

National Registration for Women "Orders for Mobilization"

Women of America, Attention!

The hour is at hand! A million bugles sound the call!

The United States is asking its women to do their bit for the common cause. The Council of National Defense through its women's committee calls for the registration of the women of the nation. Governor Neville of Nebraska has accordingly issued an official proclamation fixing September 12, next, as the day when women may add their names to the nation's roll of honor. On that day 300,000 Nebraska women should march to the voting precincts in which they live to volunteer to do something for this, their own United States. On June 5 the men of this state nobly did their duty. On September 12 the women will voluntarily say: "Here we are, Uncle Sam, give us something to do!"

The plan is simple. In every voting precinct in the country registrars have been appointed. On September 12 the women of Nebraska will go to the same places to register where the men vote and where the men registered. Every woman over 16 may and should register. The registration cards show 154 different kinds of services! You will be asked what you can do and how much you are willing to do. Can you "bake a cherry pie for Billy boy," or cook, sew, scrub, knit, farm, raise garden, keep house, solicit money, drive an automobile, nurse, manage, entertain, or do anything under the sun? Every woman can do something and that something will be of real assistance to this country. Nothing is too small or too humble. Everything is needed—everything will be used. It doesn't matter what nationality you spring from or whether you speak English. You can do your mite, that is important. Ask your husband, father, brother, or any man member of the family, or a neighbor, where he votes and go to that same place on September 12. The women of Russia have donned khaki and are fighting at the front. You won't be asked or expected to handle guns this time, but you can help win the war at home.

This registration is official and its results will be reported to the government. The eyes of the world are upon you. You can make the enemy tremble. You won't be shot if you fail or refuse to register, but sooner or later

Fined for Cutting

Woman Off Ice Route

Harry Johnson, ice man with a route in Benson, was fined $10 and costs in municipal court by Judge Britt, upon a charge of refusing to deliver ice to Mrs. W. Kelly, 2409 North Sixteenth street.

The evidence showed that after Mrs. Kelly complained about the weight of a piece of ice Johnson refused to stop at the Kelly house, although he delivered ice to places in the same block.

Johnson was fined under the provision of a city ordinance which prohibits "unreasonable discrimination" in the sale of ice.

Amos P. Scruggs, city inspector of weights and measures, filed the complaint on behalf of Mrs. Kelly.

Strange Mixup Causes the Wrong Body to Be Buried in Omaha Grave

A strange mixup of dead bodies was brought to light in county court when facts came to light on the burying of Clinton Daniel, negro, in Omaha July 12.

Banks & Wilkes, undertakers, met a train and got a body they believed was that of William Gray, who was drowned at Central City July 7. This was on July 12. Wilkes was appointed special administrator of Gray's "estate," which totaled $60.

But it now develops that the undertakers buried the body of Clinton Daniel, negro, who died at Mercer, Neb., on the same day that Gray, a white man, died at Central City. Banks & Wilkes thought they were you will feel mightily ashamed of yourself if you don't heed the call on September 12. Tell your family, friends, neighbors, acquaintances, everybody, about this. Make it your business to see that every woman gets out. This is the most important thing you were ever asked to do—to help make the world safe for democracy. No matter if you have registered before with some club or church or society, go forth to answer this call to the colors of the good old United States of America.

America expects every woman to do her duty—now! Go to your precinct polling place on September 12 and tell your registrar what you can and will do. Stand back of your boy who goes forth to battle for humanity. You can at once serve yourself, your neighbor, your country, and your God. (Signed: Douglas County Registration Committee.)

Cantonments Ready When Soldiers Called, Says Baker

Washington, Sept. 1.—The sixteen national army cantonments, each representing a small city, for the housing of 40,000 soldier inhabitants, will be ready for occupancy as rapidly as the troops are called to the training camps, Secretary Baker announced today.

Eight of the cantonments are practically completed, and of others construction work has reached the point where ample accommodations are assured for the various increments as they arrive. Among those completed is the cantonment at American Lake, Wash. Camps at Des Moines, Fort Riley, Kan., and Columbia, S. C., will be ready on September 5 to accommodate 60 per cent of the full quota assigned.

At an expenditure of approximately $150,000,000 the War department has under construction sixteen cities, with sewage, water, light power, telephone, paving and fire protection systems.

The army draft spurs umpire Erwin, arbitrator in the New York State league, has been called and says he is glad to go. In the first line of trenches should seem a quiet and peaceful spot for an umpire.

It would take considerable losing streak on the part of the Giants and at the same time a fancy string of victories by the Phillies for the McGraws to overtake the McGraws at the stage of the race.
