THREE CLASS B TEAMS CLASH IN DOUBLE-HEADER

Townsends to Play Both Murphy Did Its and Stags in First of Elimination Contests at Melady's Meadow.

By FRANK QUIGLEY.

The fourth annual city championship series of the Omaha Amateur Base Ball association will get under way at Melady's Meadow, Twentyfourth and Vinton streets, at 1:30 this afternoon, when the Townsends, winners of the American league pennant; Stags, champs of the Metropolitan league, and Murphy Did Its, champions of the City league, clash in a three-cornered joust for the Class B title of Omaha's sandlots. Two games will be played today The first game, starting at 1:30, will be battled out between the Townsends and Murphy Did Its. The second game, starting immediately upon the conclusion of the first, will be between the Townsends and Stags. The Class B title will be settled by three games between each of the teams, making six games in all, unless a tie, which will have to be played off, results. The games will be played in double-headers.

By the draw, the Townsends were chosen to play the first double-header. A week from today, the Murphys play the double bill, bat-tling both the Townsends and Stags, while two weeks from today, the Stags get the heavy burden.

Western Must Find New Territory, Says Prexie

Lincoln, Neb Aug, 10.-E, W. Dickerson, president of the Western league, who arrived in Lincoln early this morning when asked tonight a new city "probably" would be in the league in 1918

In local Western league circles Denver is picked as the team to be moved as the result of poor attendance in the western city and because of the expense of the long jump from the other cities. Centralization of the league is looke I for here and Mr. Dickerson expressed the belief that Rock Island and Moline, III., and Davenport, Iowa, combined, would make a good berth for a team, and if a change is to be made, it is thought one of these cities will have the team, with the other two as backers.

Rumors have had it that a Western league team would go to Oklahoma next year, but this is thought to be out of the question, since it is aimed to cut traveling expenses.
