Exposures

BY KILOWATT

There is a girl who lives round the corner who is serial crazy. She sees 'em all, talks 'em and lives 'em. She says extra at her meals and has jam with them and always rubs a little of the latter on the cloth to remind her of the crimson stain she quarrels with hubby in order that she may be the Neglected Wife, and after saying Grace awakens she will escape from him and the Curator's door and thus get away from the Grip of Evil. She says her husband gives her the Double Cross and that she is a Mystery Girl. She says she will have Liberty no matter who says and justly remarks Who Shall Say 'Who's Guilty'?

She employs a Yellow Menace to wash the linen for her and pass for what she plans in installments.

"Mother O' Mine" which was shown to the trade at the Strand theater the other morning, is a splendid lesson that will not soon be forgotten by the boy who has gone away to the big city and his desire, makes money has neglected the mother back in the little old home town.

Rupert Julian as the boy and Ruth Clifford as the sweetheart, are very effective in their respective parts.

In one of the new King-Bee farces that are being distributed by the Standard Film Corporation Billy West accomplishes the impossible—i. e. kisses two equally beautiful and lovely damsels at one and the same moment. Such impartiality ordinarily is considered to be a thing of the past, but in this case it is considered—(a) the difficulty of so distributing the kiss as to equally divide it between the two; (b) the difficulty of causing jealousy between the two fair ones; (c) the question of the returning of the kiss; (d) the question of the return of the part of the girls; (e), et cetera, ad infinitum. It is, however, a deed that Billy West will be especially wise in accomplishing. It is considered that he must have spent many hours in assiduous practice.

Mary Miles Minter, American Film star, surprised her director, and everybody else within earshot, by sounding a regulation bugle call the other day during the filming of a fight scene in "Her Country's Call." The director expected a pantomime, but Mary had learned to lip pucker and the breath control in her "Littles Rebel" days, so she delivered the sweet notes without discord or fluting.

Molly King is to shine in a new serial soon. Pathe announces her as the star of "Seven Pearls," to be released the first week in September. Creighton Hale, after many months of absence from the Pathe program, returns to it with this serial.

Oiga Petrova has been signed by the Super Pictures Distributing corporation, which is a branch of the McClure Pictures, at a salary of $10,000 a week and 50 per cent of the profits. The contract goes into effect September 4 and is to cover a period for the making of eight features, the first to be released in October.

The Vitagraph company is soon to release a serial called "The Fighting Trip," starring William Dissan and Carol Holloway. The story is the struggle of a man and a woman to utilize a mine laden with vast deposits of quick silver in speeding up the manufacture of war munitions for the United States government. German spies endeavor to stop the operation of the mine at any cost, and the action of the story is just one continual battle of wits and force.

Last Saturday morning a trade showing of Metro's special feature, "The Slacker," was shown to a number of exhibitors and proclaimed by them to be the best picture of its kind that has ever been on an Omaha screen. It is a comedy picture, and it is absolutely impossible to sit through it and not swell up with patriotism and have your emotions stirred into action many times. It is not a spectacular affair, but just a human-interest, simple story, told and acted in a manner that both convinces and appeals. The story is of a "slacker" who marries that he may not be called to the colors, and the manner in which his patriotic wife shows him his duty.

The acting of Miss Stevens was superb and not overdone, while the part of the "slacker" husband as enacted by Walter Miller was faultless, and it is doubtful if anyone could have been secured who fitted better into the role than Mr. Miller. Lee Delaney as the rest of the cast is splendid work, while the rest of the cast is well balanced.

The three principals in support of Eva Tangway with her film feature, "The Wild Girl," are Stuart Holmes as the heavy, Valerie Bergers (first time in pictures) as Tom Moore. The picture is now being produced, and will be on the market in the course of a month or so.

