Dates for Creighton Club Dances.
Creighton university students of the Mixers' dancing club display a great deal of originality in plans for the eight dancing parties they will give during the coming season. The opening dance, which is set for September 25, just before Ak-Sas-Ben, will be a given-in-honor affair for Creighton men who have enlisted. The patriotic note will be emphasized at this affair and many unique ideas in dancing and music will be carried out.

A "Liberty bond" dance, scheduled for October 16 is one arousing a great deal of curiosity in the college set but the committee refused to divulge any plans in advance. A harvest party November 13 will be followed on the 28th by a foot ball party, December 18 a novelty dance will be given; January 8 a masquerade; a pre-Lenten party in February; a "shower" in April and a May party to wind up the season.

Officers of the club include men popular in the student body. Edward J. Kranz, junior in the arts and science department and active in tennis and track athletics is president; Fred Armstrong, sophomore, medical college, and a well-known foot ball player is secretary; William Murray, senior in pharmacy, vice president; Gerald LaViolette, arts, '1916, of law department, treasurer; Fred C. Zehm-freinj, junior in the dental college, and one of the crack basket ball stars of last year, and Claudio Delitala are on the general entertainment committee.

BRIDE OF OFFICER HOME OF FURLOUGH.

MRS. ROBERT W. PROUDFOOT

On his first day home on furlough after receiving his commission as second lieutenant at Fort Snelling Robert W. Proudfoot of Friend, Neb., and Miss Margherita Carpenter of Omaha were married. The ceremony took place Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Frank W. Carpenter, Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks of Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church officiating.

The bride's father, Frank W. Carpenter, is now stationed on the Philippine islands, where he is serving as department governor.

After the ceremony Mrs. Carpenter and her son, Lieutenant Frank W. Carpenter, jr., and the newly-wedded couple enjoyed a wedding dinner at the Prettiest Mile club.

Miss Alice Dellone and Miss Leone Dellone are on their vacation. The former is employed in juvenile court and the latter is court house librarian.

Mrs. Charles T. Kountze and daughter, Elinor, who are at their cottage on Minnetonka bay, expect to leave there to return home about August 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clarke, jr., arrived Thursday evening to spend a few days at the Thummel home before Mr. Clarke leaves Tuesday to enter the second training camp at the Presidio and Mrs. Clarke goes on to Richard's Landing in Canada, the summer home of her parents.

Posters Sale to Raise War Funds Was Closed Friday

The comfort kit women who have been conducting a sale of foreign and American war posters in the Brandeis and Burgess-Nash stores closed shop at noon with a goodly bagful of coins and bills, which they will use to finance the making of comfort kits for the boys at the front. The exact amount of the proceeds is not known as yet.

George Brandeis paid $30 for the large poster he purchased. J. E. Davidson invested in a collection and paid $10 for the group.

Record time for saleswomen was established when R. E. Miller, a prominent druggist from San Francisco, selected twenty-one posters, ordered them wrapped, paid his money and was gone—all within the space of five minutes.

On Monday and Tuesday the comfort kit section will sell stuffed Red Cross and Scotch Highlander dolls at comfort kit rooms in the Saunders-Kennedy building at Eighteenth and Douglas streets. The true trench funny papers, in the form of books and illustrated pamphlets, will also be sold for the benefit of the comfort kit work. Young girls of Omaha will act as saleswomen. The dolls sell at 75 cents apiece and are clever and funny enough to delight the heart of any patriotic American child.

Orders are already being taken for the dolls and samples are on display, but the entire stock will not arrive until Monday.

Two-Year-Old's Birthday Party.

Mrs. George Van Brunt of Council Bluffs invited a number of 2-year-olds and their mammas and a few older children to a party this afternoon in honor of her son, Hannan's, second birthday. Mrs. Denise Barkalow and little Carolyn, who will also be 2 years old this week, were the Omaha guests. Other little guests who came with their mothers were Betty Reed, Cary Damon, Mary Louise Culler, Mary Barkalow, Marjorie Mayne, Gene and Barbara Van Brunt, Frederick Mayne, Jack Brainard and Harold Hannan, Jr.

For Visiting Girls.

Miss Mary Wright of Tecumseh, Neb., who is returning from Lake Okoboji, is the guest of Miss Marjorie Mohrman. A dinner party was given in her honor Wednesday evening, with a dancing party following, at the home of Miss Gladys Dreier.

