatcher company, who present a clever comedy sketch entitled, "The Way Out," with four people. Three musical acts are the Weston sisters, who look as much alike as three roses from the same bush. Featuring Miss Lillian Kay, who is the only woman in the world catching double somersaults, the Four Kestling Kays, do some unusual and difficult stunts. George and Toney, a pair of knockabout comedians keep the audience happy. A big munitions contract and an automobile accident opened the way for "Richard," which is being shown at the Empress today and tomorrow, to meet and woo an American girl the first saw in a London chop house. Tom Mix is being shown in a Fox film comedy, "A Soft Tenderfoot." Also a Pathé News Weekly.

Sun—Emmy Welles is featured at this theater today and Wednesday in the Metro wonderplay, "The Trail of the Shadow." It is a romantic, red-blooded story of the west, a throbbing tale of love and adventure. The direction is in the hands of Edwin Carew. A quarter blood Indian, of whom it is said that he never saw a horse until he was 10 years old. This play incorporates action and dash and a strong love element. A good comedy on the same bill, Thursday and the balance of the week, Virginia Pearson in, "The Wrath of Love."

Hipp—Lillian "Dimples" Walker today and Wednesday in the Greater Vitagraph photoplay, "The Kid." The story is refreshing, while the supporting cast, as well as the directing is all that could be desired. Thursday Elenor Woodruff and William Courteney in "The Island of Surprise" and "The Gray Ghost." Friday and Saturday, Mignon Anderson in "A Wife on Trial."

Grand—Dorothy Dalton today in the triangle play, "Wild Winship's Widow." It is a story of a widow who still holds in her memory her departed husband, who finds out he was not the saint she had him painted and then she mixes with a jolly crowd. Wednesday, Wilfred Lucas and Lillian Gish in "Soul's Triumph."

Alhambra—Barney Bernard today in "A Prince in a Pawn Shop," the screen version of a highly successful stage play of the same name. Wednesday a splendid bill which includes the Heart-Pathe News.

Alamo—Irene Fenwick will be featured today in a Metro wonderplay, "A Child of Destiny." Wednesday, Pearl White in the third chapter of the Pathé serial, "The Fatal Ring," a two-reel drama, "The Resurrection," and a comedy.

Dundee—Enid Bennett today in a Triangle play, "Happiness" is one of the best pictures ever made by this company. There will be no show Wednesday. Thursday, Wilfred Lucas and Lillian Gish in "Soul's Triumph." Friday, George M. Cohan in the screen version of his successful stage play, "Broadway Jones," the first time shown in this city.

Apollo—Fannie Ward will be at this theater today in a Paramount attraction, "The Unconquered." It is a dramatic play, directed in a manner that permits of bringing forth best talents of this popular actress. Wednesday Lois Meredith in "Help Wanted," a comedy drama that permits of rare situations.

Magic, (South Side)—Good pictures will be seen at this theater today and Wednesday fully up to the standard that has been set by this theater.

Princess—Pearl White today in the fifth chapter of Pathé's serial, "The Fatal Ring." An L-R-O comedy and the latest happenings as shown in the Universal Animated Eddy Polo and Priscilla Dean in the fourth chapter of "The Gray Ghost," the Universal serial and other good reels.

Boulevard—Hessie Barrisole today in "The Golden Claw." The supporting cast as well as the directing is all that could be desired. Wednesday, George Walsh in a William Fox play, "The Book Agent," a fast action play in which this star has many opportunities. Lonesome Luke, the Omaha boy, is also on the bill with a two-reel comedy offering.

Robbit—George Walsh will be the photoplay offering at this theater today in the William Fox play, "High Finance." He just laughs and jumps his way through the entire production in a manner that will please his many followers. Wednesday will be Douglas Fairbanks the irresistible, in his latest, "Wild and Wooley."

Lathrop—Earle Williams for the last times today in a greater Vitagraph production, "The Maelstrom." Wednesday the latest action play in which this star has many opportunities. Lonesome Luke, the Omaha boy, is also on the bill with a two-reel comedy offering.

Happy Go Lucky—Earle Williams for the last times today in a greater Vitagraph production, "The Maelstrom." Wednesday the latest action play in which this star has many opportunities. Lonesome Luke, the Omaha boy, is also on the bill with a two-reel comedy offering.

