"I remain yours sincerely "ARTHUR HENDERSON." Premier Lloyd George replied: Forced Out of Office,

My Dear Henderson: I am in reccipt of your letter of this morning tendering your resignation of your position as a member of the war cabinet and have received the permission of His Majesty to accept it.

"What has happened in Russia during the last few weeks has affected materially our position in reference to that conference. "When you spoke at that conference you were not merely a member of the labor party, but a member of the cabinet, responsible for the conduct of the war. Nevertheless, you did not deem it necessary to inform the conference of the views of your colleagues and the delegates accordingly were justified in assuming that the advice you gave was not inconsistent with their opinion.

The second point is this: Yesterday morning we received a most important communication from the Russian government in which we were informed that: 'Although the Russian government did not deem it possible to prevent Russian delegates from taking part in the Stockholm conference they regarded it as party con-cern and its decision as in no wise binding on the liberty of action of the government,' and further the covering letter which accompanied this communication, contained these words: 'I hasten to lay before you the above information, as I fear that the impression hitherto has prevailed that in the words of one of the London newspapers Russia ardently desired the Stockholm conference and this argument has been put forward in order to influence British public opinion in favor of the labor and socialist parties of Great Britain participating in the conference.

It is true that in the course of your speech you made a very casual reference 'to some modification' in the attitude of the Russian government, but there is a manifest difference between the effect which would necessarily be produced upon any audience by an indifferent summary of that description and by the communication to them of official information showing that the attitude of the communication of the commu the Russian government towards the Stockholm conference was very dif-ferent from what had been supposed. The quota for Merrick county is sixty-eight and the first 136 men drawn, just twice the number of the quota, were summoned to appear before the board on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Of these seventythree claimed exemptions, thirty-eight no exemptions, thirteen failed to qualify physically, ten failed to report, one had previously enlisted and one was examined outside the county.

"There are, however, certain facts with which it is essential that the public should be acquainted in order that they may form a correct appreciation of the events that have led to this regrettable conclusion. The first is that your colleagues were taken completely by surprise by the attitude which you adopted at the labor conference yesterday afternoon.