Miss Hazel Updike gave a luncheon of ten covers at the Country club, honoring Miss Dorothy Headley of New Bedford, Mass., guest of Miss Clara Hart. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wickham have fourteen guests at the week-end dinner-dance at the club for the same guest.

For Miss Young's Guests.

Several informal affairs are planned for Mrs. J. M. Hamilton and her daughter, Miss Irene, of Oklahoma City, former Omahans, who are visiting Miss Gertrude Young and her brother, Mr. Conrad Young. Among them are a picnic at "Walden," the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Learned, Saturday, and an automobile picnic Monday which will include the Paul Hoaglands, Brace Fondas and the Harold Everts. Mrs. Robert Hollister is planning an entertainment for next week for the same visitors. This afternoon they had tea with Mrs. T. J. Mackay.

Personal Mention.

Miss Zita Muldoon, who spent the last two months visiting in Sioux City, Ia., and western Nebraska, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. McCormick of St. Louis are guests at the Bransford hotel.

Mrs. Samuel K. Foote of the Bransford is spending the summer at the Marlborough-Blenheim in Atlantic City. Mrs. Foote expects to return in time for the supreme P. E. O. convention in the fall.

Miss Etta L. Pickering, general secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, has left on her vacation for Lancaster, O., where she will remain for one month.

Mrs. A. Brander and daughter, Wilhelmina, have returned from a two months' trip in the east. They visited Chicago, Buffalo, New York, Washington and Cleveland.

Mrs. Fred Dellone and daughters, Misses Alice and Leone, left Thursday for a three weeks' trip to Canadian points. They will visit Mrs. Dellone's relatives in Toronto and Ham-

PROUD OMAHA DINES HER SONS IN KHAKI

Newly Commissioned Officers from Fort Snelling Guests of Commercial Club at Luncheon.

Scores of newly commissioned officers of the United States army, all Omaha young men, were guests of the Commercial club at a luncheon at noon, when the club honored Omaha's sons for the honor those sons have brought to the Nebraska metropolis by winning their commissions in the three months of intensive training at Fort Snelling.

The club dining room looked like the dining room of the Army and Navy club in Washington, so universally did the smart uniform of the nation meet the eye. Everywhere was the olive drab and the yellow puttee. Colonel F. A. Grant of the quartermaster corps presided. Mayor James C. Dahlman and A. W. Jeffers talked to the young officers, assuring them of the pride Omaha feels at the success of its sons in winning their commissions, and assuring them that Omaha feels sure these young men will bring back further laurels from the fields of battle in France when once they face the Hindenburg line.

Thomas Praises Snelling.

Major Amos Thomas, the only Omaha man at Snelling commissioned a major, spoke briefly of the work at Fort Snelling and praised the splendid type of young American manhood found there.

Captain Malcolm Baldrige told of the rapid progress the young men made in their work of the first uncertain work, and of the inspiring contrast when the final review came before the boys left, when 3,000 men in perfect order passed in review before the commanding officer. He said he believed the conscripted army would prove the greatest army America ever saw. "They say the Canadians and the Australians are the best soldiers in Europe at present. I believe the Americans will prove to have all that they have, with a little Yankee brains thrown in for good measure."

Everett Buckingham, president of the board of governors of Ak-Sar-Ben invited all the young officers to be at Ak-Sar-Ben next Monday night for the initiation and show.

Many Features for Street Car Employees' Picnic

Sucking milk from a bottle, via a nipple, will be one of the unique races staged at the annual picnic of street railway employees, to be held at Manawa park Saturday.

Eighteen cars holding between 1,500 and 1,800 people will leave Twenty-second and Cumings at 9 a. m., with every child supplied with a horn. During the trip every person will be given a number. The women holding the first thirty-five drawn, as well as the first thirty-five men, will be given prizes.

There will be a series of races for men, women and children, prizes being given in all events. A swimming party in the afternoon and a picnic dinner are two other big events of the day.

Gas Company Employees To Hold Annual Picnic

Between 300 and 500 people, including Omaha Gas company employees and their wives, will hold their annual picnic at Manawa park Saturday afternoon and evening. A committee has arranged a series of games and contests. The big picnic dinner will be spread in Shady Grove, the Manawa park picnic grounds.