TRACTOR SHOW IS HELD UP FOR DAY BY WET GROUNDS

(Continued From Page One.) Many feel that a mere demonstration is not sufficient. They feel that the prospective buyer becomes confused after seeing hundreds of tractors at work, while at best he can do no more than give the tractors and their work a superficial inspection. They hope to arrange some time in the future to stage contests in which definite work is cut out for the tractors to perform, a field of a given size to be plowed at a given depth in a given length of time, while at the same time a record could be made of the amount of fuel consumed by each, the amount of oil used, etc., etc.

Heavier Type Popular. A survey of the tractor today reveals something of a tendency to produce heavier machines again, after the companies had been trying for some time to bring the tractors down to lighter weight. There is a tendency to work toward the perfect balance, the exact weight necessary to give the proper strength of frame and at the same time give sufficient gravity to make the drawing power all that is required.

Many farmers came to the show early Monday morning. In automobiles and by train they came from afar. Hotels in Fremont are crowded, and Fremont is especially pleased to have its new Pathfinder hotel completed in time to help in the accommodation of the crowds.

Farmers come in exceptionally good spirits. The rains throughout the state have practically assured a corn crop and they come now feeling they will buy that tractor which they wanted, but about which they have been hesitating while the corn crop hung in the balance.

Get-Together Banquet. A get-together banquet of the tractor men was held at the Hotel Pathfinder Monday night. The Fremont Ad club has a lively program arranged for Tuesday evening at Hub hall. Wednesday evening there is to be an engineers' dinner at the Hotel Pathfinder and Thursday evening the Commercial club is to tender a "watermelon feed" to the tractor men at the clubrooms. Band concerts will be held every evening in the city park.

A chauntiqua is in progress all week. Ex-President William Howard Taft is scheduled to speak at the chauntiqua Thursday evening. He was to have spoken in the afternoon, but the tractor people prevailed upon the chauntiqua management to make it in the evening in order that the ex-president might not lure the afternoon crowds away from the plowing demonstrations.

PAYDAY MONDAY AT FORT OMAHA

For First Time in Month Money Is on Hand and Boys Are Eager to Have a Time.

A big automobile drove up to Fort Omaha Monday morning and was met at the gate with a cheer from the 700 eager men in khaki.

It had been a whole month since that same automobile and its occupants had visited Fort Omaha. For the first two weeks of this time the boys got along pretty well, but after that the ice cream cone vendors and the Omaha movies began to be neglected by the soldiers from the fort north of town.

The coming of the big brown car this morning changed all that, however. In the car were Major Maher, disbursing officer of the United States army, from the quartermaster's depot in Omaha. Very carefully, Major Maher carried a big fat bundle.

With him were Chief Clerk Harry Northcutt, of the quartermaster's depot and his assistant, G. A. Peters, each with a similar bundle. These were obtained at the Omaha National bank.

Monday was payday at Fort Omaha, and not a soul, from the oldest veteran to the newest recruit from New York or Wyoming or wherever he hails from, was sorry to see it come.

The bundles were full of good United States greenbacks, which Uncle Sam sends out to the soldiers training at Fort Omaha. The privates get their $30, besides $4 for enlistment, the sergeants something over $40, and so on up the list.

And $30 soon goes when you have to buy ice cream and pay street car fares, as well as get movie tickets and souvenirs of Omaha. Many boys

Motor Magnates Coming to Big Tractor Show on Special Train

A score of the biggest automobile men in the country are speeding by special train to Fremont from Detroit for the tractor show at the Nebraska city.

The automobile magnates are the guests of Alfred T. Sloan, president of the United Motors company, one of the largest motor building concerns in the world.

The special train left Detroit Sunday night and is due in Fremont this morning.

A paper is being printed on the train. It is to be called the "Tractor Trail" and will be published just before the train arrives in Fremont.

Mr. Sloan's distinguished guests on the special are:

Howard E. Coffin, automobile engineer, member of national defense board, Washington; Roy D. Chapin, president Hudson Motor Car company, Detroit; Harry W. Ford, president Saxon Motor Car company, Detroit; R. H. Collins, president Cadillac company, Detroit; H. B. Jewett, have never been west before and they want to take in everything going. Various thriving small stores have sprung up in the neighborhood of the fort, to catch the stray dimes and quarters of the men. These reaped a rich harvest today.

