

MAKE BLANKETS OF WOOL YARN SCRAPS

Woman's Service League Plans to Make Covers for Soldiers Out of Left-Over Bits of Material.

Scraps of wool yarn will be utilized at the National League for Women's Service to make blankets for soldiers. Many girls have bits of bright-colored yarn left from the ever-popular sweater which all of feminine young Omaha has been knitting this summer. Everyone who has these left over bits is urged to bring them to the headquarters in the First National Bank building.

The making of these wool blankets will probably fill a special field for young girls who are just learning the intricate ways of knitting, especially since the making of cotton washcloths and eye bandages, upon which girls formerly worked, has been discontinued.

Knitting experts at the National League headquarters believe that they have devised the most economical and practical system for knitting machine socks possible. The tops of these socks are made on a knitting machine and the feet are knitted by hand. The hand-knit feet are the best wearing and most comfortable, but the hand knit tops take up much more yarn and furnish a superior quality of work where such quality is not needed.

Save Yarn. Machine knit, one and one-half hanks of yarn will make two pairs of socks, while hand knit, it takes one and one-quarter hanks to make one pair, according to observations made by the knitters.

Many women are taking advantage of the opportunity to learn knitting and the classes conducted in the headquarters of the National League for Women's Service continue. The classes run from 10 till 12 on five days of the week. The schedule of days and instructors is as follows:

Monday, Mrs. Theodore Sinhold; Tuesday, Miss Elizabeth Muir; Wednesday, Miss Hedric Rosenstock; Thursday, Mrs. James B. Butter; Friday, Mrs. A. King.

This instruction is in hand knitting. Two knitting machines which have been installed in the headquarters are operated by Mrs. F. A. Klenke.

Women Take Men's Places At Watchmaker's Bench

Women are beginning to take up watchmaking, and A. F. Smith, head of the A. F. Smith Wholesale Jewelry company of Omaha, says they make excellent workmen at this difficult trade.

The problem of getting enough workmen in this craft is daily growing more difficult. For over a year this has been a problem. The munition factories first took a lot of these men, because they were highly skilled, technical workmen, and could readily adjust themselves to the minute work of making shells and other munitions.

Now, with the enlistments, the draft and the many munition and other factories calling for men, watchmakers are growing still more scarce. "I have advertised from coast to coast for watchmakers," said Mr. Smith, "and still cannot get them. I believe now that more women should go into this line of work. Those who have already gone into it are making good in fine shape. The women prove themselves to be very careful workers. They are accustomed to fine work of this kind, such as fancy needle work, and other work requiring careful training of the eye. This gives them an initial advantage over the men.

There is a school in Omaha in which the women can learn watchmaking. It takes from nine months to a year to become a good watchmaker, and I believe a lot of women could greatly increase their earning power by taking up this work. Girls who are getting $8 or $12 a week now, could be getting $18 to $25 a week after completing their course of training in this work. That is what we will have to come to, for we just cannot get the men."

Arguments in Hearing of Strike Case Are Finished

Attorneys have finished their arguments in the hearing on the application for a temporary injunction in the strike case and Judge Leslie, Judge Redick and Judge Sears, sitting in equity court, will hand down a decision Saturday.

Attorney General Reed, representing the state, who invoked the Junkin act June 18 and obtained a temporary restraining order against the Business Men's association and Omaha union, alleging unlawful acts in restraint of trade argued in support of fifty-nine affidavits charging the labor organizations with conspiracies and violations of the court order.

Each of the three sides—the attorney general's legal forces, attorneys for the Business Men's association and counsel for the unions—was allowed one hour for arguments. The judges took the case under advisement.

If a temporary injunction is allowed the case will be heard on its merits later.

Six I. W. W. Agitators Are Arrested in Oklahoma

Muskogee, Okl., Aug. 9.—Six alleged Industrial Workers of the World agitators are under arrest at Miami, Ottawa county, and several others have been driven from the mining district there as the result of attempts to dynamite freight cars, according to reports of the United States marshal's office here. Miami is in the heart of a lead and zinc mining district. Messages from County Attorney McNaughton of Miami said the trouble with the Industrial Workers of the World was ended.

Says Wife Treated Him In "Sarcastic Manner"

Roy L. Hobson, clerk, 2562 Sprague street, suing Freda L. Hobson for divorce in district court, alleges she treated him in a "sneering, haughty and sarcastic" manner and then went out on "parties" with other men. He says she frequently entertained other men at their homes, despite his objections. A co-respondent is named. The Hobsons were married in Omaha May 23, 1913.

TEKAMAH BOY WHO GOES TO ANNAPOLIS.

JOSEPH VAN CLEAVE

Besides contributing a large number of boys to enlistment by volunteering before the draft law went into effect, Tekamah now has the honor of sending a boy to the naval academy at Annapolis. Joseph Van Cleave, son of W. H. Van Cleave, clerk of the district court, took the examination some weeks ago as an alternate. The fact that Joe passed the examinations successfully and that his principal also did makes him pleased, but not so much as the fact that Congressman Dan Stephens had written to him that he would recommend him for the extra appointment that has been given each congressman because of war pressure. Joe received a telegram from the Navy department Monday to report at once and he left the same evening for Annapolis.

