nurse, arouses Grace's jealousy to the point where all is plain sailing. But now the doctor, himself, falls a prey to causeless jealousy, because it suddenly dawns on him that he cannot live without Miss Xelva, who has given him no reason to believe that she cares for him. It is all very agreeable and amusing fun, and is said to be acted with spontaneity and verve that is most refreshing.

Headline honors in the Orpheum bill opening Sunday are to be shared by Carl Randall and Ernestine Meyers in an unusual dancing act and Hermine Shone in a modern allegory called "Mary Ann." In this new sketch the actress depicts the important events in a girl's life. Mr. Randall when last seen in Omaha was associated with Emma Carus. His partner is a winsome dancer, pretty and vivacious. Asahi, the Japanese magician, causes a stream of water to spout from his fan or from head, hands and feet of other members of his company. The elaborate drop he uses is an embroidered curtain valued at $7,000. Harry Carroll, who will sing his own compositions, has composed a great number of popular ballade, including "By the Sea," "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" and "She Billy Watson and his "Beef Trust" are now at the popular Gayety for two performances daily all this week. By special request of the circuit he will on this, his farewell tour, play his laughable success, "The Bashful Venus" and "The New Arrival." Besides Watson the cast is one of the strongest ever seen in burlesque, his principal assistants being Beatrice Harlowe, Kathryn Pearl, Frances and Helen Russell, Harry Montague, Tony Kennedy and Lew Keynolds and open, instead of being cramped up in many other well-known artists. Even a poorly ventilated elaborate home, is Watson's most ardent admirers will be amazed to see the attraction he brings for their approval this season. Today's matinee starts at 3 o'clock. As a matter of "safety first," Manager Johnson has had the Gayety's stage strongly shored to withstand the tremendous combined weight of the "Beef Trust" chorus.

For four days starting today the Empress is presenting one of the best bills of the fall season. Carle & Inez present "Nifty-Nonsense. Len Carle is a comedian, singer, dancer and an expert on the steel guitar, while Dolly Inez is a singer out of the ordinary. June Mills and company present an act under the title of "The Somewhat Different Comedienne" and is living up to that bill. Walter Hill and Alice Donaldson present a playlet entitled "What Every Man Needs." It is from the pen of Ernest W. Cortes and centers around the efforts of a charming girl to win a bachelor into an admiration of womankind.

Fred and Albert present an athletic Baby Marie Osborne in novelty on the same bill. Both these acrobats are exceptional gymnasts. The feature picture for the first half

Enid Bennett Wins Race; Nets Large Sum for Red Cross

Never was a jockey prouder of vic-tory, and few received greater reward than Enid Bennett, the little Triangle star, when she rammed home to a scalding finish as the winner in the sensational race, shown in "They're Off," a Triangle feature which shows at the Muse theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

The part provided the Triangle star was to win the race, and she did, although she had to present a punishing finish. Her riding was good, almost professional, but her artist friends ested with her, flouting her victory, deriding her success.

They dared and defied her to ride again. Finally they began wagering whoever won to give the winnings to the Red Cross. Enid Bennett accepted the challenge. The horses were given a two-hour rest.

Then the test came again, this time in deadly earnest. The professional was assured he would receive a $250 bonus if he won. Miss Bennett was riding for charity. She was astride we would have a healthier nation," said Douglas Fairbanks in discussing the theme of his new picture. "In 'Down to Earth' we try to show these things by a process of contrast. Whether or not we have succeeded is of course up to the public. John Emerson, who directed this picture, is a very capable student of human nature, combined with a pronounced sense of satire. He and Anita Loos are wonderful in this respect. Their combined satirical angle on life is tremendous. 'Down to Earth' is a different kind of a story, and I feel that we will earn a myriad of sympathizers who will agree with us that sunshine and open air, versus the patronizing of indoor amusement, will win every time."
