Here Is What Pershing Expects of Draft Army

Paris, Aug. 7.—Major General Pershing, commander of the American expedition in France, told the Associated Press today what he expected of America's conscript army. The general said: "Our men must be in good physical condition, keeping their morals clean and thereby capable of meeting the trying conditions of modern warfare. The men must learn to obey orders promptly, implicitly and willingly, but not necessarily automatically. I object to the word 'automatic' because we do not want a machine-made organization, but an army of thinking men. Men with individuality, men fully capable and ready to assume command of units, should their officers be killed or incapacitated, as sometimes happens in trench warfare. The men must be made to realize that war is not sport or play, but serious work demanding the utmost energy and attention to insure success. General Pershing likened army organization to a foot ball team, in

NOTED SPEAKERS TO ASSIST DRYS IN IOWA

Sunday, Bryan, Hobson and Other Prohibition Workers Will Plead With Voters to Keep Iowa Dry.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 7.—Billy Sunday, William Jennings Bryan, Richmond Pearson Hobson and other noted speakers on the subject of prohibition are to be invited to speak in Iowa during the coming campaign on the constitutional prohibition amendment. Mr. Bryan already is taking an active interest in the work, while Sunday promised some time ago that he would come to Iowa, if possible, and help "drive the final nail into John Barleycorn's coffin." The referendum on the amendment will take place October 13. Preliminary organization of the prohibition forces has been virtually completed. J. B. Weede of Des Moines has been selected as campaign manager, and former Mayor James R. Hanna of Des Moines is in charge of state-wide organization work. The entire campaign is under the direction of the allied temperance committee, which includes all the prominent temperance organizations of the state, who will work through the committee, instead of individually. Full Vote Wanted. There is to be no attempt to argue the merits of prohibition, according to leaders in the campaign for the amendment. It is argued that prohibition is a settled fact in the state and efforts are to be centered in getting out a complete poll. The referendum will not immediately affect the status of the saloon in the state, as the state already is under statutory prohibition. Should the amendment carry, it will be impossible for the manufacture or sale of liquor to be legalized in the state without action by two consecutive state legislatures, in submitting a repeal of the amendment, and then a vote of the people favoring it to return to a "wet" state. Iowa has not had a "wet" legislature for many years, and once the amendment is adopted it is conceded by wet and dry forces alike that it will be practically impossible to repeal it unless there is a marked change of sentiment in the state.

Russia is Comparatively Quiet Now, Says Elihu Root

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Elihu Root, who, with other members of the American mission to Russia, which has completed its work, was in Chicago today, said that, as a matter of fact, there is scarcely more disorder in Russia than there is in the United States. "Certain disturbances are inevitable in a change of government so radical as that of Russia," said Mr. Root, "and cable dispatches deal largely with these disturbances. Hence the public has gained an impression that there is little going on in Russia except demonstration. As a matter of fact, if reports on American affairs disseminated in Russia concentrated on our own little disturbances—race riots, the industrial workers of the World and the like—Russians would have about the same picture of us that we now have of them. I have faith in the new Russian ministry and in the Russian future as an important element in the aims of the allies. Russian women are doing a wonderful work in shaming the men into fighting and, where necessary, I hope American women will follow their example."
