BUENOS AIRES MOB DESTROYS GERMAN SHOPS

while the government was satisfying itself as to the accuracy of the exposures made at Washington, the public, despite the gravity of the accusations, responded to the appeals of government officials and the newspapers by refraining from any anti-German demands.

The feeling of the Argentine public in the present instance was manifested today, however, when all afternoon immense crowds in front of the newspaper bulletin boards cheered the news that Count von Luxburg would have to leave the republic.

Sweden's Official Explanation. Sweden's official explanation of the position of the Stockholm foreign office in the transmission of Count Luburg's dispatches through its legation at Buenos Aires reached the Swedish legation today and after being presented to Secretary Lansing, will be made public.

Baron Akerheim, charge of the Swedish legation here, today informed Secretary Lansing he had received the statement of the Stockholm foreign office already published here on the passage of Count Luburg's dispatches through the legation at Buenos Aires, but that as the department already was in possession of that information, he did not consider it necessary to present it formally.

Examination of the already published statement reveals some inaccuracies. The Swedish foreign office says it acted in a similar way for the United States and its minister in Turkey.

"The American minister here," said the Swedish statement, "during the present year asked for and received leave to send to and from Turkey letters and telegrams at a time when Turkey had not yet gone to war with the United States and its interests had not yet been taken over by the Swedish representative in Constantinople."

Records at the State department show that Minister Nelson Morris to Sweden has reported that the Swedish government had not been requested to transmit any messages before April 10, but that he had inquired if the Swedish government would be willing to assume charge of American interests in Turkey in case of a rupture.

The Swedish government's agreement to forward messages required the United States to present them to the foreign office in Stockholm, or to the Swedish legation in Constantinople, in French, and there to be put into Swedish cipher for transmission.

Regarding the forwarding of letters to or from Turkey Mr. Morris has informed the department he did not ask such permission until some time in July, twelve weeks after Sweden had taken over American interests in Turkey. He said that in making the request he made it clear that such letters and replies be forwarded only with the knowledge and approval of the Turkish government.

Swedish Press Comment. A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen says the Swedish newspaper, Aftonbladet, expresses the belief that the United States intended to induce a rupture between Argentina and Germany or between Sweden and Germany, or to