TO RUN DOWN THOSE SKIPPING THE EXAMS

Government Paves Way to Find Men Who Do Not Appear Before the Exemption Boards.

When the records were gone over at the different districts when examinations were over Wednesday night it was found that many of the notified men had not appeared for examination. Unless the men come in and explain things their names will be turned over to United States Marshal and they will be hunted down.

"The government has already paved the way to find these men," said Chairman Redwood. "As soon as they are found they will be conscripted into the army."

In order that the men will get another chance to show up The Bee is printing a list of men, so far as can be obtained, who were mailed notices and could not be found at the address they registered from. Many of these men moved, and without a doubt are still wondering why they are not notified. Others have purposely left and will have to be run down.

The idea is not to brand the men as slackers, but to let them know that they were supposed to have appeared before their boards. The list follows:

To Recruit the Sixth To Full War Strength

A telegram has been received by officers of the Omaha battalion of the Sixth regiment from Colonel Hall, granting them the privilege of recruiting up to full war strength. This means 150 to a company, with seventy-five for the machine gun company. A few days ago the orders went out to let up on the enlisting, but this message rescinds that.

But one man in the machine gun company of the Sixth was rejected after the physical examination. This was Edward L. Smyth, son of Judge C. J. Smyth of Omaha. Young Smyth was greatly disappointed at his rejection, but it is a consolation to him, he says, that the machine gun company has twenty-five men on its waiting list ready to take his place. His rejection was caused by slightly defective eyesight.

A Single Application Banishes Every Hair

(The Modern Beauty)
Here is how any woman can easily and quickly remove objectionable, hairy growths without possible injury to the skin: Make a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a painless, inexpensive method and, excepting where the growth is unusually thick, a single application is usually thick, a single application is enough. You should, however, be careful to get genuine delatone.—Adv.

SOLDIERS WELL FED BEFORE THE START

Barbecues, Chicken Dinners, Pies and All Sorts of Good Things for the New Recruits.

The prospect of army grub holds no terrors for Omaha soldier boys ready to depart for training camps. Not yet. Only visions of bountiful tables, laden with all the good things there are to eat, provided by kind, though heavy-hearted women-folks, for the rest of their stay, looms large on their mental horizon.

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach," is old "stuff" to these women, age-wise in what men like to eat.

The pie feast Friday afternoon, provided by the commissariat of the National League for Women's Service, is one of the big feasts in prospect for the boys. Friday evening at 8 o'clock at Bohemian Turner hall women of the Bohemian National Alliance, Woman's Service League and the Bohemian Red Cross auxiliary chapter will give a farewell entertainment and supper for 100 soldiers of Bohemian descent who are in the Fifth and Sixth regiments. To cap the enjoyment of the evening, there will be dancing. The hall is on Thirteenth and Martha.

And then there is the big barbecue for all the soldiers at Riverview park Saturday.

A chicken dinner and smoker for machine gun company of the Sixth regiment will be given Wednesday evening at All Saints' parish house by the women of the church. Stanley Mackay, son of Rev. T. J. Mackay, rector of All Saints', is a member of this company.

Women who head circles of All Saints' guild will each take a table, among them Mrs. Thomas Latham Davis, Mrs. J. Clarke Coit, Mrs. D. C. Bradford and Mrs. Dan Baum. About eighty men will be served.

After the dinner and smoker there will be a musical entertainment.

City to Decide Between Noisy Cows and Crying Babies

The city council was brought face to face with the alternative of whether it would be better for residents near Thirty-ninth and Charles streets to submit to early morning howlings of four cows or be disturbed by the wailings of infants crying for milk.

Protest was made against the matutinal vocalizations of a bovine quarter whose owner supplies lactal fluid to the neighborhood. In these days of food stress the city commissioners believe the noisy cows represent the lesser of the two evils.

Mayor Calls Citizens to Barbecue With Soldiers HONOR THE SOLDIERS.

Whereas, Our boys in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth regiments of the Nebraska National Guard have been called into the service of this country, and are about to leave the state to enter upon the active duties of their service, and

Whereas, It has been arranged to have a barbecue in Riverview park on Saturday afternoon, August 11, for the members of said regiments; and in connection with said barbecue there will be music, dancing and public speaking, therefore, I, James C. Dahlman, mayor, proclaim Saturday afternoon, August 11, 1917, a day of general observance in the city of Omaha, in honor of the members of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth regiments of the Nebraska National Guard; and I urge that fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, sweethearts and friends of the boys in service, and the people of the city in general bring their basket lunches with them to Riverview park and participate in showing our appreciation and esteem for those who have responded to their country's call.

CAPTAIN HENRY V. EPLEY died Tuesday at his residence, 4644 Douglas street, of hardening of the arteries. He was born November 23, 1829, in Ohio and lived there with his parents until 15 years of age, when he came with his older brother to Iowa, where they lived a number of years. Returning to his home in Ohio a short time before the civil war, he enlisted and served a year as first and second lieutenant in Company B of an Ohio regiment. He was taken sick, went home on a furlough and returned to the service after a couple of months, when he was made captain of the Ninth Ohio volunteer cavalry and served in that capacity until the close of the war. Some time after the close of the war he was married to Amanda Wood and came west, settling in Iowa, later coming to Nebraska, where he spent the remainder of his life.
