Omaha Boy Going to Snelling Has Line of Fighting Ancestors

Among the Omaha boys to go to Fort Snelling for the second officers' training camp is Hubert M. Gault. Mr. Gault is a civil engineer, following his father's profession, and has been with the Northern Pacific Railway company in that capacity for the last two years with offices in St. Paul. He graduated from the Omaha High school in the class of 1912. He will spend the week-end in Omaha with his brother, Norman C. Gault, Omaha attorney, before entering the training camp August 27.

Mr. Gault came from a long line of fighting ancestors. He has had ancestors fighting for the country and winning fame in every war we have had. His mother, Mrs. A. K. Gault, belongs to numerous patriotic societies in Omaha and has held office in all them, notable among them that of national vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She is now president of the St. Peter chapter of the American Red Cross in St. Peter, Minn. Mr. Gault is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and his father, A. K. Gault, is a member of the board of directors of the Omaha chapter of that organization.

Arguments in Rosewater Suit Against Earl Papers

The first arguments in the suit brought by C. C. Rosewater, former business manager of the Los Angeles Express and Tribune, against E. P. Earl, the owner and publisher of that paper, have been made in the courts at Los Angeles.

The case is that in which Mr. Rosewater sued for back salary and loss of time, charging breach of contract and charging that the publisher misrepresented the condition of his paper to him when Mr. Rosewater contracted to take the business management of the paper.

The argument centered about the point of whether the methods alleged by Mr. Rosewater to have been employed by Earl to boost the subscription list are really vital to the case.

Arthur Veitch, attorney for Mr. Rosewater, contended that the letters and conversation set forth are a series of important points leading up to the employment of Mr. Rosewater by Earl.

E. A. Meserve, attorney for Earl, argued that the circulation methods are not vital, and should be stricken out of the complaint.

The arrests were made by Sergeant Lyman Wheeler of the Benson station. They were driving in an automobile in the neighborhood of Fifth and Dodge streets, their careless driving indicating something was amiss.

NEBRASKA GUARD BUSY AT DEMING

All States Save Minnesota in Thirty-Fourth Division Now Represented at the New Mexico Cantonment.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

Deming, N. M., Aug. 22.—(Special Telegram.)—All the states in the thirty-fourth division of the new army are represented here tonight, except Minnesota. When the bugles blew for retreat in Camp Cody the Minnesota's were said to be on the way.

Business took on a great spurt, not only in the camp, but in this little city on the plains today. Already there are here:

Company G, Fourth Nebraska Infantry, Captain J. B. Miller, Omaha.

Company C, Fifth Nebraska, from Beatrice, Captain Charles L. Brewster.

Troop K, First South Dakota, cavalry, from Aberdeen, Captain Harry Demaligton.

Company A, Second Iowa infantry, Mason City, Captain John W. Garman.

Troop A, First squadron, Iowa cavalry, from Marengo, Captain Byron Goldswaiter.

Battery B, First Iowa Field artillery, from Davenport, Captain Harry Ward.

North Dakota's Hospital company.

Company C, Sixth Nebraska infantry.

Tomorrow morning 1,200 husky soldiers will fall to with picks and shovels, tents and pegs, "chow" utensils and the rest of the camp paraphernalia and occupy company streets, a part of them doing general police duty while the builders complete the 250 mess halls under the hammer.

Meet Incoming Men.

Colonel F. L. Winn, camp commander, ranking officer of the Thirty-fourth Negro infantry, of which a battalion has been here as guard, met the incoming guardsmen and assigned them to sites. A few tents were raised, but many of the men who arrived late slept in the cars. The advance detachments are to prepare Camp Cody for the big rush, already overdue.

There are main streets (company streets) and alleys to make, but of course the boys who are coming will have a hand in that before drilling starts. The intense heat of summer is nearly past, and though there will be a little rain this fall, the camp will be one of the healthiest, with an abundance of pure water.

Harries on Way South to Deming Camp

Brigadier General George H. Harries, his son, Captain Warren Harries, and several members of his staff left Nebraska Tuesday night for the army training camp at Deming, N. M.

The departure was made at 11:40 o'clock from Lincoln over the Burlington road. The general and his party will travel by way of Kansas City to begin active work on the part of Nebraska in the world war. Nebraska troops yet remaining may go later this week or they may not receive orders to move until the camp preparations are more nearly completed. It is quite probable that the order for their departure will not be given until General Harries reaches Deming.

Snelling Students Urged to Attend Omaha Balloon School

Omaha young men going to Fort Snelling for the second officers' reserve training camp are being reminded by the Commercial club of the advantages in the balloon branch of the service. It was noted that many of the officers who received their commissions at Snelling recently knew very little about the balloon school at Fort Omaha, and that few, if any, chose this branch of the service when asked to state their preference as to branch of service.

On their return to Omaha, the commissioned officers were taken by Commercial club members for a visit to Fort Omaha. The young men were greatly pleased at the work they found there.

Many of them are said to have expressed regrets at not having had full information regarding the balloon service in time to express their preference for this branch when they were offered the opportunity at Snelling. The club proposes to have the Omaha boys who go to Snelling now, more familiar with the work in the hope that some of them will decide to take this up and will as a result be stationed at Fort Omaha for some months after receiving commissions.

Pete Loch Found Not Guilty; Fight With Jimmy Silk

Pete Loch, ex-saloonkeeper and restaurateur, was discharged in police court Wednesday by Judge Fitzgerald, on a complaint of fighting and disturbing the peace.

The discharge was the outgrowth of a fight between Pete Loch and Jimmy Silk, which took place near Loch's restaurant, 211 South Seventeenth street, last week. Silk was fined $25 and costs.

In his testimony Loch declared that Silk would have killed him had he not engaged Silk in a fight, claiming the latter was in the act of pulling a gun.

Military Funeral for Private William McAvoy

Military services were held over the body of William McAvoy, private in Company B, who was drowned at the east end of Carter lake last Sunday evening. Services were conducted at N. P. Swanson's chapel yesterday. Members of Company B were present and accompanied the body to the depot. The body was sent to Chapel, Neb., where burial will take place.

Private McAvoy was out rowing with two companions, Arthur O'Leary and James Stipe. It is said that O'Leary started to rock the boat, with the result that all three were precipitated into the lake. McAvoy sank immediately in five feet of water, but Stipe swam ashore and brought aid to O'Leary, who was clinging to the overturned boat.

The Bee Helps to Secure Cooks for Cantonments

"Credit must be given The Bee for the widespread publicity it gave to the pressing need of cooks at the cantonment camps," said Rome Miller and J. F. Letton of the North American Hotel company. Mr. Miller guaranteed to furnish fifty cooks for the Des Moines cantonment, but there were none forthcoming at first, and it looked as if the Omaha men could not fill their quota. However, within the last few days applications have been coming in from all over the western part of the country. The majority of applications have been received from Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

"The applicants, almost to a man, mention having read of the need for cooks in The Omaha Bee," said Rome Miller.

Only a few more men are needed to fill up the requisition going from Omaha to the Des Moines cantonment.