The bunch down at the Universal no doubt read Kilowatt's, as they noticed by the name last week that the New World Film company's base ball team was open for combat. Therefore they asked, "Ye Ed," to issue a challenge to them for encounter. It seems there must be some jealousy between them, for those lauding said challenges called, "Ye Ed," and they have been "throwing" and announced that "if they thought they could catch a ball and keep it from getting lost, they would like to show them some of the fine points of the game."

Bills for Current Week

Hipp—William S. Hart will be at this theater for the last time today in what is no doubt one of the best western classics he has ever appeared in, called "Wolf Lowry." Monday is Arthur Hoyt and Neva Gerber in the latest Bluebird photoplay "Mr. Opp." If the screen version of one of the seasons' "best sellers" and is a beautiful and humorous story of optimism reflected in beautiful photography with stirring episodes. The attraction for Tuesday and Wednesday will be the latest chapter of "The Gray Ghost," featuring Eddy Polo and Neva Gerber, in addition to a feature picture to be announced later. Friday and Saturday is Jack Mulhall in a Butterfly production "The Midnight Man."

Sun—Today and Monday that ever popular little star, Mary Miles Minter returns to the Sun in "Periwinkle." The play is splendidly staged and Lovey Mary is at her best. The scenic photography is unusually fine, and some of the views of the seacoast are especially noteworthy. Completing the bill is a comedy that you can laugh at, and the latest war news weekly.

Stars Who Will Shine on Screen for Omaha This Week

HAROLD LOCKWOOD (SUN) Wm. S. HART (HIP) HENRY B. WALTHALL (MUSE) GLADYS HULETTE (EMRESS) ANITA STEWART (STRAND) MAE MURRAY (APOLLO) DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS (BOULEVARD) ETHEL BARRYMORE (ROHLFF) KITTY GORDON (GRAND) GLADYS BROCKWELL (MAGIC)

wood, in "The Hidden Spring," adapted from Clarence B. Kelland's novel, by arrangement with Messrs. Harper Brothers. This feature photoplay with both brains and brawn, and a good love story for extra measure. This makes the eighth picture of a noted novel, and Mr. Lockwood has appeared in it, and Mr. Sidney Drew also in a comedy entitled, "The Bachelor."

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, William Fox presents his girl of a thousand expressions, Gladys Brockwell, in "The Soul of Satan." A girl's rebellion against the narrowness and puritanism which have restricted her early life forms the theme of this startling drama.

Empress—Starting today the feature photoplay at the Empress theater for the first four days of the week is the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," founded on Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous novel, with George Alexander and Hilda Moore, the famous English actors, in the leading roles.

In "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," one of the most daring and revolutionary departures ever attempted in a screen production, is the surprise climax. The majority of film plays the audience is able almost immediately, to tell about how the play will end. There is an absolute assurance that there will be an ending which will see the happy reunion of the lovers, the undoing of the villain and the triumph of the hero.

In this play the action works feverishly right up to the last few feet of film, and the crash. The play is over. Everything has been told and until the very end the audience will be in the dark, unless familiar with the play, just how the problem will be solved.

There is also a Fox film comedy and a Pathe News Weekly.

Strand—Two changes of program hold forth at the Strand this week, which will be the custom in the future, the third change being eliminated. "We have done this," said Manager Thomas, "owing to the fact that we will show nothing but the very biggest attractions at the Strand—features which are entitled to longer runs owing to their worth. Furthermore, our change days will be made elastic this season—that is, if we have an extra strong picture, we will give it the longer run that week rather than stick to a change day policy. Our customers generally always prefer the papers before coming down to the theater and in that way can keep in touch with the offering." Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week, Anita Stewart is seen in "The Girl Philippa," from the novel of the same name by Robert W. Chambers. Wednesday till Saturday comes the big Cohean and Harris dramatic success, "On Trial," with all star cast. This is said to be one of the most dramatic films ever produced, one that holds you spellbound from start to finish and represents the very last word in photoplay art.