As soon as Major Maher arrived the money began to disappear. The three men from the supply depot were aided by Captain Bower and Lieutenant Goodale of the fort and the men moved rapidly past the paying table.

As soon as they reached the outer hall, however, dignity vanished. There was a whoop of joy and a rush for the ice cream parlors. A small newscie had an eye to business. He was on the spot and his stock of Bees was sold out in a jiffy.

Orders to make the formal transfer into the federal service a draft instead of a muster were received today by Captain E. E. Newbold, senior drafting officer.

Companies B and C have been examined by the medical officers, and Company A began examination today. The examination is progressing at the rate of one company or better a day, which is considered rapid work.

Out of 141 men in Company B, only five were disqualified for physical defects. Of 147 men in Company C, only two were thrown out.

Company officers and non-coms are busy making out requisitions for their uniforms and supplies, which they will receive from the Omaha quartermaster's depot. Captain Buehler Metcalfe of the machine gun company got cots for his company Saturday.

Buy Hens for $10, Sells Them for $20 in Hour or So

Officer Bitter, who has a beat on Cuming street, missed his vacation; instead of being a peace boss he should have joined forces with the business men of this city. Monday morning he invested the sum of ten hard earned dollars in the purchase of thirty hens. A short while later, a peddler, driving along, stopped to scrutinize the fowls.

"I geef you $20 for the bunch," spoke the newcomer to Bitter. The officer, using his business ingenuity, thought a while; then accepted the offer.

"I'll take you up; give me the dough."

TO DRAFT NEBRASKA REGIMENTS IN ARMY

Six Hundred Men Needed to Fill Quota Will Be Taken From Selective Draft List; Sixth Draft

No more volunteers will be accepted for the three regiments of the Nebraska National Guards, and their ranks, 600 men shy of war quota, will be filled up from the drafted men.

These orders were received from the War department today by Major James V. Heidt, United States regular, who is in charge of the state troops until all have been mustered into federal service.

The instructions were that last Saturday was the last day for volunteer recruiting, and that after Sunday no more would be accepted.

What men from the draft army will be taken, and how they will be selected, was not made known in the orders, Major Heidt says.

Joins Marine Corps After Hearing Brother's Yarns

Ray Strain, son of Lou Strain of Omaha, likes the marine corps so well that his brother joined yesterday in order to satisfy the enthusiasm he gathered from hearing Ray talk about it. Ray arrived yesterday morning from his station at Quantico, Va., where he had been for some time. After he had told the home folks about the life of a marine, J. D. Strain, his elder brother, hurried to the recruiting station and joined also.

Ray is in Omaha on a ten-day furlough. He must be back at the station by Friday. Ray says officers of the marine at Quantico firmly believe the whole corps at Quantico will be in France within two months. Recently, Ray has been driving an ambulance at the station.

BE sure you see the Cleveland Tractor at Fremont. Note its wonderful performance—its unique construction—its all-round utility. It will interest you—amaze you.

The Cleveland is the only tractor built that can work at a profit on any farm in the country. It crawls on its own tracks, which conform to the unevenness of the soil. It is the first tractor to combine light weight and economy with crawler construction.

The Cleveland only weighs 2750 pounds, yet it has 600 square inches of traction surface. Think of it!

So it can go anywhere—over ditches and gullies, through wet clay, loose sand or soggy soil. And it works at a surprisingly low upkeep and operation cost.

It will actually plow eight to ten acres a day. That's more than three of the best three-horse teams and three men can possibly do. And under normal conditions it will plow an acre on a gallon and a half of fuel.

It will develop 20 h. p. at the drawbar and 12 at the pulley belt—plenty for every power requirement on any farm.

The Cleveland steers by the power of its engine. A light touch on the wheel sends it in the desired direction. And here's another big advantage—the gears are not only of the best possible materials, but are enclosed in dirtproof, dustproof cases.

Cleveland Tractor Geared to the Ground

Travels on its Own Track

Again—be sure you see the Cleveland. Let its performance prove this to you: The Cleveland Tractor will do work no other tractor can do—and do better and cheaper the work other tractors can do
