

BRITISH LABOR IDEALS OUTLINED

Memorandum to Be Presented to Socialist Congress Endorses Reparation and Restoration of Belgium.

London, Aug. 10.—A special sub-committee of the British labor party executive committee has been preparing a memorandum upon the issues raised in the war and the ideas of British labor in regard to peace proposals. This is printed in today's Daily Telegraph and is presented to the labor conference in London today, and further will be submitted to the special conference August 21, prior to its proposed submission to the allied and international socialist conferences.

Briefly the memorandum is a strong endorsement of the demand for the reparation and restoration in behalf of Belgium and other invaded countries; a declaration in favor of the right of individual people to settle their own destinies; liberation of oppressed peoples from Turkish misgovernment and a demand for the establishment of a league of nations for the maintenance of peace and the elimination of war from the world.

Allies Must Win.
The memorandum indicates that Germany is threatening the very existence of independent nationalities, striking a blow at all faith in treaties, and declares that the victory of Germany would be the defeat and destruction of democracy and liberty. It disavows the desire to crush Germany, politically or economically, and declares that, while it is resolved to fight until victory, it is equally resolved to resist any attempt to transform the war into a war of conquest.

The memorandum heartily congratulates the Russian people on the destruction of czarism and warmly welcomes "assistance to the cause of human freedom in council no less than in the battlefield that is now being accorded by the American people."

Labor Would End War.
"The conference asks the peoples of the several nations, particularly socialist labor comrades of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey, whether it is not possible for the united action of the working classes of the world to bring this monstrous conflict to a summary conclusion conformable to the principles of the international."

annexations and indemnities of the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates the memorandum declares: "Of all war aims none is so important as that there should henceforth on earth be no more war. Whoever triumphs, the world will have lost unless some effective method of preventing war can be found."

Responsible to People.
For this, reliance is largely placed on the "complete democratization of Germany and Austria-Hungary, which now cannot fail to place themselves in line with other civilized nations, on a frank abandonment of every form of imperialism, on the suppression of secret diplomacy, on the placing of the foreign policy under the control of elected legislators, on the absolute responsibility of the foreign minister of each country to the legislature, on concerted action for the limitation of armaments and the abolition of profit-making of armament firms."

It is further declared that the essential condition of a treaty of peace will be the establishment of a "supernational authority, or league of nations, adhered to by all present belligerents, while every other independent state in the world should be pressed to join."

The memorandum reproaches "the crime against the peace of the world" whereby Alsace and Lorraine were torn from France in 1871 and demands their restoration.

It recognizes the necessity of safeguarding the legitimate interests of Italians in the Adriatic and the Aegean; of a just settlement of the question of Poland and other states where independence has been temporarily destroyed.

For the Jews equal citizen rights are demanded and hope of a free Palestine is expressed, together with freeing of Mesopotamia, Armenia and Arabia from Turkish rule and placed under the government of a league of nations. All dream of an African empire, the booty of any nation, should be abandoned, the memorandum asserts, and suggests that all present colonies be transferred to the proposed league of nations.

An important conference of the labor party will be held at Westminster today to decide whether British labor shall be represented at the International Socialist congress at Stockholm in September. The conference will consist of delegates from all trades union and other labor socialist representatives and is expected to have momentous consequences.

For days past there has been a sharp division among labor men with reference to going to Stockholm and the newspapers have been filled with rumors, predictions and interviews.

Henderson Undecided.
The division on the eve of the conference seems as complete as ever and it is impossible to predict with even an approach to certainty whether those for the Stockholm conference or those against it prevail.

The main initiatory cause of difference was the conversion of Arthur Henderson, minister without portfolio, to the view, while he was in Petrograd, that it is desirable for British labor men to go to Stockholm and share in the deliberations of the international delegates, including the Germans.

It has been stated in the last twenty-four hours that events in Russia since his departure have caused a change in Mr. Henderson's views and that he would recant, at today's conference. There is no confirmation of this report, which was both reaffirmed and denied in today's newspapers.

BISBEE VIGILANTS' RULE UNSHAKEN

Refuse to Allow Investigating Committee Access to City Where I. W. W. Members Were Expelled.

Tucson, Ariz., Aug. 10.—Long distance telephone messages from Bisbee this morning say it was reported there last evening that Governor Campbell had asked that federal troops be sent to the Warren district, but the report was denied this morning by Governor Campbell.

The governor said he had not yet called for troops, that he would have a full discussion with the sheriff of the county and the mayor before taking action, and that he hoped they would take his advice and agree on a course that would guarantee citizens their constitutional rights, and at the same time prevent a recurrence of trouble in the Warren mining district.

The following account of conditions in Bisbee and the surrounding district is taken from reports and statements of Arizona officials.

The business men and other citizens of Bisbee are standing behind the Loyalty league and the vigilance committee, which is deporting all persons believed connected with the Industrial Workers of the World from the Warren district. Wiley Jones, attorney general, who has been investigating conditions, found the committee in full control, supported by the county supervisors and the sheriff. He came to the conclusion proceedings in the county to stop deportations would be futile.

The vigilance committee meets daily and takes up the cases of men charged with being sympathizers with the Industrial Workers of the World. The committee is composed of about twenty members, chosen by the Loyalty league, and has a chairman and a secretary, who keeps a record of the proceedings. There also is a marshal, who executes the judgments of the committee, from which there is no appeal. The marshal is a deputy sheriff and has a large posse at his command to enforce the decrees of the committee. Sheriff Wheeler sometimes sits with the committee.

When a man is ordered deported he is informed of the judgment of the committee by two deputy sheriffs and told that he is to leave the district within a stated time. During that period he is continually under surveillance, the deputies assigned to see that he leaves the district accompanying him, assisting him in getting his effects together and finally seeing that he is put on a train at Osborn.

When they learned that the State Federation of Labor was about to send a committee to Bisbee to investigate industrial relations, the vigilance committee met and took up the question of whether they should be admitted or turned back. The decision was practically unanimous to turn back the committee and the marshal was ordered to see that they did not enter the district. The judgment of the committee was carried out.

While before the committee, Mr. Jones pointed out that there was no warrant of law for the existence of the committee or its course in deporting citizens from the community, but the committeemen flatly told Jones that they intended to continue their sittings and ordering and executing deportations as long as the Industrial Workers of the World activity continued, as to do otherwise would cut off copper production there.

PEACE!

With Germany Powerless or Germany Free—Which?

As the War enters its fourth year, the German Emperor proclaims that the thoughts of the German people "stand resolute in the determination to prosecute this righteous war of defense to a successful termination," and tells his soldiers "we are invincible. We shall be victorious. The Lord God will be with us." But while the thunder of British guns in Flanders and the shout of advancing German regiments in Russia seem to be the loud echoes of these confident assertions, representatives of both sides were at the same time contributing to a symposium of peace. Mr. Balfour declares that Germany must be "either powerless or free" before peace can come.

German peace-hints are prefaced with assertions that German armies in Belgium and Roumania are fighting a purely defensive war. Chancellor Michaelis denies imputation of coldness toward the Reichstag declaration for a peace without conquest, while Count Czernin, Foreign Minister of Austria-Hungary, admits that his country is quite ready for an "honorable peace." While Austria's readiness for peace has long been evidenced by American editors, they suspect that Germany's outgivings and the firm grip of the military regime conceal an almost equal longing.