The Military Note

DOESN'T it look like a military invasion? Don't worry, it is only a draped turban of black velvet topped with a high cocarde of coque feathers. And beneath the chapeau, the suit of marine blue touches itself off smartly with blue velvet stitched flatly and compactly. The collar is so warm that it dashingly and cleverly threatens the rule of furs. The little gilt buttons are so bright that they dare a November day to be gloomy.

Tips on Current Fashions

Foulard and voile is a popular combination for the late summer and fall frock.

Veils are rather ornamental, the scrolly part making quite a trimming for the hat, but quite the best style are those in fine lace of the most cozy webby kind.

Among the velour hats a favorite is a soft silky type that resembles the coaching model of the eighteenth century, but instead of being high-crowned these are of the soft, crushable variety familiar to the present generation.

The very latest lingerie and bedtime garments are bloomer or pajama type. Glove silk, washable taffeta and batiste in flesh color seem to be the greatest in demand. A close second to this pajama garment is the bloomer or one-piece pajama, not unlike the nighties so long accepted for little folks.

To wear with cotton frocks of the simple morning variety some small

Advice to Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

He is Wrong.
Dear Miss Fairfax: My fiance and I have each other dearly, and for the last nine months have been very happy. We have always been truthful to one another and have no secrets. Now that the swimming season is here, I go down to the beach about twice during the week, and occasionally see a man I have known for three years, and although I merely say "good day," my fiance does not approve. He says and firmly believes that I should not go anywhere or have any pleasure that he cannot share. Do you think he is justified in denying me this innocent, healthful pleasure, which I have thoroughly enjoyed for five years? I have given up all my friends for him at his request, and did so willingly.

L. C. M.

As you state the case, there seems to be absolutely no reason why you should be deprived of your trip to the beach and of the swimming which you so much enjoy. It seems as if your fiance were somewhat inclined to be jealous and suspicious and quite unfair in his demands. But, perhaps, there is another side to the story. You may be a little inclined to coquet; you may be overly fond of good times. If there is no more in the case than you have stated, he is wrong and you ought to be allowed to enjoy your swimming without further discussion.

Love Cannot Be Forced.
Dear Miss Fairfax: Am I, naturally attractive and look about two years older. I have an older sister, eight years my senior, who the last few years my sister has been going about with a crowd of boys and girls and enjoying merely innocent fun. My sister has a great liking for a young man, but he has never shown the slightest sign of reciprocation. He has apparently fallen in love with me, but in view of the fact that my sister likes him, my parents will not permit me to go out with him. Do you think my people justified in acting in this manner? A CONSTANT READER.

I wonder if you are a selfish and conceited girl or merely an honest youngster who happens to have attracted the man her sister likes and who has a sensible recognition of the fact that a man's liking cannot be compelled. Perhaps this man really is interested in you and in that case forbidding him to see you certainly will not add to his liking for your sister. Perhaps, however, you have more or less "stolen" him by youthful coquetry. I know too little about the case to be willing to sit as judge in your court of appeals.

Saving and Safety First

There are many people in Omaha today who have a neat little nest egg laid by, with your ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY sitting on it, so to speak. They have taken advantage of the chance to purchase the 7% cumulative preferred stock at par, offered in small denominations to suit the most moderate income, and the quarterly dividends will occasionally serve as congratulatory reminders of their astuteness and good judgment.

With pardonable complacency, we venture the observation that an excellent opportunity for safe and sane saving that is hard to beat has been furnished. It smacks of "SAFETY FIRST," and those who now own shares in your ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY have both the satisfaction of the SAFETY feature and the knowledge that they are among the first to gain it.

While 7% is a handsome rate on any small saving, it is the saving itself that appeals to most. An active participation in this Company by its patrons is what we have desired, what is being offered and, by the way, what we are getting, but there is a certain pleasure in the additional knowledge that this offer is also proving an economical advantage to our new partners.

We have shown in another article how the dividend received on a few shares of this stock will suffice to pay the average annual electric light bill, a feature that should be borne in mind by the small consumers who have not yet interested themselves in this opportunity.

While a considerable portion of the stock allotted to this purpose has already been taken up, either this Company or Burns, Brinker & Company, 449 Omaha National Bank Building, may yet be consulted by those contemplating saving by this means. We will be glad to enlighten anyone on the details of the plan.