Muse—"One Touch of Nature," which will be scenic at the Muse today and Monday has presented its feature role to John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants. The drama is full of real American interest and whether you are a base ball "fan" or not, you will be interested in the story. The love of a rich man's son for a vaudeville artist, notwithstanding parental objection, is an episode of an episode of a noted writer and a New Weekly will be on the same program. Tuesday and Wednesday "Richard the Brazen," featuring Alice Joyce and Harry Morley. The picture is full of dramatic situations and startling episodes. Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brundy and Ed Pepp are the authors. For the last three days of this week Henry B. Walthall in "The Truant Soul." Next week the most-talked-of picture that has been seen in Omaha this year, Dorothy Dalton in "The Flames of the Yukon." It is also the first of the Triangle pictures that will be shown at the Muse hereafter. It will also be the home of the famous "Keystone Comedies."

Boulevard—Norma Talmadge and Tully Marshall are the featured players here today in "The Devil's Needle." It is a story with the scenes laid in her studies and tells how an artist becomes a slave to drug and the manner in which he overcomes it, assisted by a model. A Fox film comedy is also offered. Monday comes Douglas Fairbanks in "Manhattan Madness." Tuesday, Bessie Barriscale in "Plain Jane." Wednesday, Miriam Cooper in "The Silent Lie." Thursday, Baby Marie Osborne in "Baby Forget." Friday, Frank Keenan and Charles Ray in "The Coward." Saturday, Jackie Saunders in "Bab's the Fixer."

Bohlff—Charles Ray will be the featured player at this theater today and Monday in one of his best photoplays successes, "The Millionaire Vagrant." It is a strong human interest play with a story that is interesting throughout. The Hearst-Pathe News is also on the bill. Tuesday, Gladys Brockwell in "Her Country's Call." Wednesday, Ethel Barrymore in "The White Raven," which is without a doubt one of the film treats of the season; Thursday, Kathryn Williams in "The Valenti of Virginia." Friday, Jack Devereaux in "American—That's All." Saturday, Pearl White in the sixth chapter of "The Fatal Ring," and Holbrook Blinn in "The Empress."

Apollo—Anita Stewart is here today in "The Message of the Mouse." The story is of a semi-war nature, being laid in diplomatic circles. The picture play shows how foreign spies were foiled in their attempt to bring about a change day policy.

tempts at injury to the United States by the quick wit of a patriotic girl. A two-reel comedy is also shown. Monday is Mae Murray in a Paramount production, "The Primrose Ring." Tuesday George Beban in "The Marcellini Millions," another splendid Bohemian characterization. Wednesday Marguerite Clark in "The Pretty Sister of Jose." Thursday, Blanch Sweet; Friday, Lillian "Dimples" Walker; Saturday, Alice Brady in "A Self-Made Widow."

Empress Garden—Manager Philbin announces that the Bell sisters will be held over for a few days this week. This is at the insistence of many patrons who have been more than pleased with the entertainment furnished by this clever duo of artists. They were first engaged for one week only and were held over for the second week. The engagement will end either Wednesday or Thursday of this week. The orchestral pipe organ is becoming an important feature of the entertainment furnished at this busy spot. The Sunday crowds are constantly increasing to partake of the special Sunday table d'hote dinner. During the week graceful dancers make this their headquarters. Almost daily special banquets and ladies' card parties are held here, while the tea dancers on Wednesday and Saturdays are popular.

Lothrop—Bryant Washburn will be the featured player at this theater in a pleasing production, "The Prince of Graustark." The Hearst-Pathe News is also shown in connection. the third chapter of "The Gray Ghost." It was promised last week that the second episode would be better and more thrilling than the first and the patrons were thoroughly satisfied. Now as we get into the third chapter the interest increases and it bids fair to be the best serial that has ever been thrown on the screen at this popular theater. Jack Mulhall is also on the bill in "Three Women of France" and a comedy completes the bill. Monday is Lee Hill in "Soldiers of the Legion." The sign of the Cucumber" and other reels.
