

W. H. THOMAS, REAL ESTATE MAN, DEAD

Had Been Active in Promoting the Interests of Omaha for a Number of Years.

William H. Thomas, prominent real estate dealer living at 4922 Capital avenue, died at his home at 8 o'clock Friday morning. Death was caused by arterial disease after five weeks illness.

Mr. Thomas was prominent in real estate activities in Omaha for many years. He was president of the Real Estate exchange during the years 1914-1915. He was manager of the Keeline building, which he promoted and is financially interested in. He was head of the firm of W. H. Thomas & Son, real estate and loans, with offices in the Keeline building.

He was a prominent club man, being a member of the Commercial club, Happy Hollow club and Elks.

Born in Utah.

He was born in Utah, January 16, 1857, later moving to a farm near Council Bluffs. He engaged in farming and stock raising until elected county recorder of Pottawattamie county in 1886. He held this office for six years. He moved to Omaha in 1895 and entered the real estate business. Mr. Thomas was married to Mary A. Peterson in 1886. The wife still survives him, together with four children: Esther, who is teaching in the Omaha High school; Clay H., who is associated with his father in business, and two younger sons, Donald W. and Grenville W. Thomas.

Funeral services for Mr. Thomas will be held from the home Sunday afternoon at 4:30. Rev. T. J. Mackay will have charge. Interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Bill Cole Takes Omaha

To the Nebraska Fair

What is an "Omahaer?" This question is being asked by many people daily who chance to meet Billy Cole, erstwhile amusement purveyor. The answer to all is the same: "The handiest and most efficient garden tool of all times." Mr. Cole has entered the manufacturing world and is now getting prepared to introduce a patented and labor-saving cultivating device which he calls "the Omahaer." Its novelty draws forth the interest of all who chance to see it.

It will be manufactured in Omaha, in fact it is being manufactured here and will be given its first public showing at the Nebraska fair next week, where a retinue of demonstrators will explain its practicability as a ground mullifier, a planting tool, a weed destroyer, lawn trimmer and a dandelion digger.

Its construction is most simple, consisting of a swinging blade of superior steel, sharpened on both edges which give relatively the same purposes with a forward and back motion. Special machinery is being rapidly installed at Twenty-second and Nicholas streets for a large production.

Jail Sentences Being

Given to the Speeders

The genius of invention afloat like a buzz fly upon the brows of all those breaking the automobile laws and are caught doing it.

"Why, oh why, were you and your wife racing like mad out on the West Dodge road last night?" asked Judge Holmes of a couple brought up for speeding.

"We thought that the motorcycle cops were holdup men," the wife explained, "and I told John to put on all the gas he could."

This is only one excuse of the many offered to Judge George Holmes in police court. Friday morning Judge Holmes departed a little from the fines he usually imposes on offending motorists by sentencing John Kuncel, 1132 South Fourteenth street, to two days in jail for speeding.

"I hope that this will serve as a warning to speeders," said the judge, "and, if necessary, I will make it longer than that."

E. W. Marks, 317 North Twenty-first street, was fined $15 and costs for speeding.

Secures Divorce to Become U. S. Citizen

Clara C. Nilsson, 38 years old, realized an ambition of many years when she obtained a divorce from Gustave Nilsson in district court. Judge Troup granted the divorce.

She didn't want a divorce so she could marry again, she wanted to be freed so she could become a citizen of the United States. Immediately with the filing of the decree Mrs. Nilsson applied at naturalization desk for her first citizenship papers.

"I would rather be just a citizen of the United States than the wife of any man," she said.

Mrs. Nilsson, who was born in Sweden, was married to Nilsson in Boston twenty-four years ago. She testified she deserted her five months later. She says she has never seen him since.

Arthur L. Palmer was attorney for Mrs. Nilsson.

"Special Cops" Fail

To Prosecute Autoists

Six Omaha's, stopped on county roads last Friday night by special "citizen deputies" and charged with driving their machines with glaring headlights, were let off without fines when the deputies who served the "golden rule" summons failed to appear against them in county court.

On the morning after the wholesale arrests for violation of the state dimmer law about twenty motorists appeared in county court and paid fines of $2.50 and costs, amounting in all to $8.30 each. Six motorists asked for hearings and the cases were set for Friday morning. When the special deputies failed to appear against them Judge Crawford dismissed the cases for lack of prosecution.

Hold Liquor as Evidence,

But Owner Not Arrested

Sergeant Russell brought in two bottles containing whiskey from the drug store of Dr. F. A. Nelson at Fourth and Corn streets. The liquor is being held as evidence, but Dr. Nelson was not arrested, as the court has not ruled whether a doctor can be held to strict observance of the prohibition statute.

CULINARY SCIENCE URGED AT STATE UNI

National President of Greeters of America Heads Movement for Establishment of New Chair at University.

R. D. McFadden, proprietor of the new Pathfinder hotel at Fremont, is leading a movement started among hotel men to have a chair of Culinary Science added to the course in the University of Nebraska.

leader in this movement, as it is unquestionably vital to the general health of the people to secure better cooking. In order to protect the people who become sick we have stringent laws concerning the qualifications of a doctor. Would it not be better to have stringent laws to prevent people from getting sick. There is no question but that a large percentage of sickness is caused by improperly cooked food.

Letter to Danielson.

Following is the letter sent by Mr. McFadden, which is self explanatory. For many years the International Stewards' association of America has been promoting the idea and proposition for the establishment of a national vocational training school for hotel employes. After they had robbed their treasury and used up many thousands of donated funds they were forced to abandon the scheme.

sociation's interest in the Dunce, Ind., proposition.

In contemplating such a school it occurred to me that if any student from Nebraska desired to learn professional cooking the distance to Muncie, Ind., or any other single point in our country might act as a hardship and cause him to abandon the idea of becoming a professional cook.

This thought caused me to evolve the idea that the subject was of sufficient importance that our state universities should have a department of culinary science or professional cooking and I offered a resolution at the Boston national convention of Greeters of America that we all use our influence to the end that the right parties become interested in the work.

women along educational lines such as are now offered in the various departments of our university, such as literature, the languages, chemistry, medicine, agriculture, dairying, dentistry, pharmacy, law, journalism, physical training, etc., and even domestic science, it would only be a step further to establish professional cooking or name it some other suitable term. The best evidence that our nation is short on cooks comes directly to my attention through my recent effort to secure cooks for Nebraska's portion in the cantonment camp at Des Moines.
