Futures Market in Severely Weakened by Sharp Break in Corn.

Chicago. Aug. 11.—A severe break in prices offered for corn for immediate delivery tended today to weaken the market for futures. Industries were bidding only 195 for No. 2 mixed this morning, a drop of 17c as compared with yesterday's sales. The freeh setback was attributed to the fact that distillers continued to refrain from making any purchases and appeared to have fully established their wants previous to the enactment of the food control measure. Opening quotations for futures, which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2 lower, with December at $1.15\% to $1.15\% and May at $1.11\% to $1.12\ were followed by a slight rally and then a decline all around to well below yesterday's finish.

rally and then a decline all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Wheat glid downward, influenced by bearish sentiment due to the assumed unlikeilhood of any austained advance in prices under efficial government food control. After opening unchanged at $2.18 for September, the market descended to $2.14.

Outs weakened with corn. Besides, predictions were current that the government estimate of the season's yield would yet be raised 100,000,006 bushels.

ash prices were still at a big premium as cash prices were still at a dig premium as compared with futures prevented any radical weakness in futures. The close for futures was nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to %6 lower with December, $1.14%, to $1.12%, and May, $1.12% to $1.12%. Subsequent railies were relatively unimportant. The close was steady at $2.15, september.
