Corn was strong, with prices quoted from 20 to 5c higher, and all grades of this cereal sold very readily on the advance, but buyers seemed to show a preference for the mixed and white grades and the bulk of the sales were made up of these varieties.

White corn sold at a fair premium over the yellow, while the yellow sold at somewhat better prices than did the mixed.

Oats ruled about 192c above yester-day's quotations and there was an active trade in this cereal, the No. 3 white selling at 534c, while the No. 4 white sold generally at 55c and the sample grade ranged from 50c to 52c.
